So Goes the News.
Good Flying.
What Are Ten Billions?
Big Warship Review.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

EDSEL FORD testifies that his loss in Detroit banks amounted to fifteen million dollars.

IN AUSTRIA a man was hanged for setting fire to a haystack, damage $450. A few weeks earlier the sentence of a man guilty of murder was commuted to life imprisonment.

THERE IS a slight earthquake in Greece, some houses demolished. Once a god living inside the earth would have been blamed. Christians once believed the earth was made to turn round by devils inside of it crawling up the sides of its hollow shell, like a squirrel turning the wheel of its cage.

GOV. PINCHOT of Pennsylvania is recovering from a bad attack of shingles. The French will tell him that if he drank claret and water mixed, one quarter claret, he would not have shingles.

But Gov. Pinchot would rather have shingles than claret and water. He is an ardent pure water advocate.

THE SENATE decides that any foreign government in default on the debts to the United States cannot sell bonds or other securities in this country. Hiram Johnson had that good idea.

WHEN THIS was written the six United States Navy planes flying in formation had just arrived at Honolulu, having flown non-stop, through fog and other difficulties, 2,400 miles over the Pacific.

The accurate navigation of American airmen picking their way to a speck no bigger than a pinhead on the map of the Pacific, the skill of the American pilots and perfect performance of American-built engines are gratifying to Americans and should be a warning to any nation harboring foolish plans for attacking the United States now or later.

THAT FLIGHT to Hawaii is only a "sample flight." This country should be able to say to all nations of the world:

"We wish only peace and your friendship. But if you insist on it you can have the other thing.

"First let us show you five thousand planes that would visit every one of your cities quickly with explosive bombs and poison gas, if you were ever foolish enough to interfere with this peaceful country."

THIS NATION talks of spending ten or twelve billions in 1934 to put this country's industries and prosperity back on their feet.

Ten billion silver dollars two inches deep, would pave a road one hundred feet wide and sixteen miles long.

Piled one on another ten billion silver dollars would reach seventeen thousand five hundred miles up into space. Ten billion one-dollar bills side by side would reach to the moon and back again twice, 950,000 miles, and one billion ten-dollar bills would reach around the earth four times at the equator.

THE ANSWER to all that is, What of it? If all the watered stocks and get-rich-quick stock sold to innocent buyers in days when government kept out of business were gathered together they would reach, almost, to the nearest fixed star.

Ten billions that this country lent to Europe and will not get back would also reach to the moon four times. Why not worry about that?

IN JUNE all our Pacific fleet of warships will come back to join the Atlantic fleet, partly, it is said, to please our Japanese friends, who have some queer idea that the Pacific is a Japanese ocean.

This country does not agree with that theory, considering that our front on the Pacific from San Diego to the far end of Alaska is considerably longer than Japan's frontage.

Anyhow, the fleet will leave the Pacific and President Roosevelt will review the combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets, a glorious patriotic sight.

It is true that a few cheap submarines, directed by radio from a few dozen cheap bombing planes from some enemy country, could send both fleets hurrying into harbors for security and send those that didn't hide to the bottom of the ocean.

But there is no use dragging that in, when a beautiful review is discussed.

SENATOR WAGNER, of New York, objects to the St. Lawrence canal plan because it is too expensive, "the cost of the plan would outweigh the gain," while President Roosevelt urges the Senate to ratify a treaty that would make the canal possible.

Millions of farmers and others living near the Great Lakes would like to see those lakes connected with the Atlantic Ocean, by way of the St. Lawrence or an All-American canal, and also to see the Great Lakes connected with the Gulf of Mexico, the Panama Canal and the Pacific Ocean via the Mississippi to New Orleans.

AS TO excessive cost, if the money spent for labor, machinery and materials, improved the nation forever, how could the exact value be estimated?

In Theodore Roosevelt's day the trifling sum necessary to build the Panama Canal agitated economical minds. We spend ten times that sum now, without any agitation.

15 MEMBERS BANNED HERE FOR BALKING

Carpenters on Pitt Cathedral Sign Stipulation

This was the startling contract which members of one Pittsburgh union, who were in arrears in dues, were signing today before they were allowed to work on government's CWA jobs.

The union is the Carpenters' District Council.

OFFICIAL EXPLAINS

The secretary-treasurer, M. D. Cashdollar, who signs the contracts, admitted their existence, but explained that not all the men were held to the terms—although they did sign them.

However, one carpenter said that 15 of them were not only held to the terms last week, but were taken off the job when they failed to turn over half their earnings.

"This certifies that Brother .....of Local Union No. 165 is permitted to work at Cathedral for one week only from .....to and including..... In consideration of the above he must report to the District Council every Saturday morning and pay one-half of the amount earned until all dues in arrears are paid in full....."

Cashdollar said:

"We don't hold all the men to it. We take into consideration their home and family—special cases. If a man only works a half a day during the week we let him keep all of it."

All of the carpenters on the Pitt Cathedral of Learning job, which is being financed with CWA funds, have signed this agreement.

Ralph W. Gibbs, supervisor of the State Employment Bureau, through which CWA requisitions the labor, said that he knew nothing of such an arrangement

3 RUM STORES TO OPEN HERE

Six state liquor stores are scheduled to open in Pittsburgh and the county tomorrow. Original plans called for opening 10 days ago.

The first Pittsburgh stores to open will be at 340 Boulevard of the Allies, downtown; 5934 Baum boulevard, and 3700 Butler street. The county stores will be in McKeesport, Oakmont and Duquesne. With the stores in Coraopolis and Braddock already open eight of the 21 stores alloted to the city and county will have opened.

Three more stores are slated to open Monday. Two are in the city, at 1629 Beaver avenue and 1805 Carson street. The third is in Sharpsburg.

Fascist Chief Held As Dollfuss Plotter

VIENNA, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—An alleged conspiracy against the government of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was discovered today with the arrest of Count Albrecht Alberti, leader of the Heimwehr (Austrian Fascists.)

MIKE SEBASTIAN TO WED AGAIN

Mike Sebastian, the Pitt star who has been much more successful in football than matrimony, is going to try it again.

Mike and Genevieve Catherine Micko, of Masury, O., have made up each other's minds and the engagement will be announced next Sunday.

Miss Micko is 19 and her own town is not far from Mike's Sharon. They met last summer.

It was last April that the Pitt halfback, who almost singlehanded has beaten Notre Dame twice, was granted a divorce from the former Julia Mae Sebastian, of Sharon.

Mike said his wife had deserted him soon after the wedding.

Peggy Fears Calls Rich Mate 'Tightwad'

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(Universal)—Peggy Fears, actress-wife of A. C. Blumenthal, reputed California and New York real estate millionaire, was in court in a bankruptcy proceeding yesterday.

She declared her husband was a "tightwad" in testifying to her financial troubles over a dress shop in New York which she said had Peggy Hopkins Joyce and Tallulah Bankhead among its customers. The hearing was adjourned until January 16.

Butler Ex-Mayor Served Ultimatum

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 12.—Mayor George Wick today informed City Council he had served an ultimatum on former Mayor Joseph A. Heineman to pay back $1,458 which it is alleged is due the city on fines imposed by Heineman in Police Court.

The ultimatum expired today with Heineman taking no action.

DOOR OPENED FOR SLUM CLEANUP

U. S. Housing Chief Hints He'll Aid Project Here

A door was opened today, through which Pittsburgh's squalor of the slums is expected to walk out and new hope to enter, by Robert D. Kohn, head of the federal Public Works Administration housing division.

Kohn's visit coincides with that of Sir Raymond Unwin, British housing expert. They will discuss with city officials and Pittsburgh Housing Association members plans for co-ordinating various slum eradication projects now on foot.

While regretting lack of proper housing legislation and a housing authority bill which would permit Pittsburgh to obtain a loan from the PWA for housing projects, Kohn said:

"There is a door open, however, through the Public Works Emergency Housing Corporation. (Kohn is vice president of this federal body.) We can come into a city such as Pittsburgh, where we think it advisable, and put up a housing project with federal money and operate it as a federal undertaking."

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

At best, he pointed out, this would be done only as a demonstration of what the city and private individuals should do, and would depend upon assurance of full co-operation from city officials.

There is enough housing work to be done in Pittsburgh to require the next 25 years, in the opinion of Kohn, who explained that he expects a committee of Pittsburgh slum eradication backers to present a plan to him within the next six weeks, as a

GOLLMAR STOPS VOTE PROBE

Sheriff Frank I. Gollmar today thwarted—temporarily at least—efforts of Democrat John Heinz, whom Gollmar apparently has defeated for Sheriff, to examine the voting lists of 21 districts.

The Democrats yesterday were granted permission by Judge Ralph H. Smith to examine these lists, but today Gollmar's counsel, Attorney B. Robert Averbach, went to the higher courts.

A colleague, Attorney Mead J. Mulvihill, went to Philadelphia and obtained from the Supreme Court a supersedeas which immediately stops examination of the lists. At the same time Averbach filed an appeal in Supreme Court, which will be heard in March.

Averbach contends the Democrats are on a "fishing expedition," simply seeking leads to what they hope will prove vote irregularities. He contends the examination should be limited to lists of assisted voters.

The districts involved are in Pittsburgh, Homestead, Braddock, Rankin and McKees Rocks.

DR. WYNEKOOP TRIAL JURY PICKED

12 Young Men Hold Fate of Aged Woman

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12. — "Now!" The word escaped Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop's lips in a sigh, as the jury which will decide whether or not she murdered Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, her son's wife, was completed today.

Now, the real fight begins.

Now, she knows who will hold her life in their hands and weigh her in the balance. Across a gray courtroom she looked at them, the 12 young men whose own lives lie before them and who have it in their power to deprive her of hers.

Now, they will hear the gruesome contention of the prosecution that she—physician of note, former teacher in a medical school, charter member of Nu Sigma Phi medical sorority—enticed her red-haired daughter-in-law into her basement office, shot her and gave her chloroform in order to free weak-willed Earle from an encumbering marriage.

Later, they will learn Dr. Wynekoop's explanations of the bloody events that led to her arrest.

DEATH STRUGGLE

But now the hour has struck. There is no putting off the death struggle.

Broken in health but still strong of will, Dr. Wynekoop must marshal her resources against days, even weeks, of soul-shaking evidence, every bit of which will be intelligible to her, since a large part will come from brother-workers, medical men. Days of listen-

WOUNDED HERE; HELD AS SLAYER

The neatly dressed young man, wounded in a gun battle with police, who kept his identity a secret for three days, is Mike Destefano, wanted in Chicago on charges of murder and bond forfeiture, Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd announced this afternoon.

Boyd received a telegram from State's Attorney T. J. Courtney of Cook County that finger prints of the wounded man broadcast by Pittsburgh detectives had established the youth's identity.

The suspected robber was shot in the back as he fled following his alleged holdup of the New Strand Restaurant, 524 Wylie avenue, early Tuesday. Patrolman Michael Nowicki fired the shot that brought down the fleeing man. He is in Mercy Hospital.

The youth first refused to have his finger prints taken, but he finally agreed in return for consulting an attorney, detectives said.

Boyd said the suspect would be returned to Chicago unless an investigation revealed he was wanted here on an equally serious charge.

By RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD
Noted Author, and Ambassador to Italy Under Two Administrations.

SPEAKING BEFORE the Council on Foreign Relations in New York, Senator Borah gave expression to the American point of view about our foreign relations. He handled the big timbers of it with the bark on.

He said in effect that our old well-founded and successful foreign policy was to mind our own business, not only because it is to the interest of ourselves to do so, but because it was the best service we can render the world.

Since the war we have departed from that policy and the net results have been two:

1—We messed up the affairs of other nations, held out hopes that we could not or would not turn into reality, and sometimes set the world running up blind alleys when dark was coming on and when every moment was precious to get the lost sheep along the main road of reality, instead of the dream road of statesmen who thought they could achieve immortality as world fixers.

2—We let ourselves in for hatreds from abroad and dissensions within our own population—we scattered largess like fools and extended credit like idiots under the spell of a kind of sweet and simple internationalism.

WELL, the experiment has been tried and it is time to quit it and return to our old policy.

Often I have been asked to define our old and wise policy and have said:

"Do right by others, make them do right by us, and keep our independence of action in the safe."

Senator Borah also points out that sending hybrid representatives to fuss around in Europe has shown no good results, either for Europe or America.

Having been on hybrid errands for the United States myself, I know enough to agree with him.

Perhaps he forgets that in practice, almost no international conference is conducted by men with final authority. No vote is ever taken, no decision made, without a string on it leading back to a foreign office.

Hence when European nations criticize our "observer" method, that it avoids responsibility, there is a good deal of hypocrisy about the criticism, and besides, when we talk about international commitments by any representative of ours, we forget that the will of our people is protected against evil or unwise or un-American commitments, made by some fan-tail statesman or by the influence of some financial group, and is thus protected in the Constitution itself.

As Senator Dolliver once said about the right of the people to decide after a Senate airing:

TODAY the press of Europe and the eminent writers and statesmen of Europe have forestalled us in realization that political, as distinguished from trade and social internationalism, is a failure.

Today, for good or ill, Europe is staking all its bets on pure nationalism, with the hope that man to man statesmanship rather than Maypole statesmanship will keep the peace.

Europe is seeing, apparently in advance of some of our love-bird leaders, that enlightened nationalism at this stage of the world, has the maximum of hope in it.

Senator Borah polishes off his hard-hitting truths by exposing the idea that we are isolated. That phrase "isolated" is the most worn of all the old fakes in the bags of shrewd foreign propaganda and in the reticules of our domestic propaganda. Even in the field of international politics, we are as close and active, dealing nation with nation, as any country on earth.

A member of a family is not "isolated" from the family because he fails to add his voice to inharmonious and hypocritical choruses. Particularly is this true when he knows that Brother Tom and Cousin Myrtle have agreed beforehand in secret and in the hall closet how the second stanza should go.

All the decent intercourse, man to man, between us and the family of nations, goes on every day, aboveboard, free of commitments to one that would lead to injustice to others.

That is our policy. May it never get noosed, nose-ringed, ham-strung and hog-tied by any personal ambition at home or conspiracy abroad.

'DON'T ROCK BOAT' EDICT OBEYED

Edsel Ford Reveals Millions Lost in Detroit Crash

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—A White House command "not to rock the boat" was described to Senate investigators today as the cause of the government's failure to act during the Hoover administration on examiners' reports of bad banking conditions.

Alfred P. Leyburn, chief national bank examiner, testified before the Senate Banking Committee that the Comptroller of the Currency did not act on his reports of bad conditions in the Guardian banks of Michigan "because he was told by the 'higher command' not to do anything to rock the boat and not to have any more bank failures."

He explained later he meant the Secretary of the Treasury and the White House by the expression "higher command."

Earlier, Edsel Ford had testified to his father's refusal to extend further aid to the Guardian banks in the frantic hours before the Michigan bank holiday last February.

FORD'S WARNING

He confirmed evidence presented to the committee that Ford not only refused to give additional aid to the Guardian banks but threatened to withdraw $25,000,000 of deposits in the rival Detroit Bankers group, if the Guardian banks were closed.

The Ford group already had poured millions into the banks, Ford said, adding they decided "we wouldn't go any farther."

Shortly before the committee heard from Ford that he had advanced more than $10,000,000 to support the Guardian group of

GIRL KIDNAPED IN STREET

While several pedestrians looked on, four men forced a little girl into their small sedan in the 6100 block, Butler street, and sped away shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon.

A broadcast over the state-wide teletype ordered the men arrested and held for Pittsburgh police.

The child, who was not known by any of the witnesses, screamed when two of the men got out of the car as it drove alongside her and pushed her into the back seat, according to police.

She was still screaming and kicking as the car drove out of sight, police reported.

Mack, 'Black Crow,' Dies in Auto Crash

MESA, Ariz., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Charles E. Mack, 46, originator of the famous comedy team of Moran and Mack, known as the "Two Black Crows," was fatally injured as an automobile overturned six miles from Mesa last night.

Others in the automobile, who all escaped serious injury were Mack Sennett, former "bathing beauty" motion picture producer; the dead comedian's wife and daughter, Mary Jane, and his partner, George Moran.

Mack was crushed under the machine, but was still alive when passing motorists helped to free him and bring him to a hospital. He died a short time later.

Moran, who said he had been associated with Mack off and on for 18 years, declared the dying comedian, whose Negro dialect phrases were once by-words of the country, kept muttering:

Mack was born in White Cloud, Kan., November 22, 1887.

Several "Morans" were associated with him in the "Black Crows" combination. The partner, who was in the accident, had his name changed last summer from George Searcy to Moran, it was said.

CRIPPLE FREED IN KILLING

A 22-year-old Duquesne boy, crippled since childhood, was free today of a charge of killing his father December 4.

He is Theodore Kisiel, of 417 Beech way. The grand jury dropped the murder charge against him yesterday, sending him home to help support his mother, three young brothers and a sister.

Kisiel, who has been suffering from infantile paralysis for many years, killed his father, Stanley Kisiel, 42, after many years of abuse, his mother and neighbors told the jury. He shot his father with a revolver when he threatened to kill him with an ax.

The young man went to the police station after the shooting to give himself up. Friends and neighbors, who rallied to his defense, rejoiced today over his freedom.

Blue Eagle on Japan's Tuna Fish Probed

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Formal charges that the NRA Blue Eagle insignia has been put on Japanese canned tuna fish which is being landed on the Pacific Coast, were placed before the Treasury and State departments last night by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Administrator.

Describing this action as "a fraud upon the American people," Johnson asked investigation by other departments. Within a few minutes after receipt of this communication, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Gibbons flashed telegraphic orders to California customs agents to seize and hold a shipment of 4,000 cases at Terminal Island, San Pedro.

Action by the State Department will depend on evidence uncovered by customs and NRA agents.

The canned fish was landed from the Japanese steamer Tatsuta Maru consigned to Samuel Kunin & Sons, Chicago. It is not known here whether the Kunin firm flies the Blue Eagle or is a signatory to the Blue Eagle agreement.

Writing Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Johnson said:

"This brings before us the whole question of foreign producers using NRA insignia or emblems which would be, of course, a fraud upon the American people. I therefore request that you instruct proper officers in your department to refuse entry to any foreign goods bearing NRA insignia until we can make proper investigation."

Johnson wired California NRA officials to contact and co-operate with customs agents in investigating the case He also telegraphed Chicago NRA representatives for information concerning Kunin & Sons.

AIR MAIL PROBE TO CALL LINDY ON STOCK TRANSACTION

HOOVER BLAMED IN DETROIT CRISIS

Michigan banks and that none of it had been repaid.

The younger Ford explained that his father had been "incensed" at demands for additional help for the frozen Guardian banks.

Questioned by Senator Couzens (Rep.), of Michigan, Ford said his father's reference to $25,000,000 was a "general statement" because his deposits in the Detroit Bankers' Company group totaled only $18,708,000.

This, however, brought to about $50,000,000 the total deposits of the Fords in the two groups when they were closed.

LOSS LAID TO RFC

The investigators already held evidence that refusal by the Reconstruction Corporation to "bail out" Henry Ford through loans to the Guardian group had resulted in a potential loss of almost $50,000,000 to the Ford Motor interests.

While Pecora examined some papers, Ford explained to Chairman Fletcher that he and Henry Ford and Mrs. Ford were the sole stockholders in the Ford Motor Company.

Pecora questioned Ford about negotiations for help from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation early in 1933.

Ford said Ernest B. Kanzler, chairman of the Group board and his wife's brother-in-law, discussed the situation with him, adding that he concurred in the plan to seek RFC aid.

OTHER SHAKY BANKS

Ford said he could not remember which other units he was told were in "bad condition," but thought they included the banks at Flint and Lansing.

When it was decided to ask for enough from the RFC to take care of all the units, Ford said, the loan figure ran to about $60,000,000, but later it was reduced to $41,000,000 or $45,000,000.

All the remaining assets were offered for the loan, Ford said, but they were not sufficient.

The deficiency, he added under questioning, was about $7,000,000. The collateral first offered, he said, was not considered by the RFC of "sufficient value."

Ford said he was asked to supply the collateral deficiency by subordinating the $7,500,000 of Ford deposits in the Union Guardian Trust Company.

Later a suggestion was made, he said, that he supply additional new capital and also subordinate the deposits. He said:

"We decided we wouldn't do it. We didn't come to a definite understanding on the subordination, but it was generally understood we would do that."

PROPOSAL REFUSED

Ford said they were asked to supply $5,000,000 as capital for a mortgage company to make the loan from the RFC and this was the proposal that was refused.

Questioned further, Ford said he had conferred on this subject with Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury and A. A. Ballentine, under secretary, at the Treasury on February 8, 1933.

They pointed out to him, he said, that the situation in Detroit was "difficult" because of the "acute economic distress" and asked him to subordinate the Ford deposits. He said he did not give a definite answer.

Later on February 13, he said, he conferred with them in Detroit and "told them we wouldn't go any further."

After Ford was excused, Leyburn testified the government had done all it could to save the Detroit banks and that criticism of the government's part in the situation came "from the politicians up there who want to make pawns of the depositors." He said:

"The RFC has been accused of being the big bad wolf that came up to Michigan that February morning and closed the banks.

"The fact is the government gave every bit of help it possibly could. Most of that talk comes from the politicians up there who want to make pawns of the depositors. I'm not referring to present company, Senator Couzens."

PLACES CRASH BLAME

The chief examiner laid the Michigan crash to "bad management," to the serious conditions in the Union Guardian Trust Company and to losses caused by the group having taken over the Keane-Higbee company and the American State Bank. He added:

"And when you say bad management you've said a mouthful."

He said the dividend policy was "absolutely unwarranted both from a legal and business standpoint."

Asked for his opinion about group banking, he said he "presumed" it could be successful, but that the Michigan group's operation was "vicious."

Pecora mentioned discussions about reopening the Union Guardian Trust Company, and the examiner said:

"Why it would have taken Houdini to open that bank."

"But he's dead."

"So's that bank."

However, if any details of or leading up to the contract are carried out in his bureau's headquarters, he promised:

"I'll stop it at once."

There is a union representative present at the bureau, but Gibbs said he understood the representative's duties did not include any such enforcement.

Virtually all of the carpenters on the Cathedral job agreed that they signed the contracts. They were reluctant to talk. But one said:

"We were given to understand that the men must either pay up their back dues on the fifty-fifty basis or else be kicked off the job."

This arrangement does not extend to the other numerous unions at work. In cases of back dues, the men are treated individually.

One carpenter said he had been idle for five years and that his savings of $1,000 had vanished. His two children had been working to earn a few dollars a week. He borrowed to the hilt on his insurance. He barely managed to pay his taxes.

Last week he grabbed an opportunity to go to work on the Cathedral job. But before he could return he had to sign an agreement that for one week's work he would turn over half to the Union. He asked:

"What can you do?"

Another carpenter, late with dues and trying to get work, said he was told to dig up $10 initiation dues and sign the 50-50 agreement. He exhibited a receipt bearing Cashdollar's name, for the $10.

MISTRIAL LAID TO BROADCAST

International News Service.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Because of a radio broadcast discussing the case, the Penny Hill uqlior conspiracy trial came to a spectacular end today, when Judge David J. Reinhardt declared a mistrial in Quarter Sessions Court.

The broadcast last night by a newspaper commentator centered about the trial of Raleigh B. Hill and Lawrence Trainor, former state policemen, and John Dudeck, former state highway department foreman, charged with conspiring to steal 145 cases of seized liquor from the basement of the Penny Hill police station.

After a conference with Attorney General P. Warren Green, Judge Reinhardt dismissed the jury and declared the mistrial, attributing the ruling to "some of the language used in a radio broadcast last evening in this city."

The court did not disclose the nature of the language used in the broadcast.

DEASY OFFICER COLLAPSES

While greeting his new superior officer, Capt. Jerry L. Deasy, assigned yesterday to the North Side police district, Patrolman James V. O'Connor, 32, of 1300 Beaver avenue, collapsed in North Side Police Station.

He was taken to the policeman's ward at Mercy Hospital after examination at Allegheny General Hospital disclosed he had a temperature of 104. He was apparently suffering from pneumonia.

O'Connor is assigned to the Woods Run Police Station.

80 Drown as Flood Sweeps Argentine

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Raging floods in Mendoza province annihilated entire villages today and caused extensive damage in scores of other villages and towns as the Argentine government rushed aid to the stricken regions.

The estimated death toll neared 80, with a score of bodies recovered. Damage was tentatively estimated at more than $3,000,000.

Hunt Man in Theft Of Meat From Truck

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa.—New Kensington police are searching for Clair E. Cederberg, 31, of 860 Stanton avenue, who they say drove up to a meat tuck at 429 Penn street today and stole more than 100 pounds of meat.

While Sigmund Klein, of 1518 Victoria avenue, driver of truck, was making a delivery he saw the car pull up and a man reach for the meat.

TROOPS MASSED TO MARCH ON PARIS RIOTERS

Stavisky Assassination Hush Charge Throws Chamber in Uproar

PARIS, Jan. 12. — (AP.) — Premier Camille Chautemps warned the nation today that the Royalist riots over the Stavisky scandal held the threat of a coup d'etat to establish a "directory."

Thousands of troops were held ready to march on Paris if necessary to stamp out the disorders, which have occurred in a protest against alleged complicity by government officials in the Bayonne pawnshop collapse which cost the French public more than $40,000,000.

The president of the Chamber of Deputies adjourned the body suddenly this afternoon in the midst of pandemonium which broke out when Deputy Jean Ybarnegaray charged that "the police assassinated" Serge Stavisky, founder of the pawnshop, to hush the case and protect higher-ups.

CHAUTEMPS PROTESTS

Premier Chautemps jumped to his feet, waved his arms, and protested that Stavisky killed himself when secret service operatives surrounded him last Monday and pleaded he would make a "personal investigation" of the affair.

The chamber previously had been twice suspended because of the noise in the hall.

The police were busy until after midnight scattering hundreds of Royalists who rioted outside the chamber while reverberations of the financial scandal were being aired.

Rioters uprooted trees on boulevards, hurled iron tree guards and cafe tables at the police, and threw some of them from their horses. Thirty policemen and 50 demonstrators were injured.

PLOT CHARGES

Electrified by Premier Chautemps' charges of a plot against the government, wavering supporters in the Chamber of Deputies had rallied to "purify the poison-laden atmosphere of the country" with a vote of confidence.

Chautemps, in a fighting mood, revealed in Parliament what he said was a coupe d'etat prepared three days ago to place the government in the hands of a directory of a few men "reputed for their energy." He said:

"Tracts were prepared demanding that France confide its destiny to a directory of a few men."

Grayson's Early Recovery Expected

Bernard M. Baruch, New York, who came here with Admiral and Mrs. Grayson, said the outlook for the patient's recovery now was "bright."

Poles Honor Pinchot In N. Y. Hospital

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, last night was awarded a medal by Polish representatives in America in appreciation of his "magnanimous work "in behalf of Poles in his state." Gen. Joseph Haller, of Warsaw, a Polish hero, made the award.

WEIRTON ISSUE STUDIED BY ROOSEVELT

Attorney General, NRA Officials Confer at White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt began a study today of the enforcement problem of the NRA, brought to a head by the protested union election in the Weirton steel mills.

A broad policy dealing with the compliance features of the National Recovery Administration was canvassed in a conference with Attorney General Cummings, Secretary Perkins, Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, and Senator Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board.

The conferees offered no comment and further meetings were in prospect.

James Fly, special agent of the Department of Justice, joined the White House conference and reported on his investigation of the Weirton case.

A group of workers in the Weirton mills protested against the conditions of their election of representatives to deal with company officials on wages and working conditions.

The company ignored the recommendations of the National Labor Board and declined to change the conditions of the election.

Just what the government intends to do about it was up for discussion today and apparently a final decision was still to be made.

Department of Justice agents who investigated the election have collected more than 200 affidavits and Fly is now checking over these with the witnesses.

Weir Labor Truce Seen By Former Governor

Settlement of the controversy between E. T. Weir, chairman of the board of the Weirton Steel Company, and the National Labor Board within a few days was predicted last night by former Gov. William E. Sweet, of Colorado, speaking before the Thursday Dinner Club of the Downtown Y. M. C. A.

Recognized as an interpreter for the NRA, Sweet characterized as "mere subterfuge and sidestepping" recent statements of Weir that his quarrel was with the Labor Board rather than with the NRA.

He predicted that the Supreme Court will uphold the constitutionality of the act. He likewise sees "greater prosperity than ever before" and a "more equitable distribution of wealth."

MELLON TAXES PROBED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Attorney General Cummings reiterated today that the personal income tax returns of Andrew W. Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury, were under Justice Department scrutiny.

He declined to tell newsmen what progress had been made, or to say definitely what period the investigation would cover.

The investigation, Cummings explained, was not an Internal Revenue Bureau affair, "but one of our own." Ordinarily, he said, a tax case would be handled by that bureau until it reached the point of litigation.

The Mellon investigation, the Attorney General said, began first as an inquiry into suits against the former Treasury head and Internal Revenue officials. A taxpayer had charged tax matters of large corporations were not properly handled.

When questions arose later in connection with Mellon's personal income taxes, Cummings said, the investigation was extended to them.

ACTION DELAYED ON REED OFFER

Earl F. Reed, special attorney in the election fraud cases, upon his return this morning from Washington, said that the Attorney General has made no decision in his offer to resign as prosecutor in the vote case prosecutions, because of his association with the Weirton Steel Company, which may face litigation by the government.

Mr. Reed said that on December 20 he wrote to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings regarding his connection with the Weirton Steel Company, because he did not wish to be inconsistent by representing the government in the election prosecution and as a defense counsel in any litigation that might be brought by the government against the steel company.

Government officials here do not believe that because of the peculiar situation the Department of Justice will relieve Reed of his appointment as special government prosecutor.

Motions for new trials for seven convicted election officials were argued today before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, who reserved decision. The new trials were asked for Tom Dolan, William Connolly and Mrs. Alice Daschbach, of the Eighth District, Fourth Ward; and Albert Diulus, Albert Levine, William Kennedy and Joseph Ridge.

LIGHT, POWER CODE OFFERED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—In the face of vigorous opposition from government and municipal power interests, Preston S. Arkwright, of Atlanta, chairman of the Edison Electric Institute's code committee, today presented to NRA a proposed code for the electric light and power industry.

In an opening statement at the public hearing, Arkwright said approximately 94 per cent of the present volume of the industry is privately owned.

He contended that rate regulation was not a code question because of its strict supervision by state utility commissions and that the latter are still insisting on rate reductions despite increased operating costs throughout the industry.

He insisted the NRA is not in a position to help the power companies if the code should impose further increased costs.

LAWYER'S PART IN 'TRUST' TO BE SCANNED

'Carving' of Nation's Air Lines to Aid Trust Charged

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Senate committee investigating air mail contracts will accept Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's offer to appear before it to explain Transcontinental Air Transport's "gift" to him of 25,000 shares of stock, it was indicated today.

The committee members are eager to know if he hid the shares in a "voting trust" to avoid "exciting attention," as was suggested in a letter to him by C. M. Keys, president of the company.

The committee also is interested in determining why the gift was disguised as a sale "for income tax purposes."

During the hearing yesterday it was revealed that Col. Henry Breckinridge, legal adviser to Lindbergh, had been a member of a committee handling a "voting trust" organized by officials of the company. It could not be determined, however, if Breckinridge was representing Lindbergh's interests in functioning as a member of the committee.

PROFITS TO BE PROBED

The committee also would like to know if Lindbergh exercised an option to buy 25,000 additional shares and probably would quiz the noted aviator about the profit he realized from sales both of his "gift" stock and stock bought on option at par, while it was selling at much higher figures.

Meanwhile, the committee was told that four giant Wall street groups, aided and encouraged by former Postmaster General Brown, grabbed off a monopoly of the nation's air mail system in 1930.

Meeting in Brown's offices in the Postoffice Department, the four groups "carved up" the air mail lines of the United States, divided the $20,000,000 a year government subsidy among themselves and froze out all competition, witnesses testified.

The major testimony relating to the air mail monopoly came from Fred G. Coburn, former president of the Aviation Corporation of Delaware, one of the groups involved.

He told the committee Brown's original plan was to grant the new contracts, which included two transcontinental routes, without competitive bidding.

LINDY VOLUNTEERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is willing to testify at any time before the Senate committee investigating air mail contracts concerning his aviation financial transactions.

In a telegram to Senator Hugo L. Black, chairman of the committee, Col. Lindbergh said yesterday:

"You are now in possession of a complete record of my financial transactions in relation to aviation. If there is any question regarding these transactions, I am available at any time to clarify them."

Demands Brown Quit G. O. P. Committee

AKRON, O., Jan. 12.—(Universal.)—Walter F. Brown, former Postmaster General, who is charged in the Senate hearing on air mail contracts with burning official postal files bearing on his acts, was called upon today to resign as Ohio member of the Republican National Committee.

The demand came from C. Nelson Sparks, former Mayor of Akron and candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Ohio.

World at Odds 15 Years After Treaty to End War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Fifteen years ago today—January 12, 1919—the Versailles peace conference began contemplation of a treaty to end wars which many abroad now contend may be rewritten by force.

Many in this capital today recall first hand those first informal meetings in Paris, with President Woodrow Wilson and Col. E. M. House hailed as the men of the hour in Europe and pictures of present-day disorders abroad unthinkable.

The ideal seen by many war-sick peoples then was centered around Wilson's 14 points and his plan for a League of Nations designed to neutralize ancient enmities.

Few if any present at those 15-year-old initial consultations could foresee a treaty so harsh in its terms that a League of Nations could not enforce them; refusal of the United States to join the league; reparations so large that French and Belgian troops would occupy the Ruhr in 1923 in an unsuccessful effort to collect, or a world depression so intense as to call for a Hoover moratorium on war debts owed this country.

None, of course, could foresee such 15-year-after events as European war machines grown even larger; Japan and Germany withdrawn from the League of Nations; a Hitler threat to rearm unless others disarm; Japan and Russia, Germany and France at present odds, or the disturbances that have accompanied the growth of Nazism.

TIRED NAVY FLIERS SLEEP AS HONOLULU APPLAUDS HOP

POLITELY DODGE RECEPTIONS, CHEERS

Flight Reported First Lap of Air Voyage Around World

International News Service.

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 12.—Midway next!

While plaudits echoed for Uncle Sam's newest heroes of the air—the 30 daring fliers who swooped down in Pearl Harbor to end an epic non-stop mass flight of six naval seaplanes from San Francisco—reports were renewed today that the achievement was but a leg of a mass flight around the world.

The next flight would be to Midway, tiny island outpost of the United States, more than 1,000 miles to the westward, the reports said.

Navy officials deprecated the reports, insisting the record-breaking flight from San Francisco here was merely a "routine transfer" of the patrol squadron to its new base at Pearl Harbor.

THRILLING FLIGHT

The airmen, led by Lieut. Commander Knefler McGinnis, received a tumultuous welcome on their arrival yesterday from thousands of persons who lined the shore. The flight, setting a new world record for non-stop mass formation flying, was completed in 24 hours 35 minutes, a new time record between San Francisco and Honolulu. The old record was 24 hours and 15 minutes, set by Army fliers in 1927.

The planes averaged 100.8 land miles per hour, the distance from San Francisco to Hawaii being 2,150 nautical or 2470 land miles.

Sleep and smokes were the first demands of the aviators after they reached shore.

Receptions were politely "ducked" by the airmen who declared they desired sleep—and plenty of it.

Highly pleased with the performance of the huge planes, Commander McGinnis asserted that there was still plenty gasoline in the tanks, at least eight more hours of flight. Each plane carried 1,400 gallons at the start.

Commander McGinnis described the flight as a "good one." He said:

"Despite good weather reports, we ran into fog and clouds which persisted throughout the night, necessitating blind flying entirely."

Asked if they had plenty to eat on their trip, Commander McGinnis replied:

Immediate arrangements were made to give the fliers uninterrupted slumber, further welcoming ceremonies being deferred until they were completely rested.

JERITZA STAYS FROM CONCERT

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Upwards of 500 women, including some of Chicago's best known society matrons, were left with nothing to do and a lot of time to do it in yesterday when Maria Jeritza, prima donna soprano, disappointed them by failing to show up for a concert.

However, it wasn't a case of artistic temperament—at least the madame said it wasn't. She was found secluded in her suite at a hotel and claimed to be suffering from an annoying cold, contracted in Syracuse, N. Y.

The only temperament displayed was by the audience, members of which either left in a huff or stood around in small groups expressing their resentment at not having been notified sooner that the concert was to be postponed.

Woman's $267,000 Will Upheld by Court

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Overruling claims of mental incapacity and undue influence, the Marion County Court today admitted to probate the will of Mrs. Carl Martin, who omitted her two brothers in bequeathing her $267,000 estate.

The brothers are Charles R. Moore, Pa., and Joseph B. Moore, of Elmore, W. Va. In contesting the will they charged that Mrs. Martin was mentally incapable when the will was made.

Mayor Offers Aid To Weeping Mother

A weeping woman cornered Mayor McNair today in his office. She said her son was in the County Jail accused of theft. The Mayor, a lawyer, volunteered:

"I'll defend your son. Let's go to the jail."

At the jail the Mayor discovered the young man already had a lawyer. He dropped the case.

Repulsed Autoists Run Down 2 Girls

BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Run down by an automobile occupied by two men after she and her 16-year-old sister had left the car, Catherine Fitzpatrick, 19, was in Bradford Hospital in serious condition today.

Anna, the younger girl, told police they were picked up by the two men.

TROOPERS PUSH 'BAD MAN' HUNT

ATHENS, O., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—As highway patrolmen closed in on the mining country in the Ohio River hills today, confident they are putting Neal Bowman "on the spot," the hunt for the escaped desperado and an unidentified companion took on a "dead or alive" aspect. Patrol members predicted:

"We'll have Neal Bowman dead or alive within 24 hours."

And from a small settlement near Mineral, 12 mines south of here, came word from miners who claimed they knew Bowman "in the old days" that Bowman had turned up several days ago with a gun and remarked, "No police are going to get me alive."

Since his escape from the Lima State Hospital for the criminally insane on Christmas Day and his kidnaping of Vinton County Sheriff H. L. Partee last Sunday, Bowman has been "seen" over most of Southern Ohio.

Five Italians Die In Airplane Crash

TRIPLE-DEATH CHAIR BALKS

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—A loose electrode meant another minute of life for one of three Negroes executed at Sing Sing Prison shortly before last midnight.

He was Herman Cunningham, 23, put to death with Winston Owens, 33, and Joe Willis, 25, for the murder of Patsy Bastone in a New York City cafe holdup last year.

Owens and Willis had been dispatched and Cunningham sat awaiting death when the switch was thrown and nothing happened. The executioner withdrew the switch, readjusted the electrode on the condemned man's leg and four minutes later Cunningham was dead.

Crooners Threaten Embryo Producer

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Two big detectives ran interference for Bernard A. Appleton as he left Magistrate's Court surrounded by a crowd of frustrated crooners, sopranos, whistlers and their relatives.

The 16 complainants said they had gone to heavy expense to take "polishing-off" lessons and obtain expensive photographs on being assured by Appleton that they were phenomenal and could easily get profitable bookings.

WANTED BABY-WOMAN HELD IN KIDNAPING

Bought Stolen Infant For $4, She Says; Mate Arrested

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Fulfilling a promise to her Negro husband that she would present him with a child put Mrs. Margaret Stackhouse, middle-aged white woman, in jail today, charged with kidnaping 24-day-old Patricia Luciano. The husband is held on the same charge.

Patricia was taken from her East Side home last Tuesday by a woman who representad herself as a nurse from the Home Relief Bureau. She left with Mrs. Luciano a typewritten note telling of an "infants' party" at which Patricia was to receive clothing. She promised to return the baby within an hour. When she did not come back, police were notified.

Yesterday Mrs. Stackhouse's husband, a CWA worker, called a Negro physician to attend his wife. The physician was told the baby was only three days old. He had read of the Luciano kidnaping, became suspicious of the Negro's story, and notified police.

The Lucianos identified Patricia by scratches on her body. A blanket found in the Stackhouse apartment was identified by Mrs. Luciano as one in which the baby had been wrapped when taken away.

Mrs. Stackhouse at first maintained the baby was her child, but when a blood test was made to determine the parentage of the infant, she admitted part of her story was false. She still contends she received the baby from a woman to whom she gave $4.

Mrs. Luciano identified the woman as the actual kidnaper. Assistant District Attorney McCarthy said.

KIDNAP-MURDER DETAILS TOLD

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Robert H. Wiles' confession of how he kidnaped and beat to death Hubbard H. Harris, Jr., at a deserted farmhouse was read into the court record today by Sheriff T. Alex Heise.

The 49-year-old bespectacled defendant leaned forward in the prisoner's dock and watched Sheriff Heise intently as the officer related details of the confession.

The Sheriff told how investigating officers, after hours of questioning, obtained the jobless mechanic's admission that he slew the 15-year-old schoolboy without provocation.

Wiles, he said, first gave varying accounts of his activities on the day of the slaying. Confronted by a growing mass of evidence against him, the Sheriff said, he finally admitted he kidnaped Hubbard to demand a $1,000 ransom from the boy's father, H. H. Harris, a chain store executive.

Demand for Books On Rum Making Increases

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Perhaps it's only an academic interest, but whatever the reason, the Cleveland public library is being swamped these days by requests for books on brewing and distilling.

WOMAN WINS NAGLE SUIT

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—After five hours' deliberation, a jury has awarded Miss Theodora M. Nagle $150,000 damages in her defamation of character suit against the estate of Theodore M. Nagle.

The jury of seven men and five women returned the verdict last night, thus ending a long drawn-out case.

Miss Nagle asked $300,000 damages, asserting Nagle was her father and alleging defamation of her character through a clause in the Nagle will questioning her parentage. The clause asserted he was not her father. Miss Nagle claimed he was.

DANCER'S PLANE LOST IN NORTH

THE PAS, Man., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Authorities expressed concern over the whereabouts of Miss Fay Baker, Watertown, Wis., who took the fan dance north of 53 by airplane last week.

The dancer left here Monday in a tiny cabin plane with Bill May, pilot for the Northwest Aeromarine. Nothing has been heard from them since. Flying conditions in the north during the last three days have been hazardous because of low-hanging fog.

Flying experts thought it probable Miss Baker and May had landed at some tiny hamlet.

J. F. Crosby, head of the Northwest Aeromarine Company, was to leave Winnepeg today by plane to search for the missing plane.

Jailed Mother Sobs For Son She Kept From School

YORK, Pa., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Laboring under the obsession that her son would be snatched away by kidnapers if he were sent to school, Mrs. C. E. Hildebrand, of Springfield Township, today sobbed away her second day's imprisonment for refusing to send the boy, Curtis, 8, to classes.

The woman was sentenced to serve five days in jail when she refused to comply with the school attendance laws. The boy has never attended school, according to police.

Punishment for failing to obey the law has not caused his wife's depressed spirits, according to her husband. He blamed the separation from her son, who has not been away from her since birth.

MURDER TALES DISCREDITED

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Westchester County officials believe Mary Kavala will soon be freed of any implication in the killing of Josephine Woropay, found strangled near her home in Hastings-on-Hudson Christmas Eve.

Mary told Children's Court Justice George W. Smyth yesterday she "just told all those stories," and claimed she knew nothing of the killing. She had made six "confessions" involving not only herself but a laborer who was able to prove an alibi.

Detailed questioning convinced Justice Smyth the girl could not have killed Josephine. Mary is still under observation of psychiatrists at Grasslands Hospital.

DANCER STEPS ON WALES' TOE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales is one of the world's best ballroom dancers, in the opinion of Alexandra Danilova, ballerina of the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe.

Miss Danilova danced with him, and stepped on his feet—not only once, but twice. Dancing with royalty makes one nervous, she said yesterday, because:

"Everybody is looking at you."

Said the ballerina:

"I begged his pardon, and he said it was his fault, that he was not good enough to dance with the best dancer in the world.

"The prince is a wonderful dancer. He has marvelous rhythm. I don't know anyone I'd rather dance with again."

Siever Gun Note Hoax, Boys Admit

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—William Olson, 19, and Robert Smith, 17, have confessed, detectives said, that they wrote "as a prank" one of the two notes a wealthy Pasadena divorcee received demanding $5,000 for the revolver from which was fired the bullet that killed Dr. Leonard Siever, dentist.

The youths signed a confession, authorities said, that they wrote the second note received by Mrs. Frances Coen Cooke, a friend of the slain dentist, after they read of Mrs. Cooke's receiving the first one.

DR. WYNEKOOP MURDER TRIAL JURY PICKED

ing, along with those men in the jury box. Days of wondering:

"What do they think? Can they understand?"

The prospect electrified the courtroom. Every person in it, from pugnacious-mannered Judge Joseph B. David to the mild Rev. Dr. John Henry Hopkins, of Grand Isle, Vt., whose parishioner Dr. Wynekoop has been for many years, sat immovable, for an instant.

Even the racing pencils of press correspondents, lined up in the first rows of the spectators' seats and flanked by a dozen messenger boys, stopped, as if observing an unwritten request for two seconds of silence.

INSPECTS JURY

Then the jury rose impressively to swear before the court clerk to do their duty as jurors. As they stood up, two rows of solemn men gathered from every corner of the city to judge the woman who faced them, Dr. Wynekoop drew herself to her full sitting stature. Her glance ran from one end of the first row to the other and back again along the second row. She was like a general, reviewing the troops. In that moment sickness and feminine fears were all gone.

The impressiveness of the oath was shattered, however, by attempts of photographers to make pictures. Judge David cried:

"No pictures! I won't have it! I mean what I say!"

His voice seemed to do something to Dr. Wynekoop. She sat back in her chair, and for the rest of the brief ceremony was relaxed.

Judge David adjourned court, following the swearing of the jury, until 10 o'clock Monday morning. Walker Wynekoop, the defendant's elder son, said:

"That's a relief. She can get a good rest before we start in again."

BOTH SIDES CHEERED

The last four jurors were selected an hour and 20 minutes after the second panel, after one day consumed in the choice of the first panel of four. It is a young jury. The average age is about 42 and a half years, a fact which seemed to give some cheer to the defense and prosecution alike.

Defense counsel feel a young jury will be inclined to hesitate to send a woman to the electric chair, when they have their whole lives in which to remember what they have done, while the prosecution contends the murder of Rheta, a 23-year-old girl, would weigh especially heavy with her near-contemporaries.

SECOND DAY QUIET

The second day of Chicago's most startling murder trial in years was comparatively quiet. The judge's orders that no spectators be admitted to the courtroom and no unqualified persons allowed to alight from elevators on the fifth floor emptied the corridors of all but prospective jurors, newspaper reporters and court employes.

Several ambitious women tried, in spite of the ban, to get into the courtroom, however. Winning their way with smiles past the harassed policeman who stood guard at the stairway from the sixth and the fourth floors, they were stopped at the courtroom door itself. One said:

"Oh, but please—we've come all the way from Winnetka!" (A suburb 20 miles north of Chicago.)

It did not avail. All the occupied spectators' seats were taken by friends of bailiffs, wives of members of the bar, and others qualifying as friends of friends. Only they were privileged to see an old woman waging her last fight for life.

AUNT OF SLAIN OFFICER DIES

Mrs. Gretta Cahill Brantlinger, of 815 Highview street, an aunt of State Highway Patrolman Herbert P. Brantlinger, who was shot down December 3 by a bandit, near Bridgeville, died totday at her home.

She was a member of St. Raphael Roman Catholic Church, Chislett street, and the Ladies' Catholic Beneficial Association.

She leaves her husband, Joseph F. Brantlinger; a son, Joseph, Jr., and two daughters, Rita and Mary Louise Brantlinger.

'Eugenic Baby,' Hurt, Remains Unchanged

AYER, Mass., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The condition of Roscoe Ails, 5, Chicago's 2928 "engenic baby," which has been critical since the child was hurt in an automobile crash here, remains unchanged. The child has brain concussion.

The child's mother, Kate Pullman, a vaudeville actress, 35, is still hysterical. Jack McCloskey, who was operating the car at the time of the accident, was killed.

Police Stand Guard Over R. I. Senate

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Providence police were called upon by Gov. Theodore F. Green to guard the rostrum in the Senate chamber and Lieut. Gov. Robert E. Quinn during today's session. The Senate has been the scene of violent outbreaks on three successive days as the minority Democrats clashed with the Republicans.

RUM TAX BILL SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt announced today that he signed the $500,000,000 liquor tax bill shortly before midnight, thus making the major provisions of the measure applicable on today's sales.

The measure raises the levy on whisky from $1.10 a gallon to $2.

This was the first bill passed this session and Mr. Roosevelt lost no time in making it a law.

HUGE REVENUE

The measure is expected by Treasury and congressional leaders to provide from $400,000,000 to more than $600,000,000 a year.

The legislation reached the desk of Mr. Roosevelt just before 7 o'clock last night. He referred it to Treasury officials for a quick check-up and signed it at 11:50 p. m.

This requiring a one-cent internal revenue stamp to be attached to every container of liquor to show the tax has been paid, takes effect in 30 days, but if the Secretary of the Treasury finds within 20 days it would be impracticable to do that he would be given an additional month to put it in force.

The $2 a gallon rate on distilled spirits also included wine containing more than 24 per cent alcohol. The present rate is $1.10.

OTHER LEVIES

Other levies are: Beer, $5 a barrel against $6 now; wine, 10 cents a gallon up to 14 per cent alcohol, now 4 cents; up to 21 per cent, 20 cents, now 10; up to 24 per cent, 40 cents, now 25.

Champagne 5 cents a half pint against 12 cents; artificial carbonated wine and liqueurs and cordials containing wine fortified with brandy, 2½ cents a half pint against 6; grape brandy and wine spirits used in fortifying wine, 20 cents a gallon against 10.

Occupational license taxes on breweries are reduced from $1,000, as provided in the beer act of last March, to $100, or $50 on breweries producing less than 500 barrels a year.

The Reed law of 1917 is amended also to permit newspapers and periodicals carrying liquor advertisements to circulate in dry states.

STATE'S LIQUOR FEES MOUNT

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Liquor license fees, in which municipal subdivisions will share February 1, have reached an aggregate of $1,509,350. The state stores fund total is $160,122. Sales in state stores to date are $320,529.

The Liquor Control Board granted 115 licenses yesterday, bringing the total to 5,561. The board said temporary suspension of the federal quotas on whisky will permit it to obtain additional supplies which heretofore were restricted.

Of the scheduled list of state stores, all but three are completed or undergoing alterations. No contracts have been let for stores at McKees Rocks, Wilkinsburg and Red Lion. A contract was awarded to remodel one at 15 North Main street, Greensburg.

LIQUOR INFLOW TILTS REVENUE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The administration today figured it might take in revenues of around $140,000,000 in the next 30 days as a result of its move to satisfy the American thirst with a better brand of liquor.

Officials estimated that around 20,000,000 gallons might flow into the United States following a relaxation of the import bans on American type whiskies for a month in order to lower prices improve the brand of liquor and defeat the bootlegger.

With President Roosevelt expected to sign the new liquor tax bill today, placing in effect tomorrow a $2 a gallon levy, officials simply added this figure to the $5 a gallon tariff and did a little multiplication.

House Group Favors Guarantee of Bonds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—The House Agricultural Committee today voted to report favorably the bill of Representative Jones (Dem.) of Texas, guaranteeing principal and interest on Federal Land Bank and land bank commissioner bonds.

The bill also sets up a corporation to be known as the "Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation." This corporation is authorized to issue bonds up to $2,000,000,000, guaranteed by the Treasury.

GORE RESIGNS, WINSHIP NAMED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt today nominated Gen. Blanton Winship, former judge advocate general of the Army, as Governor of Porto Rico, succeeding Robert H. Gore, of Florida, who resigned this morning.

The President also appointed Wright Matthews, of Texas, assistant to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

A new weather man for the nation likewise was selected, Mr. Roosevelt naming Willis R. Gregg as chief of the Weather Bureau to succeed Dr. Charles F. Marvin, retired.

Gen. Winship is a veteran in insular affairs, having served in Cuba and the Philippines as advisor to the ranking American officials in these islands.

He was a military aide to President Coolidge and just recently retired as judge advocate general. He is a native of Macon, Ga.

Gore, whose administration was the center of a political attack, handed in his letter of resignation to the President today, saying it was on account of ill health.

HOUSE BATTLES OVER VET CUTS

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—A fight for a test vote on modification of the Veterans Economy Act was opened in the House today, despite the "gag" rule adopted on the independent offices supply bill yesterday.

Prevented from changing basic law, Republican members planned amendments increasing the veterans' appropriation as a mandate to the President and Congress to revise the act.

Representative Fish (Rep.), of New York, opened the fight by announcing he would propose an amendment providing sufficient funds to restore the compensation of service-connected veterans who were cut 10 to 25 per cent. The cost was estimated at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Other members, he said, would propose amendments carrying funds for Spanish-American War veterans and opening the veterans' hospitals to needy veterans.

Senator Metcalf Ill At Arizona Resort

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—United States Senator Jesse Metcalf, of Rhode Island, who entered a sanatorium here a few days ago for the treatment of a serious throat ailment, will not be able to resume his duties at Washington for at least six weeks, his physicians reported today.

Senator Metcalf was described as "a very sick man." He is not, however, confined to bed.

Banker Files Secret Suit for Divorce

RENO, Nev., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Cecil C. Peck, Port Huron, Mich., banker, filed a secret divorce suit against Mrs. Luella Peck here last December 18, it became known yesterday.

The complaint charged cruelty and alleged the couple has been separated for more than 10 years. They married at Detroit, December 12, 1919.

St. Lawrence Seaway Backers Open Fight

Democrats Split in Debate in Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Up against a tough proposition even in their own party ranks but expressing confidence, Democratic advocates of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada today argued determinedly in the Senate for ratification without perceivably denting the opposition.

The House proceeded quietly along with the independent offices supply bill, after the scare given the administration leaders there yesterday before they put across their stiff rule obviating unwanted amendments.

Chairman Pittman, of the Foreign Relations Committee, led off for the St. Lawrence pact in the Senate, addressing his case to the Democratic side of the chamber because of the weight of objection there. Senator Clark (Dem.), of Missouri, was one who questioned his contentions.

In the Senate, Pittman was interrupted by Senator Clark (Dem.), of Missouri, one of the many Mississippi Valley Senators opposing the pact, who asserted:

"Millions of people are in favor of the general principles of the treaty, but they are bitterly opposed to the pending treaty because of certain provisions.

Presidents Wilson, Harding and Coolidge did not favor the internationalization of Lake Michigan or the spending of millions of American money in Canada for employing Canadian labor."

Pittman, evidently realizing most of the opposition was on his own side of the aisle, directed his remarks there. This brought many Republican independents favorable to the pact over to the majority side to face the veteran Nevadan as he proceeded to point to the "advantages of the great seaway," the cost of which would be equally shared by Canada and the United States.

Senator Costigan (Dem.), of Colorado, asked Pittman if there was any other explanation for the unanimity of opinion on the waterway by former Presidents than that "the ends to be gained would be nationally useful." Pittman replied:

"There is no other answer."

SEAWAY DEFEAT SEEN BY REED

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—United States Senator David A. Reed said yesterday a poll of the Senate taken by Royal S. Copeland, New York Senator, shows "more than one-half of the members are against ratification" of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty. Reed said:

"Whether President Roosevelt has influence enough to shift 14 or 15 votes is the critical question.

"If this waterway were built, it would be open to navigation only one-half of the year. The United States would pay seven-eighths of the cost of building it, yet practically all the employment it would give in construction would go to Canada."

He declared President Roosevelt favors ratification of the treaty "because farmers of the Upper Mississippi Valley think they see an opportunity to reduce the cost of getting their grain to the seaboard by two or three cents a bushel."

BUS CONTROL UP IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—An administration-approved measure to place motor buses and trucks operating in interstate commerce under the regulation of the Interstate Commerce Commission was introduced today by Chairman Rayburn of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

Hearings are to open before Rayburn's committee next Wednesday, Joseph W. Eastman, federal railroad co-ordinator; Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, transportation expert recently nominated by President Roosevelt to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and commission members are to be witnesses.

The measure, drafted by the Interstate Commerce Committee after extended hearings in the last two Congresses, applies to both passenger and freight vehicles operating across state lines.

Radio Priest, Sprague To Face Money Quiz

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Hearings on stabilization of the dollar, decided upon without administration approval, will be opened on Monday by the House coinage committee, Chairman Andrew Somers (Dem.), of New York, announced today.

Noted authorities on money have been invited to appear before the committee.

The first witness will be Prof. O. M. W. Sprague, former adviser to the Treasury and Bank of England, who resigned his post here with a protest against the gold buying policy of the administration.

He will be followed on Tuesday by Frank A. Vanderlip, noted New York banker, and Father Charles E. Coughlin, of Detroit, who are vigorously supporting the Roosevelt monetary policy.

FRANCE 'PAINED' BY DEBT VOTE

PARIS, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The United States Senate's vote to prohibit Americans from buying bonds of debt-defaulting nations made "a painful impression" on French government circles today.

Officials were represented as hopeful that the House of Representatives would vote against the bill as it did against the liquor-tax retaliation bill which the Senate first passed, then reconsidered.

Government circles insisted that the breakdown of the Anglo-American debt negotiations made it impossible for the French government to raise the debt issue again in Parliament pending some new development.

M'Nair Summons Cabinet Meeting

Mayor McNair called together his cabinet today for a meeting. The Mayor held up the meeting a few minutes to confer with James F. Malone, his candidate for public safety director.

Treasury Will Report On Debtors' Status

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Treasury officials had almost ready for transmission today a detailed report on America's $11,000,000,000 war debt problem, a chart to be placed before a Senate which twice in a week has sought to retaliate against faltering debtors.

Democratic leaders at the Capitol today saw in the report, demanded by the Senate, new fuel for the controversy which already has drawn White House intervention.

In detail, the Treasury statement will show just what Europe owes this country, how much has been paid and how far some of the borrowers are lagging behind.

Informed quarters, however, consider it unlikely that Secretary Morgenthau will designate which nations he believes are defaulters. Whether a "token" payment constitutes a technical default is viewed by the Treasury as a question Congress can better decide.

Some debtors are considered clearly in default, since they have consistently failed of late to make their semi-annual payments.

One—Finland—is in a class by itself. It has paid every instalment in full.

Chief defaulters are France, whose funded debt is $3,863,650,000; Belgium, with $400,680,000; Poland, with $206,057,000, and Estonia, with $16,566,000.

Those which have made "token" payments include Great Britain, whose debt was funded at $4,368,000,000; Italy, with $2,004,000,000; Czechoslovakia, with $165,391,000; Latvia, with $6,879,000, and Lithuania, with $6,197,000.

Man Found Hurt Blames Stranger

Found in an ash pit in the rear of the Mayfair Hotel, 423 Penn avenue, last night, Hugh Thoma 57, was in Allegheny General Hospital today with a probable skull fracture.

Thomas, who is homeless, told police he had been pushed down the 18-foot pit by a stranger.

BELGIUM SEES DEBT BILL BAN

BRUSSELS, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Belgian foreign office officials declined today to discuss the passage by the United States Senate of a bill which would prohibit Americans from buying bonds of debt-defaulting nations.

Their silence was predicated largely on reports received from Washington indicating to them what was considered the improbability of the measure receiving the approval of the House of Representatives and President Roosevelt.

WARSAW, Poland, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Polish official sources declined to comment today on the action of the United States Senate in passing a bill which would prohibit American investments in the bonds of debt-defaulting nations, saying they awaited an official report from the Polish embassy in Washington.

POLITICAL PULL UNDER BAN IN HILL RAIDS

Politics will play no part in the decisions handed out by Magistrate Charles McCall, the Third Ward Democratic appointee, he declared in Police Court today.

Imposing a $25 fine on a liquor offender in Center Avenue Police Court he remarked:

"Your wife may be connected with me politically, but that has not one iota of weight on this bench. I want it understood by all that just because you've been a good Democratic worker you can't expect it to influence me. That may as well be understood now as any time. My hands are free."

Nearly two-score offenders, netted in raids on alleged numbers and moonshine joints, were fined or discharged with a reprimand.

RAIDED TWICE

The magistrate's political ultimatum was expressed in the case of Dominick Nalorani, 41, of 20 Logan street, who was fined $25 after officers testified that they raided his residence twice within 24 hours, finding moonshine both times. Nalorani's wife was a Democratic district worker.

Iverson Biggers, Negro, of 4 Shomin street, was given a similar fine after arresting officers told of finding moonshine in his home. Eddie Ross, 29, of 3 Sachem way, an alleged visitor, was discharged.

Joseph Spratt, 45, Negro, of 1816 Wylie avenue, was fined $25 for possession of a quantity of moonshine in his home. William Bates, 54, Negro, alleged visitor, was discharged.

Joe Betters, 60, of 1614 Webster avenue, fined $25 after officers testified to finding several gallons of moonshine and a quantity of coloring matter in his home. Domenic Albenze, 23, same address, an alleged visitor, was dicharged.

Joe Diona, 35, of 455 Pearl street, and Joe Munduca, 42, same address, were fined $25, and Harry Abbott, of 1806 Bedford avenue, fined $10 after officers testified to arresting them unloading five gallon cans of moonshine from an automobile.

VISITORS DISCHARGED

Eva Brannock, Negro, of 15 Logan street, was fined $25 on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. William Scott, Negro, 44, same address, was discharged. Edward Dungee, 37, Negro, of Trafford City; John Love, Negro, of 15 Logan street, and Hattie Thelman, Negro, of 1301 Webster avenue, alleged visitors, were discharged, and George Long was fined $5 after officers testified to finding a quantity of moonshine in the Logan street address.

Tony Tripoda, of Gibbon street, was fined $25; Brancona Tripoda, 25, was discharged; Frank Dasocola, also of Gibbon street, was fine $10, and Marion Bradley was discharged as an aftermath to a liquor raid on Tripoda's home.

Catherine Acoury, 43, of 1723 Webster avenue, who told the magistrate the liquor which officers testified to finding in her home, was some that had been given her for Christmas, was fined $25 for keeping a disorderly house.

Brodick Stanfield, of 2569 Berthoud street, who told police that he had just "started a pickup station since the general closeup," was fined $10.

Thomas Carney, 32, of 5178 Broad street, and Henry Chiurazzi, 1871 Jackson street, were held in Central Police Court for further hearing next Tuesday after detectives accused them of writing numbers. City Detectives Robert Burke and James Noon testified they confiscated numbers slips and an adding machine at Carney's home.

Charged with keeping a disorderly house, Carl Tonsic, 35, proprietor of a beer garden at 3237 McClure avenue, was fined $50 or 30 days in jail today by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in North Side Police Court. Police said they found whisky in his home that had been bought in the Coraopolis state liquor store, along with seltzer bottles.

'NEW DEALERS' CHANGE NAME

Five Allegheny County voters have pre-empted the name New Deal Progressive Party in the Dauphin County Court at Harrisburg, according to an International News dispatch.

The petitioners were P. J. Hopkins, of the Arlington Apartments, Center avenue; Norman L. Schuck, of 2500 Berg place; Dr. William E. Cready, of 155 Arlington avenue; William E. Coombs, of Homestead, and Charles W. Gildisch, of 4 Sunny Hill drive, Mt. Lebanon.

Dr. Cready said the party formerly was the New Deal party, with more than 1,000 members in the Pittsburgh district. He added:

"We intend to do things for good people. Our purpose is to put Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, of Philadelphia, in the Governor's chair."

The party was said to intend to place state and county tickets in the field, with candidates in the Thirtieth, Thirty-first, Thirty-second, Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Congressional districts, in the Thirty-eighth, Fortieth, Forty-second and Forty-fourth State Senatorial districts, and in the First to the Thirteenth Legislative districts, inclusive.

Two Men Arrested With Number Slips

City detectives late yesterday arrested Thomas Carney, 32, of 5178 Broad street, and Henry Chiurazzi, 26, of 1871 Jancey street, after an auto chase from Loretta street to Beechwood boulevard. Detectives, who said they found 1,000 numbers sheets, some slips and $110 in cash, described the two men as numbers "pickup" men for a lottery said to be operating in Homestead.

"We would not go into the renting business on a large scale and we could not provide housing to cost only $4 a room. The lowest we have now is about $5.75 a room, and Pittsburgh is a very difficult place to build, because of the unusual gradings. But we would point the way."

'GRAVE NEED' SEEN

Declaring that Pittsburgh "is in grave need" of better housing, Kohn urged that an authority bill be obtained so that "you could do what Cleveland and Cincinnati are doing now with PWA loans."

Such an authority, he explained, would include the right of eminent domain in acquiring land for housing projects and to borrow from the Public Works Administration. Limited dividend corporations in Pittsburgh are handicapped by this lack of eminent domain power.

Despite this handicap, limited dividend corporations could apply for PWA loans if they were able to put up 15 per cent equity, "which it is doubtful they could," according to Kohn.

BRITISH EXPERT HERE

Sir Raymond Unwin, the British expert, arrived in the city early to get a close-up of some of the worst eyesores in the city. He entered low ceilinged hovels with underground bedrooms and saw squatter dwellings perched on the hillsides south of the Monongahela River. Of these he said:

"Deplorable. Very deplorable."

The Englishman said Pittsburgh was faced with one peculiarly difficult problem in that many of the places are owned by the occupants. In England, he said, the majority of the slum dwellers are tenants, and large properties are owned by landlords from whom the districts can be taken over on a wholesale scale.

Sir Raymond explained the British government has the authority to condemn slums, buy the land and pay nothing for the buildings.

Visiting a house in Hazel street, in the Hill district, that was condemned by the city as unsafe two years ago, Sir Raymond said it should be destroyed at once.

Several meetings were slated today to obtain the advice and aid of Sir Raymond and Kohn.

Most important among the meetings was one scheduled in the conference room of Mayor William N. McNair with members of City Council attending.

MAYOR IN CONFLICT

Recently the Mayor scored Joseph P. Tufts, director of the Pittsburgh Housing Association. Late yesterday McNair said Tufts had not apologized for an alleged remark concerning the abilities of Dr. Ray P. Moyer, director of the Health Department.

The Mayor said for that reason he would attend but two of the three housing meetings today, omitting a luncheon arranged by Tufts.

Tufts has denied that he mentioned Dr. Moyer's name at the Fourteenth Ward Voters' League meeting where the Mayor said the incident occurred.

Tonight, following a dinner at the Hotel Schenley, Kohn will speak on "What the Federal Government is Doing in the Housing Field." Sir Raymond will speak on "England's Housing Experiences."

PROJECTS PLANNED

A number of projects are being planned for Pittsburgh. The Housing Association and the Allied Architects have been working on studies. Frederick Bigger, city planner, has been active in the work.

One of the latest projects offered by private individuals is a low-cost housing development for a site between Reed, Lombard and Ruch streets, Herron Hill.

An application has been filed with the Division of Housing of the PWA. Sketches by John N. Franklin, architect, call for 70 units containing 900 apartments, to cost approximately $3,500,000.

It is estimated the apartments would rent from $7 to $9 per room per month.

Another project submitted to the government is that of George E. Evans for a group of apartments in Brighton road, near Marshall avenue, North Side, to cost approximately $1,250,000.

M'CAFFREY GETS KIRCH'S JOB

John A. McCaffrey was serving today as chief clerk of the Department of Public Works, succeeding Leo J. Kirch, Republican chairman of the Fifteenth Ward.

The personal appointee of Director Leslie M. Johnston, he is the first person named by him in the department.

McCaffrey was a clerk in the department's Bureau of Highways and Sewers under Director Norman F. Brown in 1921 and 1922. Since then he has been with the Witherow Steel Corporation as chief clerk, later as superintendent of shops.

McCaffrey was laid off by the steel company six months ago. His connection there, however, and his hiring by Johnston yesterday are taken to indicate his close affiliation with the Johnston-William P. Witherow group, prominent in independent Republican circles for several years.

Kirch for years has been active in handling political affairs in the works department.

AUTO TAGS GET M'NAIR PUPIL

In the midst of learning things about Mayor McNair's single tax theories, J. M. Wesoky, 6923 Bishop street, was arrested today.

Two policemen entered the tax student's class room at Peabody High School and arrested him on a charge of ignoring traffic tags.

Taken to East End Police Station, Wesoky tried to get in touch with the Mayor's secretary. He recently got the suggestion from the Mayor that he go to Peabody and learn about single tax after failing to pass the Mayor's own examination on the subject.

Wesoky wanted a job selling Pittsburgh to the world. Police said he had ignored $26 worth of traffic tags.

Informed of the single tax disciple's plight, the Mayor dismissed it with:

"I can't help him any."

HOLDUP PROBE REVEALS RUM

A visit by city detectives and police to the residence of Patsy Traficana, 32, 5010 Liberty avenue, last night, to learn identity of a man shot in a downtown restaurant holdup several days ago, resulted in a surprise seizure of 50 gallons of alcohol.

Traficana, reputed "big shot" in alcohol traffic throughout the East End section, admitted dining the holdup suspect, now in Mercy Hospital with bullet wounds, police said. He knew him as Jack Delpreno, he was quoted as saying. This compares with previous identifications.

POLICE MODIFY BINGO BAN

Police ban on the bingo game had been modified today.

Churches, auxiliaries and clubs will be permitted to hold bingo parties without police interference, according to Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall. However, police will keep their eyes open on the racketeer who commercializes on the game.

Among the places where bingo playing had been forbidden by police Wednesday night was the Sixth Ward Democratic Club, 3533 Butler street. About 100 men and women walked out when police announced the game could not start. Shortly after the departure of police the following was painted on the windows: "Stopped by Police."

Several score of men and women played bingo last night at the Corp. H. O. Diller Post 169, V. F. W., Hall 134 Prospect street, Mt. Washington. Groceries were awarded as prizes and the proceeds went to the post.

FOOD AUTHORITY REQUESTS FAIR LEGISLATION

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—A plea for legislation "which will not violate the American principles of law-making and law enforcement" was made by James F. Hoge, authority on Food and Drug legislation, in an address here before members of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

In his address, Mr. Hoge analyzed three bills now pending in Congress—the Tugwell bill, the revised Tugwell bill introduced recently by Senator Copeland, and the Black bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Black. The latter embodies amendments to the existing Food and Drugs Act prepared by Dr. James F. Beal and sponsored by the National Drug Trade Conference.

CITES ISSUE

Mr. Hoge declared:

"The question involved in the dispute over proposed new food and drug legislation is whether we shall have legislation by Congress and enforcement by courts, as now, or legislation and enforcement by a government officer in the Department of Agriculture.

"By all means, let us have legislation that, as far as possible, will stamp out fakes, frauds, parasites, deceivers, but let us have legislation that is not only fair to the public but fair to the people who try to do business with the public.

"I am convinced that such legislation can be had without discarding our legislative and judicial institutions. The Black bill, which proposes amendments to the existing law, is evidence of this."

Mr. Hoge pointed out that the criticisms of the existing law were based on deficiencies resulting specifically from its failure to cover advertising and cosmetics and that it put the burden of proof on the government in its prosecution of violators.

In the latter instance, he said, there was reasonable argument for the suggestion that the government should be relieved of the burden but at the same time it would seem harsh to inflict criminal punishment where honest mistake is made through error or inadvertence.

Mr. Hoge said :

EXTRAORDINARY POWER

"Constructive discussion of the subject must consider the extraordinary power of seizure vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the Tugwell bills. The Black bill has modified this power in a way which would seem entirely fair and reasonable to all who would be subject to it and the public as well."

Mr. Hoge said that to protect the public against misrepresentation of articles that might be imminently dangerous to public health and to afford the defendant an opportunity to be heard, injunction proceedings by the government would be appropriate.

This, he said, would deal fairly with the manufacturers because they would have an opportunity to submit evidence to be heard before an impartial court. It would also be fair to the department and to the public because injunction is even more expeditious than multiple seizures over an extended area and would strike the offense at the source. Also, he points out, this procedure would not violate the well-recognized right of a citizen to be sued in the district of his residence. The Black bill provides for such seizure, according to Mr. Hoge.

Committee to Aid Blind Organized

Mrs. Philip N. Harrison, assisted by Mrs. Bradley S. Joice and Mrs. H. R. Latimer, is chairman of the home work activities committee of the Pittsburgh Workshop for the Blind.

The comimttee was organized to bring into the shop for additional instruction the Pittsburgh blind women to whom the department furnishes work. Meetings are to be held once a month.

Work by Swank, Famed Photographer, in Exhibit

50 Prints at Tech Include Studies Of Pittsburgh

The College of Fine Arts of Carnegie Institute of Technology is exhibiting a collection of photographs by Luke Swank, one of the foremost of contemporary workers in this medium. The show is on view in the exhibition room, daily from 9 in the morning until 10 at night, through January 27.

Miss Redd

Swank, who takes his justly-earned fame nonchalantly, in direct contradiction to his name, lives in Johnstown. He has achieved unsought eminence in the more precious realms of art while conducting a successful business in his home town.

The 50 prints at Carnegie Tech include Pittsburgh subjects and circus studies. In addition to these pictures, his historic curiosity for the implements and houses contrived by the pioneers in Pennsylvania has been logically completed in his direct photographs of them.

Swank does not catch the eye with breath-taking vistas of picturesque spots. He persuades the intelligence to contemplate textures of objects which escape the average susceptibilities.

Rejecting all technical chicanery which the worker in this medium automatically resorts to as his option on imagination, Luke Swank ploughs the furrow of realism straight-away. But the quality of his realism is such that as the observer perceives it, he transmits Swank's realism into the purely imaginative. His study of the blades of a mowing machine elucidates this point.

The best recommendation for the show is to go see the world as Luke Swank sees it for us.

Depth Photography Invention Claimed

POCATELLO, Ida., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Perfection of a method making possible "third dimension" photography is claimed by F. A. Metlen, Pocatello photographer, and Prof. James McDonald, of the University of Idaho, Southern branch. The process, the inventors say, registers depth, an improvement long sought in camera work.

A screen has been perfected, the inventors say, which diffuses the light, making the subject appear sharp and clear and giving the desired depth.

Harvard to Revise 'Funereal' Diplomas

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Harvard University diplomas look too much like "coffin plates," officials decided. Three members of the faculty today were members of a committee named by President James Bryant Conant to revise and redesign the "sheepskins," which have been in use in the present form approximately 100 years.

ELMER FREED, BUT HE'S ANGRY

International News Service.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 12.—Freedom from the restriction of prison walls is a boon to most unfortunate prisoners.

Not so to Elmer Patling, 30, Camden County's "forgotten inmate."

Elmer is free today, but, he's angry. He sighs for the dubious delights of a jail cell. He explained it also to Judge Samuel M. Shay who released Elmer after the young man had been discovered in county prison where he had enjoyed incarceration, unknown and unsung, since June 30. The judge demanded:

"Why didn't you let them know you were in jail?"

The prisoner retorted:

"Why should I? I was having a good time. The food was good, they treated me fine, and it was nice and warm."

The judge, thereupon, condemned Elmer to freedom, admonishing him to pay his wife $4 a week. He was jailed for failure to post bond on a charge of desertion.

CULBERTSONS SURVIVE TEST

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Foursomes from Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago and Anniston, Ala., remained in the running with four New York teams today with conclusion of the first knockout round of the team-of-four United States Bridge Association championship.

The Philadelphia team of Capt. F. G. French, Mrs. H. L. Peterson, Charles H. Goren and Mrs. A. Fuller won its round by 1,210 points.

Other results:

War Heroes' Kin Has (Old) Story

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—One hundred candles adorned the birthday cake of Miss Lucy Anna Dudley, whose line is linked with that of Revolutionary War heroes, as she greeted friends today.

As a little girl, she sat on the knee of Capt. Amos Prescott Baker, her great-grandfather, and she still dimly remembers how he related experiences while fighting the British at the Battle of Concord Bridge.

CWA Workers to Get Forty Cents An Hour

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 12.—Forty cents per hour will be established wage rates for all township highway work under CWA auspices, County Administrator D. J. Bolton said, following his return from Harrisburg. Action fixing this rate as standard for township work was established by administrators and deputies meeting with State Supervisor Eric H. Biddle. The decision is important here, due to protest filed by workers in Sugar Creek Township.

Mexico Won't Fight Revolutionary Party

MEXICO, D. F., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Opposition to the National Revolutionary party in the July presidential elections was virtually removed yesterday with the announcement of the Anti-Re-Electionist party that it probably would not place a candidate in the field.

The announcement said unless Luis Cabrera, former secretary of finance in the Carranza regime, accepted a nomination, it would not compete against Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, the Revolutionary candidate. Cabrera already had indicated he would not accept.

SOCIAL WORKER DENIES FORCED STERILIZATION

International News Service.

DETROIT, Jan. 12.—While clergymen and citizens demanded careful investigation, Mrs. Mildred Ainsworth, chief social worker at the Wayne County Training School, today calmly denied charges that 25 to 30 boy and girl inmates have been forced to submit to sterilization.

She said:

"The truth is that 61 of the inmates have been sterilized—47 girls and 14 boys—since the opening of the institution in September, 1926. The operations were performed only after careful inquiry in conformity with the statute and upon orders from Probate Court."

The charges of "wanton violations of human rights" were made by County Auditor Edward H. Williams, who declared that officials of the school had shown less respect for law and decency than is observed in Hitler's Germany."

He further alleged that on three occasions Mrs. Ainsworth had resorted to "trickery" to persuade parents of inmates to sign papers agreeing to sterilization.

APPEARS UNDISTURBED

The social worker appeared undisturbed over the charges, which will be aired Monday before an inquiry ordered by the board of auditors. She said:

"Mr. Williams neglected to give the names of the cases in which he says I used 'trickery,' and therefore I can't answer them specifically.

"Sterilization is never even considered except in cases where the child shows positive mental and social inadequacy.

"Each child under consideration for sterilization was given complete psychiatrical tests and studied over a long period, then, before the child was deprived of its reproductive powers, it was given another thorough examination, by two physicians, each equipped with its case history."

CONFORMED WITH LAW

The operations, she said, were performed at University Hospital, Ann Arbor. She added:

"The law requires that the child's adult next of kin sign a petition requesting the court sterilization order. We went even further, obtaining signatures of other adult members of the family when such members were accessible."

Dr. Robert H. Haskell, superintendent of the school, concurred in Mrs. Ainsworth's denials. He declared that in most of 31 sterilization cases, the parents of the children themselves started the petitions.

The Right Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, Catholic bishop of Detroit, declared:

"The Catholic Church is immovably opposed to sterilization. Williams' charges, if true, constitute a heinous violation of human rights. They should be the subject of painstaking investigation."

W. VA. TAX PLAN UPHELD

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The Supreme Court today refused to reverse its ruling that the property tax collection plan calling for state assumption of local debts is unconstitutional.

The court handed down no decision in announcing its agreement by a three-to-two vote to reaffirm its previous decision, upsetting for the second time legislative efforts to release $25,000,000 in impounded property revenues.

RECEIVERSHIP SEEN AS CAR LINE PERIL

This is the final of a series of unbiased articles explaining conditions underlying the fares charged in street cars in Pittsburgh.

Yesterday it was shown that the Pittsburgh Railways System earned only about $850,000 and that of this it had to meet interest payments and rents of $3,500,000 in 1933.

These questions immediately are raised:

"How did it do it?"

"How will it meet these charges this year if business does not show a sensational increase?"

To answer them we must trace the ownership of the bonds of the many subsidiary companies of Pittsburgh Railways.

INVESTMENT THREATENED

Out of total obligations of 67 million dollars, the public holds 36 million dollars of bonds and the Philadelphia Company owns 31 million dollars of bonds and notes.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company has been helped through the agreement of the Philadelphia Company in recent times not to demand the interest due on its portion of the debt. This has left the company with enough money to pay its obligations to the public holders of its bonds.

The Philadelphia Company, which also controls Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas and is a part of the great Standard Gas and Electric Utility system, has not been altogether altruistic in this action. It owns the common stock of the railways system.

If the street car lines are allowed to go through the full stages of bankruptcy, the Philadelphia Company stands the possibility of losing its chance to recover on its investment in the street car system. Another receivership might mean that the bondholders would take control of the properties and leave the parent organization out in the cold with the prospect of having to write off as a loss much of its investment in the street car system. Accordingly the Philadelphia Company has been trying to help support the railways' heavy burden of debt in the hope that it may see better times in the future.

CITE ROUTE EARNINGS

That is why the Philadelphia Company does not want to see the street car lines go into receivership unless it should turn out to be merely temporary.

Now, what effect would a receivership have on the car rider? This is, of course, difficult to foretell. Some traction experts not connected with the company throw this light on the problem:

The system has about 80 car routes. It costs about 40 cents to run a street car for one mile. Some of these routes take in as low as 25 cents a car mile, while others take in as much as 80 cents a car mile. It is obvious that the more profitable routes are making it possible to supply service on the less profitable ones.

It will be remembered that the present railways system is made up of many companies controlling individual routes. Many of those companies have bonds outstanding. Now it is improbable that each group of bondholders would foreclose on its little section of line. The resulting pieces of street car systems could not be operated profitably and they could not service such a city as Pittsburgh adequately.

THREE GROUPS OF LINES

But a certain degree of segregation could take place. There are three major groups of lines forming the present Pittsburgh Railways System. The Consolidated Traction group serves the peninsula between the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers. Most of these lines are profitable. If this group were to be segregated from the rest it could make money under ordinary conditions.

The South and North sides are served by the United Traction group, which is less desirable from an income standpoint and probably could not be self-supporting. The West End is served by the original Pittsburgh Railways group and is the poorest income producer of all.

It would be entirely possible, through foreclosures of bonds, for the holders to preserve the Consolidated system and to permit the other two groups to stop operating. The suspended lines would have to be served by buses, and present opinion is that this could not be done as cheaply as with street cars.

BUS FARES HIGHER

The bus lines to be substituted would not likely be of the 25-cent variety, but their fares in all probability would have to be more than the present street car rate of 8⅓ cents.

From the standpoint of the car rider, these are the factors which must be considered in any plans to reduce fares under present business conditions. Of course, if improvement in general business continues and the number of car riders increases with it, an entirely different set of circumstances may be presented within a few years.

Kidney Removed From Injured Boy

Philip Strauss, 12, of 218 Parkfield street, Carrick, whose right kidney was ruptured in a coasting accident December 29, is recovering in Homeopathic Hospital today following an operation for the removal of the organ. The operation was performed after X-ray examination failed to disclose the injury.

The kidney was found torn completely in two, it was reported. Strauss was injured when his sled struck a pole.

Pitt Grads to Hear Washington Speaker

Mid-winter commencement exercises of the University of Pittsburgh in Memorial Hall, Friday, February 16, will be addressed by Dr. Harold Glenn Moulton, president of Brookings Institute, Washington, Chancellor John G. Bowman announced yesterday. This will be the first mid-winter commencement since 1932.

Revolt of Stenogs Faces Mayor for Powder Ban

BOGOTA, Columbia, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Amused political circles predicted a suffrage campaign against the city's mayor today.

He had ruled that municipal stenographers shall no longer powder their noses, smoke or drink black coffee during their working hours.

FOSTER SONGS GIVEN TO PITT

A set of 200 reproductions of Stephen Collins Foster's songs, compositions and reproductions were added to the University of Pittsburgh library today.

They are a contribution of Josiah Kirby Lilly, owner of Foster Hall in Indianapolis, Ind. The contribution is the first musical literature to be placed in the library.

The reproductions place on record the famous composer's complete works as far as research by Foster Hall has revealed to date. The Pitt set was among the 1,000 to be distributed throughout the country to give the people a better knowledge of his melodies.

The set is made of rag paper, water marked. Each reproduction is an exact duplicate of the original.

Boat Lost 3 Days Found; Crew Safe

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Missing since January 9, the San Diego fishing boat Vincenzio Mario and her crew of five men were picked up off Point Loma late yesterday by the U. S. S. Southard after naval and Coast Guard vessels and planes had started an extensive search.

The Vincenzio Mario's engine was disabled when the Southard found her, it was reported.

Richardson Takes Oath Tomorrow

Joseph A. Richardson, newly appointed County Court judge, will take the oath of office tomorrow at 9:45 a. m., in the assignment room of County Court. President Judge Richard A. Kennedy will administer the oath.

CHURCH CHIMES LEAD FOSTER PROGRAM

The program of the Stephen C. Foster anniversary commemoration as arranged by the Community Fine Arts Committee and the Civic Club of Allegheny County will begin early tomorrow with Foster melodies on the chimes of Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church.

Foster airs will be played in hotels and restaurants at noon, and at 12:20 they will be heard on the chimes of Trinity Cathedral.

Commemoration services will be held at Foster's grave in Section 21, Allegheny Cemetery, under auspices of the Women's City Club Chorus, American Society of Composers, Musicians' Club and the Civic Club. Dr. John C. Oliver, professor of history at the University of Pittsburgh, will deliver an address.

In the late afternoon and early evening Foster melodies will be heard on the chimes of the Edgewood Presbyterian Church, Highland Presbyterian Church, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Sewickley, St. James' Roman Catholic Church of Wilkinsburg, and in restaurants, hotels and theaters.

At 8 o'clock Ed Harvey's dramatization of the life of Stephen Collins Foster will be broadcast over stations WCAE and the NBC network.

Poisoned Candy Trial Date Set

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Assistant United States Attorney Thomas J. Reilly said yesterday that the trial of Mrs. Sarah O. Hobart, Troy (N. Y.) clubwoman charged with sending poisoned candy to her brother through the mails, will start January 29.

Mrs. Hobart, wife of an engineer, who was arrested last Saturday, is accused of posting the package of candy to her brother, Harrington Fitzgerald, Jr., a patient in the Veterans' Hospital at Coatesville.

CHARGES MATE BURNED CHILD WITH POKER

Her husband burned their young daughter with a poker and struck her because she came home from school with a dirty face, Lillian Makinson, 39, of 225 North Craig street, testified before Judge Harry H. Rowand, who granted her a divorce from Harold St. John Makinson, 38.

She also charged he abused her and associated with other women.

Celeste May Woodward, 1243 Mississippi avenue, Dormont, was granted a divorce from Fred Grant Woodward. She testified Woodward pawned her wedding ring for $2, gambled the money, and she had to redeem it.

Blanche Abt, 3212 Faronia street, Sheraden, was granted a divorce from Andrew P. Abt, state parole officer. He told his wife, she testified, he did not think it necessary to live with somebody he did not care for, and left her.

Judge Ralph H. Smith granted Elsie B. Tharp, 2139 Sampson street, a divorce from Paul D. Tharp, Wilkinsburg, a store manager. Mrs. Tharp testified her husband always went to see his mother on Sundays and holidays, and she was not considered. She said to the court:

"He was rather snobbish, and if things did not suit him would tell me it was not the way mother fixed them."

She also testified he once knocked her down.

A divorce was also granted to Irene Metzger from Meyer Metzger.

NAZIS BAN RITES FOR DUTCHMAN

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Word that German authorities would not permit the body of Marinus Van Der Lubbe, executed for burning the Reichstag Building, to be brought to Holland for burial came as a surprise today to his relatives and official circles.

The Dutch government is instructing its minister in Berlin to take immediate steps with a view of having the decision rescinded.

News of the action came in an official telegram to a Leyden undertaker, who had been charged with transport of the body to Holland. The telegram added that until noon tomorrow the body would be available for removal for a simple burial in Leipzig, without any ceremony.

As Van Der Lubbe's family is very poor, it was uncertain whether they would be able to go to Leipzig.

NAZIS SEARCH CLERICS' HOME

International News Service.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—A militant Protestant clergyman who opposed the dictates of Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller was placed in a concentration camp today and others were threatened with similar treatment as the Prussian police made a series of raids in the homes of local secretaries of the Pastors' Emergency League.

Dortmund and Stettin were the focal points of the raids, although clerics of other towns of the state also had their homes searched as memberships lists were seized in what was believed to be a preliminary step toward a concerted state drive against the old-line Protestants opposing the ultra-Nazi influence in the church.

The arrested pastor was the Rev. Rzadki, of Schneidemuehl.

Asthma Sufferer Commits Suicide

CARMICHAELS, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Said by his relatives to have been suffering from miners' asthma, Hames Grardano, 45, a mine worker, was found dead in his home in Dillinger with his wrist and throat slashed with a knife.

Officers said he had committed suicide.

Beautician Scorns Bail After Lottery Arrest

MRS. HELEN PATCH

Held in Number Sale, Crafton Woman Chooses Jail

Mrs. Helen Patch, a beauty shop operator, of 154 Noble avenue, Crafton, was in the county jail today awaiting action of the grand jury on a charge of operating a lottery.

She was held for court late yesterday by Alderman Thomas M. Geary after county detectives testified she sold numbers and "dream" books, which contained "lucky" numbers on which to gamble.

After being held for court in $2,500 bond, Mrs. Patch announced she would not ask friends to post it for her. She was quoted as saying:

"Well, if you send me to jail you will have to feed me and keep a roof over my head."

Ringling Circus Press Agent Dies

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Charles Kannely, 55, prominent in the circus world and for a quarter of a century confidential secretary to the Ringling Brothers, died here yesterday.

Kannely, who also had been a press agent for road and stock companies, was known in hundreds of newspaper offices. He was responsible for many of the designs and costumes used in the Ringling Brothers' Circus.

COURT SETTLES BOND DISPUTE

A court fight between an attorney and a bondsman over the title to certain properties was settled by Judge Ralph H. Smith, who criticized both.

Judge Smith ruled that certain properties now in the name of Attorney Mayer Sniderman's brother, Herbert, and parents, be turned over to the plaintiff, Domenic Nerone, bondsman and tailor.

Nerone and Attorney Sniderman had held at least one piece of property jointly. Nerone complained that he had turned the property over to Herbert Sniderman when the attorney told him a bail bond against it might be forfeited.

Judge Smith criticized Nerone for the characters of the properties offered for bonds. Sniderman was censured for allowing Nerone freedom in his office.

Crafton Woman Wills Cousin $2,000

The will of Mrs. Regina M. Hoskinson, of Crafton, disposes of $5,500. Her brother, John C. Runswinkle, Jennie Holman and Mary Payerchen each receive $1,000, and her cousin, Emma Wainhoff, $2,000. The residue goes to the husband, G. E. Hoskinson.

SCHOOLS MARK ANNIVERSARY

Observing the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the public school system, a pageant in 12 episodes depicting historical highlights in the growth of education in Pennsylvania was presented last night in Syria Mosque under the auspices of the Board of Public Education. A Pittsburgh senior high school presented each of the episodes.

The purchase of Pennsylvania by William Penn from the Indians, and Benjamin Franklin conceiving the idea of public education formed the first part of the program. Development of the idea and the modern school was shown in parts two and three. The roles of William Penn and Benjamin Franklin were enacted by Edward Horn and Frank Lewis, of the Taylor Allderdice High School. The South Hills High School Orchestra furnished music.

Buggy Driver Fined As Drunk After Auto Crash

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 12.—Clifford Campbell, 34, driver of a horse and buggy which was struck by an automobile operated by Homer Bukson, Sharpsville, was fined $35 and costs on charges of operating a vehicle without a light and being drunk.

Bukson, severely injured when the horse was thrown against the windshield of his car, is in the hospital. The horse was killed.

New Kensington's Vote Case Appealed

An appeal from the Westmoreland County Court in the election contest involving the first Mayor of New Kensington, Daniel Burns, was filed today in the Prothonotary's office of the State Supreme Court here.

TORCH SLAYING CLUE SOUGHT

International News Service.

DOVER, O., Jan. 12.—Suspecting a torch murder, county officials, aided by members of the state highway patrol, today launched a search for a mysterious man, following the finding of a body in the fire-scarred ruins of a coupe near here last night.

The mysterious man, believed to be a foreigner, was seen acting suspiciously near the scene where the car was found ditched and burned.

The burned automobile, destroyed by the flames, contained a corpse. The victim, unidentified as man or woman, was found sprawled in the rumble compartment of the machine. It had been wrapped in an oil-soaked blanket.

DAVISON SEES FLOOD PLAN APPROVAL

The Pittsburgh Flood Commission's 51 million dollars flood basin plan has an "excellent" chance of being approved by the Mississippi Drainage Area Board, subdivision of the Public Works Administration, it was disclosed today by George S. Davison, president of the Flood Commission and chairman of the board of the Tri-State Authority.

Davison made this assertion upon his return from Washington after a series of conferences with engineering authorities of the PWA. He pointed to the Public Works' allotment of 3 million dollars to start the Tygart River reservoir above Grafton, W. Va., on the Monongahela River as an indication of eventual indorsement of the entire scheme, Davison said.

"We feel that the engineers see in our project, developed over a period of 25 years, the nucleus for carrying out a flood control program for the entire Mississippi basin.

PLANS PROGRESS

"While in Washington I saw many concrete public works plans involving waterways for other sections, equal in size to our own, turned down. Ours is still actively before the board."

While the plan appears to be progressing in Washington, Davison believes that every community in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, affected by it, should become active in its support.

Eight projects of the commission's plan, involving 51 million dollars, have been recommended by the United States engineers and survey work already has started at the Tygart site. They were given the first hearing before the PWA Drainage Board last fall.

Most important of these is the Tygart Reservoir, according to Davison, because it will affect both navigation and control floods on the Monongahela which carries a tonnage movement comparable to that of the Panama Canal. In the winter it will hold back the flood waters and in the summer months it will feed a steady flow of water into the river, aiding traffic.

'KEY' ON ALLEGHENY

Two years ago river traffic was threatened because of the low water stage, making it necessary to "tap" the water in Lake Lynn on the Cheat River. This was an object lesson in flood and navigation control, according to Davison.

The other key in the plan is a reservoir and dam at Warren, Pa., on the Allegheny River. This would serve the same purpose as the Tygart and is important because of the growing activity on the Allegheny, Davison explained.

A drainage area of 1,220 square miles will be served by the Tygart Reservoir, which will have a capacity of 327,000 acres and a dam 214 feet high.

The Warren Dam will be 150 feet high and the reservoir area will have 18,000 acres capacity.

Other projects are dams and reservoirs on French Creek, Tionesta Creek, Red Bank Creek, Crooked Creek, Loyalhanna Creek and West Fork River.

Knights of Pythias To Install Officers

District Deputy David Helfer will install the officers of Madoc-Leader Lodge, No. 229, Knights of Pythias, Monday evening, in the Fifth Avenue Bank Building. George Levinson will be the new chancellor commander.

Plans are also under way for a testimonial to be held for Supreme Chancellor James Dunn, Jr., of Cleveland, on February 26. Mr. Dunn will be the guest of the tenth district.

CALL PASTORS IN MICHIGAN VICE PROBE

International News Service.

NILES, Mich., Jan. 12.—Nine pastors of nine Berrien County churches will be subpenaed to testify in the one-man grand jury inquiry being conducted here into juvenile delinquency by George Murphy, assistant attorney general.

The ministers whose charges brought the inquiry to a head last night refused to come to court of their own free will at request of the Assistant Attorney General, so Prosecutor Harvey Holbrook ordered Sheriff Charles L. Miller to serve the papers on the ministers and to bring them into court.

CHARGES MADE

The pastors are the Rev. C. E Haterius, E. Umbrach Edward Kuhn, A. F. Traverse, Leon F. Woodward, O. R Grattan and F. S. Schmidt. They spoke for the congregations, they said, in making the following charges against the juveniles of the county:

1.—That liquor is being served by adults to minors.

2.—That liquor is being served to minors in various homes in the county where girls into immoral relationships.

3.—That free transportation has been furnished to minor girls to dance halls by proprietors, and that the girls have been allowed to return home unchaperoned with strange men.

4.—That dance hall proprietors made no inquiries when girls disappeared for a long period of time between dances into cars parked in secluded spots.

GIRLS TO TESTIFY

5.—That married men in the community have inveigled young girls into moral relationships.

6.—That five couples spent a week-end at a lake cottage, all of the girls being between 15 and 17 years of age.

7.—That a seventh grade girl was taken to Indiana and attacked by a married man.

Six girls, after testifying yesterday, said they were willing to face the boys and men involved in their individual cases.

Yesterday one 23-year-old mother had to be led from the grand jury room in hysteria when she was questioned. Charges had been made that she encouraged the younger girls in their conduct. Her friends say the charges are absurd.

VETS TO HONOR GUARD CHIEF

Lieut. Gov. Shannon, commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard, will be the guest of the Jewish War Post No. 49, Saturday, January 27, at Memorial Hall. The presentation of colors and installation of newly-elected officers will take place during the visit here of the wartime commander of the 111th Infantry.

Gen. Shannon.

Judge Benjamin Lencher of the County Court will preside. Representatives of Western Pennsylvania veteran organizations will attend.

FIVE SEEK JOB AS CONSTABLE

Five applicants for the job of constable of the First Ward, regarded as a highly lucrative position, today were praised by their supporters at a hearing before Judge Sylvester J. Snee in Quarter Sessions Court.

After hearing the good qualities of each extolled, Judge Snee reserved decision on the appointment to fill the vacancy created when Andrew M. Maloney, former constable, was elected alderman.

The applicants were Frank Casilli, butcher; William J. Duncan, deputy constable; former Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan, who was defeated by Maloney; Albert L. Goldstein, restaurant manager, and John J. Mobrey, former police telephone operator.

Wife Seeks Help In Locating Man

Seeking to contact her husband who is driving to California, Mrs. Albert F. Frame, of 1024 Chelton avenue, today had requested the aid of the Missing Persons Bureau.

Frame left Monday driving an automobile for a family of four persons. A description of the party was furnished and the police were asked to inform Frame to communicate with his wife.

BIRTH DECLINE FEARS HIT BY EXPERT

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—There is no reason for alarm over a threatened depopulation of the country by a declining birthrate.

One of the world's foremost biologists, Dr. Norman Haire, shown a statement of Dr. O. E. Baker, economist of the Department of Agriculture, that "if the present trend of depopulation increases, in 1970 there will be no children at all in the United States," told Universal Service:

"When the population becomes thinner, people will be less harried, have more comfort and ease, and will automatically propagate more. We need have no worries about there being no children born in the future."

HERE FOR PARLEY

Dr. Haire, English, and one of the executives of the World League for Sexual Reform, is in this country to attend a council of birth control advocates and perhaps testify in Washington when a bill permitting birth control literature to be distributed comes before a congressional committee for consideration. He said:

"I have always maintained that no woman, rich or poor, should have more children than she wishes. To those who point out that Keats came out of poverty-stricken people, I answer that I would prefer no Keats to 100 tubercular children."

NAZIS BAN BOOKS

Dr. Haire's books were proscribed and burned by the Nazi government in Germany. Mention of this set him off on the subject of sterilization, and he surprised interviewers by declaring:

"Sterilization invigorates and rejuvenates the 'victim,' that is, the kind of sterilization practiced in Germany. It is the same operation recommended by Steinach a few years ago for the rejuvenation of aging men.

"While I believe it is an excellent method of purging civilization of misfits, I am afraid that the Hitler government may use it to persecute political antagonists."

ALASKA STAGES RABBIT HUNT

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 12. (AP.)—Under the Northern Lights Uncle Sam is busy in a great sub-Arctic rabbit round-up.

The aim is to capture alive thousands of snowshoe rabbits, a cousin of the jack rabbit of the Western United States, and restock the thinly populated Aleutian Islands and other regions.

Under a federal program, with officials of the Alaska Game Commission directing, 50 Indians are running down the animals.

Director Frank Dufresne said:

"Not only will the rabbits prove to be suitable food for fur bearing animals in those areas, but they will also aid in supplying food for persons living there."

MOON WEATHER SIGNS FALSE

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—One of the familiar old false weather proverbs is that of the "wet" and "dry" moons, officials of the Weather Bureau declared today.

According to the fable, if the horns of the new moon tip downward, it is a "wet" moon, because it will not hold water," and the month will be one of foul weather. But if the horns point upward it is a "dry" moon, because it will "hold water" and therefore the month will be one of fine weather.

This, officials say, is sheerest nonsense.

Whether the horns tip up or whether they tip downward is because of astronomical reasons and has nothing whatever to do with the earth's weather.

BUTLER'S BALL TO EXCLUDE BOSSES

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The butlers, meaning the vocation and not the proper noun, are giving their annual ball tonight at a midtown hotel.

Everybody is invited except their bosses.

It will cost $2.50 to dance with the maids—which shows just how serious butlers can be.

The receipts will go to Bellevue Hospital.

Mrs. Marshall Field is chairman of the sponsors of the ball.

Will she attend? Indeed, not! She said:

"You wouldn't expect them at our balls, would you? Then why should we attend theirs? Isn't that right, Hider?"

'QUITE RIGHT'

"Quite right."

He's chairman of the ball committee.

Hider used to serve in England and just to show what butlers are over there he exhibited a nicely bound book which told about them. It gave their ratings like an Army order.

Did you know the housemaids outranked the scullery maids?

Hider explained:

"In England, a butler rises by endeavor and integrity. Here they put a tuxedo and a white shirt on any chap and call him a butler, and perhaps he has never even been a first footman"—That means the head man of the footmen."

HOPES FOR THE BEST

Hider is "quite concerned, sir," over the doings tonight. He sighed:

"New York is such a cosmopolitan place. I hope for the best."

There will be entertainment at the ball but no refreshments. They'll be on another floor for a price. Said Hider:

IRISH FILM GETS SHOWING HERE

The first sound and color picture filmed entirely in Ireland with an all Irish cast, "The Voice of Ireland," will have its only Pittsburgh showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at 8:30 p. m., in the auditorium of the Central Catholic High School, 4720 Fifth avenue. This historic travel story of Erin is being shown under the auspices of the Rev. F. A. Atkinson, chaplain of the Cathedral chapel.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a special private matinee for the clergy, sisters and brothers will be held.

Through the centuries, the picture recounts the story of progress in Ireland, staging episodes of all the important historical events from the legendary days of the Irish giant, Finn McCool, down to and including the Eucharistic Congress of 1932. A cast of over a thousand members portrays the customs of the people, their every day life, their songs and dances, legends and lore.

Pope to Canonize Heroic French Nun

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Before thousands of Italian, French and other devouts in St. Peter's cathedral, Pope Pius next Sunday will solemly declare that Mother Thouret, heroic healer and educator of the French revolutionary period, has joined the ranks of the Catholic saints.

The Pope's proclamation will be broadcast to listeners throughout the world at 3:30 p. m., Sunday, eastern standard time.

Sale! Odd Pieces

Bedroom and Dining Room Furniture

$15

Back in September, when we held our last Odd Piece Sale, furniture authorities told us that any future sales would have to be at a greatly advanced price . . . that it would be humanly impossible to secure the same type of merchandise to sell at FIFTEEN DOLLARS! But they failed to consider that we have friends in the furniture industry . . . large factories with whom we do a tremendous business, and who always contributed generously to provide the extraordinary offerings that go into these events. Naturally, we didn't wait till the last minute . . . As soon as the last event was over, we began assembling the merchandise for this one . . . with the result that what looked like an impossibility has really come to pass. Despite all the advances in furniture prices, the scarcity of goods, the difficulty of obtaining these unusual assortments, we launch the sale tomorrow . . . AND THE PRICE IS STILL FIFTEEN DOLLARS.

RUSS-JAP WAR HELD U. S. PERIL BY FASCISTS

Universal Service.

ROME, Jan. 12.—Failure of the League of Nations to arbitrate the Sino-Japanese dispute before Japan withdrew from the League has resulted in the likelihood of a conflict between Soviet Russia and Japan which may involve the United States, it is pointed out by a prominent Italian Fascist editor and writer.

According to Francesco Coppola, member of the Italian Academy and editor of the monthly review Politica, the world's industrial powers passed up their finest opportunity to defend themselves against Japan's expansion in world markets when the League permitted Japan to withdraw. Coppola said:

"That was the moment for using those futile tools of the league and the Kellogg pact in proclaiming a boycott against Japanese goods.

"The only opportunities that remain now are to use Russia for fomenting a social revolt among Japanese workmen or a war which may be fought by Russia and the United States against Japan."

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Germany, which is closely studying Japan's course of action because of her own withdrawal from the League of Nations, today read with interest the interview with Vice Admiral Suetsugu, commander-in-chief of the Japanese navy, revealing that Japan is preparing for the possibility of war with the United States.

HOP INTERESTS JAP OFFICIALS

By JAMES R. YOUNG

International News Service.

TOKIO, Jan. 12.—Stressing the military importance of the American Navy's record-breaking mass flight from San Francisco to Honolulu, Japanese officialdom today asserted it has created an entirely new situation in the Pacific.

The flight, closely linking the Hawaiian Islands with the American mainland, makes Honolulu a stepping-stone to the United States possessions of Guam and the Philippine Islands, a spokesman for the Japanese navy declared.

Thus, he stated, the United States and her Asiatic ports are linked by a matter of hours, instead of days.

The Japanese pointed out that the flight was strong evidence of great American progress in aviation, and that it automatically extended the American Navy's field of activities by many thousands of miles.

Belgian Abbe Wins Award for Science

VILLANOVA, Jan. 12.—Abbe George Lemaitre, Belgian scientist and visiting professor at Catholic University, Washington, yesterday was named by Villanova College as recipient of the Mendel medal for 1934.

The medal is presented annually by the college to a Catholic who has performed distinguished service to science. Abbe Lemaitre is the author of the theory of the expanding universe which Prof. Albert Einstein has called the "most satisfactory theory yet presented."

Blue Eagles on Jap Tuna Fish Bring U. S. Probe

the long-standing difficulty American producers have had in meeting competition with imported Japanese fish.

Institution of the Blue Eagle regulations has added to these difficulties for American canned fish producers and dealers all are under the President's re-employment agreement, setting minimum wages and maximum working hours.

Japanese production comes from workers paid a bare subsistence, making it possible for the Japanese product to be landed here, tariff and shipping cost paid, at less than half the price of American production.

The canning industry shortly will be under an NRA code which is expected to add further handicap in wage and hours provisions so far as competition with Japan is concerned.

FIRM "MYSTIFIED"

CHICAGO, Jan. 12—(Universal.)—Harry Kunin, memebr of the wholesale grocery firm of Samuel Kunin & Sons, Inc., said he is mystified by the revelation that canned Japanese tuna fish consigned to his company bears the NRA Blue Eagle.

Pledging the co-operation of his firm in the investigation, and offering to throw open all its books, Kunin said:

"If a Blue Eagle is on the goods being imported for shipment to us, it is not with our authorization or knowledge.

"And we couldn't put the labels on, as the shipment come to us directly and duty-paid."

Kunin and his brother, Maxwell, said that the firm operates under the wholesale grocers' code as a member of the NRA. The brother said:

"Somebody is evidently 'pulling a fast one,' not only on us but on scores of other companies."

Harry Kunin said the firm buys tuna fish from Japan and California, but the Japanese purchases, he explained, are made through a Chicago Japanese broker.

Japan Begins Inquiry Into 'Blue Eagle' Fraud

TOKIO, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Japanese officials today launched a thorough investigation of tuna canneries following seizure by American authorities of 4,000 cases of Japanese tuna bearing the NRA Blue Eagle insignia.

Spokesmen for the industry expressed surprise over the seizure and all expressed ignorance as to how the Blue Eagle came to be on the labels.

It was learned, however, that 34 separate firms of tuna packers are under investigation. Efforts are being made to locate the publishing house where the spurious labels were printed.

For years, American and European authorities have protested against the alleged fabrication of well-known labels by Japanese canners despite patent and copyright agreements. Seldom has any satisfaction been gained.

American officials were understood to believe, however, that protests might be more productive of results in this case owing to the particularly brazen nature of the fraud.

DAVIS FAVORS BIGGER ARMY AND NAVY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Senator James J. Davis, Pennsylvania Republican, sees "the best assurance of peace for the world" in a stronger Army and Navy."

Writing James E. Van Zandt, of Blair County, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Senator commented that "we have put our hands on European and Asiatic affairs" and now, "under pressure of defaulting nations," find our influence suffering compression. He declared:

"The time has come to look after the problems in our own back yard and permit Europe to fix up her own flower gardens."

Davis proposed an army 25 per cent larger than at present and a navy which would be "respected by world powers."

The Pittsburgh lawmaker also wrote the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce to reiterate his contention that currency stabilization must be accompanied by "stabilized business, which is based on earning power."

G. P. DONEHOO, HISTORIAN, DIES

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Dr. George P. Donehoo, former state librarian, chaplain of the State Senate, and former chaplain of the House, died at his home last night at the age of 71. He had been ill a month.

Dr. Donehoo, a Presbyterian minister, was born in Connellsville, the son of the Rev. Dr. Elijah Ramsey Donehoo. His family later moved to Pittsburgh, where for 35 years his father was pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church. He was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh and the Western Theological Seminary.

As a ministerial student he began writing for religious publications, and studied Pennsylvania's history. He expanded his historical work during pastorates at Mt. Pleasant, Sharon and Coudersport, and was elected pastor emeritus for life of the Coudersport Presbyterian Church upon his appointment as state librarian.

HUNT COYOTES IN COUNTY

Justice of the Peace Chester A. Wyke, of Bridgeville, led a posse in search of the marauding animals, unheard of in this region until several months ago, after two sheep belonging to Case Pepe, farmer and roadhouse proprietor near the Fairview School, Washington pike, had been slaughtered.

Teeth marks on the dead sheep were not those of a dog, 'Squire Wyke reported. He believes the killers were part of a pack of coyotes that has been scouring the southern part of the county. Pepe's sheep were the first killed in that district in 10 years, Wyke said.

Sentimental Thief Returns Judge's Gift Watch

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—The thief who stole valuables and cash from the home of Judge Theodore Rosen has a sentimental streak. He kept all the loot, save a wrist watch presented to Judge Rosen by his wartime army comrades. The watch was found today in a mailbox together with a note, saying:

"Sorry, I took this watch. I also only got $40, although the papers said it was $75. I have sent $30 of this to care for my sick mother."

Five Face State Rum Law Charges

Mike Mirasole, Wolfendale street, was held for court last night by Alderman Raymond A. Schneider charged with alleged violation of the state liquor laws by agents of the State Department of Revenue.

George Dunay, of Third street, Rankin, waived hearing while the cases of Arthur J. Gilbert, Suismon street; Don Pruitt, Gironde street, and George A. Pfeifer, of California avenue, were continued. They were also arrested on liquor charges.

JURY INDICTS 6 IN MURDERS

Six persons, including a woman, were indicted for murder by the county grand jury late yesterday. They are:

OFFICER LINKED IN FACTOR CASE

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—State and defense forces were girded today for a court battle over a former county policeman secretly arrested several days ago in connection with the kidnaping of John Factor, market speculator.

He is William A. (Buck) Henrichsen, reputed chief gunner for the Touhy gang, four members of which go on trial next week for the Factor kidnaping. His arrest was not known until yesterday when Attorney William Scott Stewart filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Officials characterized the arrest of the former officer as an "important bit of work" and in addition to predicting another, said the Touhy gang had been completely demoralized.

Henrichsen was picked up in a raid on a North Side apartment Wednesday and since then has been subjected to questioning concerning the kidnaping with which officials have associated him as being one of the men who held Factor prisoner.

Geneva Group Scans Jap Trade Methods

GENEVA, Jan. 12. — (INS.) — The International Labor Office, it was learned today, is conducting an exhaustive study of the methods by which Japan is able to undersell other countries in foreign markets, particularly in the textile industries.

LAW DROPPING BANK TAX TO BE TESTED

Allegheny County will go to court Monday to test the legality of a law which deprives it of over a million dollars in revenue, it was learned today.

The law, passed December 22 by the State Legislature, exempts interest-bearing money in banks from the four mills personal property tax. It was sponsored by Senators Morris Einstein and James J. Coyne.

Because it discriminates against all but one class of personal property holders, the law is unconstitutional, according to T. Ralph Barr, superintendent of the Personal Property Division of the Tax Board.

TEST DONNELLY ESTATE

The estate of James Donnelly, comprising accounts in three banks amounting to about $23,000, has been selected for the test. When the audit statement for the estate is presented in Orphan's Court Monday, Assistant County Solicitor Thomas E. Whitten will present a claim for the four-mill tax.

The attorney for the estate is expected to raise objection on the ground of the new law.

The law exempts an approximate total of two hundred and fifty million dollars of interest bearing money in banks in the county. At the four mills tax previously levied that meant about a million dollars in revenue.

And a million dollars equals roughly 5 per cent of the county's income, to be lost if the new law stands.

WANT LAW CLARIFIED

The county will carry the law to the Supreme Court, if necessary, to completely clarify the situation. Commissioners C. C. McGovern and C. M. Barr recently voted for the legality contest over the protest of Commissioner W. D. Mansfield.

In discussing the case against the law, T. Ralph Barr has pointed out that the state Constitution lists properties which may be exempted and that interest-bearing money in banks is not included. All laws exempting property not specified in the list are void, the Constitution further states, he said.

BISHOP CANNON LAUDS SMITH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., foe of Alfred E. Smith during the 1928 presidential campaign, says, nevertheless, the friends of prohibition can find in the New Yorker a model for steadfastness of purpose. Cannon told an Anti-Saloon meeting:

"As early as 1920, in San Francisco, he started his fight, when in a hopeless minority, and has continued unfalteringly since.

"He has set an example to us in standing for what we believe in going all the way down the line with his colors to the mast."

Receivership Asked For Toy Concern

A receivership for the Girard Model Works, Inc., of Girard Erie County, manufacturers of mechanical toys and other novelties, was asked in an equity suit filed yesterday in Federal Court by Louis Marx & Co., New York.

The Girard company was said to have assets of $341,353.40 and liabilities of approximately $222,862.38, but to be unable to meet maturing obligations. It consented to a receivership and a hearing was set for January 15.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

JUNIOR PATROL

Cold weather won't last long, fellows!

Here it is the middle of January and it will only be a few months before warm spring comes again.

Many fine holidays—St. Patricks's Day, Valentine's Day, Washington's birthday, Lincoln's birthday are coming soon. It would be fine if some of our Junior Patrol chapters could have parties or entertainments to celebrate.

We have a mighty pleasant letter from Marian Wood, of 1220 Trimble street, North Side. Although she is 18 years old, she writes that she would like to start a Junior Patrol, and help us with our music programs over the radio. Thank you lots, Marian, and we would like to have you very much. We're sorry it has taken so long for us to answer your kind letter.

Now here is a letter from Lois Doelfel, of 129 Greenfield avenue. She writes:

"I sent six members in a few days ago. Here are seven more. I received my pin and membership card. Please send me a captain's badge. We are having a fine time at out meetings. The one who d'aws best gets a prize."

We will send you your arm band as captain right away, Lois. Write and tell us some more news right away.

Mary Tvrdowsky and Andy, Ethel and Ralph, all of the same family, who live in Glassmere, Pa., are members of the Junior Patrol now. They only need to ask six of their friends to join them to have a fine Junior Patrol Club.

East End Couple Wed Fifty Years

Celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary was announced today by Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Dempsey, of 206 Paulson avenue. With their two foster daughters, both of who live in New Jersey, and their children, they celebrated their anniversary at home.

Catholic Foresters Plan Benefit Dance

'PRINCE MIKE' HAS OWN DAY IN COURT

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. — (Society note: "Prince Michael Romanoff" arranged Sydney Solomon's presentation at court yesterday.)

It's news when "Prince Mike," nee Harry Gerguson, one-time Illinois pants-presser, appears in court as anything but defendant. But such was the case.

"Prince Mike's" feelings were hurt when Solomon, who is manager of snooty Central Park Casino, had him tossed out at 2 a. m.

FLAYS CAMERAMEN

The would-be-scion of the Romanoffs was offended by the refusal of press photographers to permit him to preserve the incognito of a commoner in court. He snapped at them as they snapped him, complaining:

"The trouble is, the newspapers have publicized me as some kind of freak. I am what I appear to be, drinking or abstemious, a normal, quiet gentleman. For some reason every time some one feels superior and vengeful he tries to take it out on me. Otherwise the occurrence at the Casino would never have happened."

GETS SUMMONS

The errant "prince" was so annoyed by all the attention given him in court, in fact, that he withdrew the charges against Solomon. But he smiled cockily as he left court after having been the complainant the first time among many times he has been at the bar. He explained:

"I wanted to get Solomon down here. I'm satisfied."

"Prince Mike" may have another presentation in court soon. A server slapped a summons into the "prince's" hands as he was bowing to "admirers" leaving the Yorkville temple of justice. A little matter of a check for $10 issued back in 1930, one Nicholas Bates said.

New York Milk Threatens Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Threat of a new Chicago milk strike became more acute today after 5,000 union milk wagon drivers refused a proposed pay reduction and voted full power to a wage scale committee to call a walkout.

A decision to strike immediately was narrowly averted as the milk wagon drivers' union members spurned the dealers' plan to reduce the present $40 a week wage to $32.

MAUDE ADAMS, NEWS DRAMA -:- Jessica Dragonette Mary Eastman -:- RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

Barrie Play Dramatized Tonight

Maude Adams, most glamorous figure of the American stage, who has firmly held aloof from the newer forms of entertainment—radio and movies—has consented to appear in a series of broadcasts over an NBC-WCAE network, beginning tonight at 9:30.

Miss Adams comes to the air with Victor Young's Orchestra in a special radio adaptation of Sir James M. Barrie's "The Little Minister."

An impressive cast of players will support her in her debut as "Lady Babbie."

* * *

MARY EASTMAN

Mary Eastman, young lyric soprano, returns to the air in a new series of weekly broadcasts with Howard Barlow's Orchestra.

The initial program, heard over CBS-WJAS at 10:45, consists of light concert selections and musical comedy melodies.

* * *

The French political-financial scandal which has disrupted the government and threatened to cause a loss of $31,000,000 to investors, and a fight between Mayor LaGuardia and Gov. Lehman, of New York, are the highlights of tonight's March of Time drama, heard over CBS-WJAS at 8:30.

* * *

HEALTH, CHEER

Dr. Emlyn Jones, director of Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health, returns to KDKA this afternoon at 4:45, in a series of 10-minute broadcasts titled "Health and Cheer Talks for the Family."

* * *

Frank Parker, singing "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," shares the spotlight with Jessica Dragonette during the Rosario Bourdon program, scheduled on WCAE from 8 to 9.

* * *

Olsen and Johnson go on the air from Youngstown, O., tonight at 10, over a nationwide CBS-WJAS network.

* * *

DE BACKER

Deep-voiced Raymond Griffin chants "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," during the Pittsburgher Quartet broadcast over WCAE at 7:30.

* * *

Jimmy Murray broadcasts a blow-by-blow account of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo lacross melee at Motor Square Garden from 8:30 to 10:30, over KQV.

'The Devil's Daughter' On 8 Stations

Everyone remembers the sensational front page news of the young English girl who defied old Indian religious traditions, and, as punishment, was held captive under the threat of death, by native priests

A number of radio stations in the Tri-State area present a realistic dramatization of that memorable affair this afternoon and evening.

Adapted from a complete account of the incident appearing in next Sunday's American Weekly, big feature magazine distributed with the Sunday Sun-Telegraph "The Devil's Daughter" is heard as follows:

WSAZ, Huntington, W. Va., 1:30 p. m.; WHBC, Canton, O., 2 p. m.; WALR, Zanesville, 5 p. m.; WJAC, Johnstown, 5:15 p. m. WOBU, Charleston, W. Va., 5:15 p. m.; WAIU, Columbus, O., 7:15 p. m.; WADC, Akron, O., 7:45 p. m. and WLBW, Erie, Pa., 9 p. m.

James J. Long Gives Sports Review

James J. Long, dean of sports writers, gives his weekly review of the athletic world over WCAE tonight at 6 o'clock. The Sun-Telegraph family children's program is heard over WCAE at 4:45 p. m.

The Globe Trotter broadcasts over WCAE-WJAS at 12:15 and 2:15 p. m. George Seibel speaks over WCAE-WJAS at 6:30, with "Aircaster."

Farley to Air Government Policies

By AIRCASTER

Postmaster General Farley will be on the air twice over the weekend.

His words of wisdom on "Aims of the Administration" at an automobile show in Cleveland will be distributed among the NBC-WCAE listeners at 1 p. m. Saturday.

Monday night at 10:45, he is to conclude the "Planned Recovery" series over NBC-WJAS.

* * *

Schnozle Durante, who filled in for Cantor on the Sunday night WCAE hour last year, will do so again next summer, having just signed a 24-weeks contract.

* * *

SOMETHINGS NEW

It is an interesting fact that the Eskimos (not the radio performers, but the fur-iners of the Fur North), have adopted a new word in their lingo.

The word is "KDKA," which to them means all broadcasting.

The executive secretary of the department of painting College of Fine Arts, Carnegie Tech, is Mr. Readio, pronounced radio.

AT DAWNING

A great big handsome radio announcer cost me a dime and some sleep very late last night, when I was called to the door of my new and as yet phoneless domicile to accept the following telegram sent from downtown—"Woman below in night clothes won't call you Merry Christmas."

* * *

Bill Hay, Scotch announcer on the A. & A. blackface daily sketch, is all that a Scotsman is said to be, his associates say.

Bill is said to have appropriated the entire 48, taken them home, and, days later, brought 46 of them back to distribute among his co-workers.

By then, the 46 were too dead to skin.

Local Highlights on WJAS Tonight

GLOBE-TROTTING

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

When Adolph Lang, West Tenth avenue, Tarentum, read the Sunday Sun-Telegraph he was amazed at a picture of a needle threaded 18 times, which made the threader, a Denver tailor, the champion needle threader.

Adolph Lang's amazement soon faded into determination as he sat down with a needle in one hand and a thread in the other and patiently began to thread.

I have the result: A needle threaded 18 times, which, if it doesn't make Adolph the champion, makes him tie for the honor at least.

* * *

Joseph Traynor, Pittsburgh, sent in a verse about Elmer Layden. Each line beginning with a letter, in sequence, of the value of the Notre Dame coach. It wishes Elmer a success that is echoed by all the Globe Trotters.

* * *

Those of you who have been asking "Where's Elmer?" and thinking that I have fallen down on the job by not having him on the radio better know that to me he's the toughest proposition to get hold of. He is always going somewhere or just coming back to get ready to go again. Tonight he leaves for South Bend to attend the big Notre Dame banquet.

Then he and Mrs. Layden are going househunting and you know what a job that is. He'll probably get back to Pittsburgh just in time to say good-bye for good.

* * *

* * *

R., New Sheffield, Pa.—Your qualifications as a husband are fine, and all that, but this business of finding husbands and wives for globe trotters is a little out of my line.

* * *

Howard Stoner, Millbridge street, executed a pen and ink picture of President Roosevelt, using nothing but straight lines. (Aside — About your question? I don't think so.)

* * *

Mrs. H. E. McClure, Pittsburgh—If you give further details I'll find out where you should discuss the matter and with whom.

NOTED VIOLIN MAESTRO DIES

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Paul Kochanski, noted violinist, died at his home here last night after a long illness. He was 47 years old.

Born in Poland in 1887, he mastered the violin at an early age and was the nation's child musical prodigy. He made his debut with the Musical Society of Warsaw in 1898.

He made his London debut in 1919, and two years later came to New York at the invitation of Walter Damrosch and appeared with the New York Symphony Orchestra.

Since 1924, he had been professor of violin at the Juilliard School of Music headed by Dr. John Erskine, musician and author. In addition to his professional duties the last decade, Kochanski made concert tours of the United States virtually every year.

B. & O. Chief Clerk Falls Dead at Work

J. A. Myers, 43, a chief clerk for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, complained in his office today of pains in the head and abdomen. Before doctors arrived he was dead. Physicians blamed a heart attack. Mr. Myers lived at 5317 Second avenue. For 30 years he had been employed by the railroad.

Child Health Groups Meet in Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—Nearly 100 representatives of child care groups in the state will gather here tonight for the opening of the two-day discussion of present emergencies in the care of dependent and neglected children, it was announced by the office of Secretary of Welfare Alice F. Liveright, who will preside.

Firemen Injured As Warehouse Burns

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Two firemen were injured and eight others overcome early today at a fire which sent great clouds of smoke rolling from a basement full of burning burlap bags.

An entire engine company was carried from the basement, but all its members were revived. The blaze was confined to the cellar and first floor of a five-story warehouse.

Former Judge Dies In Lycoming County

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Harvey W. Whitehead, 79, former president judge of Lycoming County Court, died unexpectedly last night of a heart attack. Judge Whitehead retired from the bench two years ago.

BRIDGE, TUNNEL PROJECT WINS APPROVAL

Opponents of Wabash Proposal Back New Structure

Two persistent enemies of the rejected Wabash Bridge and tunnel project joined today in approving a plan for a new bridge and tunnel for vehicular traffic to the South Hills.

They were Louis Caplan, who won a taxpayers' fight to prevent purchase of the Wabash span by the county in 1931, and Councilman John J. Kane, who fought federal appropriations for the Wabash in the Legislature.

It was learned yesterday from Washington that the Wabash project had been scrapped as a part of the thirty-one million dollar loan and grant sought from the government for self-liquidating public works in the county. The work was to be done under the newly-chartered Allegheny County Authority.

FAVORED BY ENGINEERS

The proposal for a new bridge and tunnel a few hundred feet east of the Point Bridge was reported favorably received by PWA engineers and Joseph C. Trees, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Advisory Board of the Federal Emergency Administration.

Caplan said:

"I think it's a very happy ending to the whole affair. It saves the public's money from being put into an antiquated structure, which is some 33 years old and entirely unsuited to modern automobile traffic."

Caplan also struck at what he said would be excessive maintenance charges on the worn out bridge. He said he had sent a telegram to Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, Monday, taking the stand that if the bridge didn't justify expenditure of county money, it was certainly not a project for federal aid.

Believing a new outlet for the South Hills beneficial, Caplan said his objection had been to the unsuitability of the structure. He characterized as a bad bargain the paying of three million dollars for the bridge, as that was near its original cost.

KANE'S OBJECTION

Councilman Kane, who this week presented a resolution unanimously approved by Council opposing the Wabash purchase, gave as his chief objection the spending of three million dollars without employing any men. He said:

"In Harrisburg, myself and members of the Democratic party believed and fought for the prniciple that every cent of federal money granted by the new administration should be spent on new materials and labor."

Kane also said he thought traffic was growing beyond capacity of the Liberty tubes, and that the new bridge and tunnel would aid in development of the Banksville section.

The proposed new bridge and tunnel, which was presented by the County Commissioners subsequently to the Wabash project and as an alternative to it, would enter Duquesne Heights several hundred feet east of the Point Bridge.

SAME LENGTH

Paralelling the Wabash Tunnel and of practically the same length, it would emerge in Shalersville, near the junction of the Sawmill Run boulevard and Banksville road.

The bridge would be a counterpart of the Point Bridge, clearing the railroad tracks on the south end and carrying traffic over Water street on the north. It would bring traffic to Liberty avenue level at Second avenue.

The project, it is declared, would shorten driving time to the South Hills by 10 minutes, and would be practical as a self-liquidating project through tolls.

FRIEND GRILLED IN WIDOW'S HANGING

'I Don't Want to Die,' Woman Quoted As Crying

A man in whose room homicide detectives reported finding some blood-stained clothing owned by Mrs. Mamie Brockett, 58, who was found strangled in a noose of her own stocking in a shed in East Lacock street, Sunday, faced further questioning today.

The prisoner, docketed as Christ Bergstresser, 57, of 24 Isabella street, admitted the clothing belonged to the dead woman and said that the blood resulted from a hemorrhage she had at his room several weeks ago, according to Detectives Robert Carroll, Albert Grayber and Albert Buck, who arrested him last night.

HELD AFTER HEARING

After a hearing in Central Police Court, the man was turned over to homicide detectives for examination.

Bergstresser told detectives he retired early Saturday night. He said he had not seen her for several weeks. After questioning a neighbor Detectives Frank Morgan and John Riley said they were convinced Mrs. Brockett did not end her life. They learned that a woman, scuffling with a man near the shed, pleaded:

FIND DEATH BLADE

Near Mrs. Brockett's body, Detectives Morgan and Riley found a safety razor blade with which her throat had been slashed. An autopsy at the county morgue, however, disclosed strangulation as the cause.

Bergstresser visited the morgue Tuesday and viewed the woman's body, but did not then reveal that she was his friend, the detectives said.

The prisoner denied having any connection with the woman's death.

Mrs. Brockett was a widow. Her husband, a grocery salesman, died about three years ago, detectives said.

HARRIS TRIBUTE SCHEDULED

A tribute to his 25 years in public life will be paid State Senator Frank J. Harris at the testimonial dinner to him January 31 in the William Penn Hotel.

A committee of men prominent in civic and political affairs is arranging the event.

An organization of those in charge was formed with the selection of James H. Duff as chairman; F. C. Irish, treasurer, and Joseph H. Reich, secretary.

CHARGES FACING PAIR REDUCED

Charges of arson and malicious destruction of property having been dismissed, a Criminal Court jury was expected to retire today to consider charges of felonious assault and battery and pointing firearms against John Henkel and his son, R. C. Henkel, of 5317 Kincaid street. Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff directed the same jury to return verdicts of not guilty in the arson and other indictments.

R. C. Henkel, his wife, Amelia Henkel, and John, William and Albert DiPaolo, all of 5317 Kincaid street, were charged with setting afire a house at 6238 Station street, owned by Mrs. Henkel and occupied by George Wilson, 74, on July 6.

According to testimony Wilson was "taken for a ride" in an automobile by Henkel and his father, beaten and kicked out with threats of worse treatment if he testified against Henkel in the arson case.

When the state failed to produce conclusive evidence that the house was set afire, Judge Graff granted a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty and ordered the felonious assault case to proceed.

TRUCKERS RAP RATE CUT

The Commissioners cut the rate at which they will rent the wares of the Dump Truck Division, Pittsburgh Chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

County and City Boards Fixing Values on Same Property With Double Expense to Taxpayers

Pittsburgh Spending $100,000 for Annual Appraisals

A saving of more than $110,000 would be brought about to the taxpayers of Allegheny County through the elimination of duplicate tax assessments in Allegheny County. Of this amount, $100,00 would be saved the taxpayers of Pittsburgh and the remainder saved by the residents of Clairton, Duquesne and McKeesport.

At present and as it has been for years, the County Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes assesses all real estate for taxation purposes in all cities, boroughs and townships in the county. Real estate within the territorial limits of Pittsburgh, however, are assessed again by a city force.

Clairton, Duquesne and McKeesport also have their own assessors who place values on all real estate in the respective cities for their own city taxes. The county valuation is used as a basis for county taxes.

Figures obtained at the office of City Budget Controller Robert J. Alderdice show that in 1932 the city Department of Assessors spent $101,487.85, of which approximately $98,000 went for salaries. For the first nine months of 1933 the city assessing department cost $75,821.35.

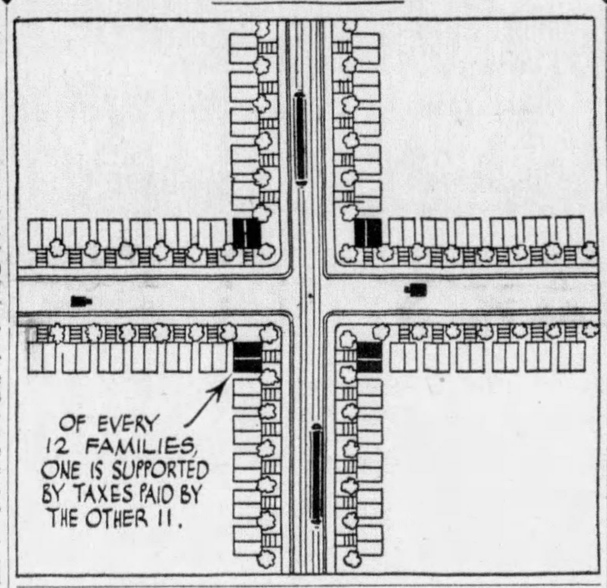
DUPLICATION FIGURES

Additional figures on this city duplication are presented by J. M. Williams, executive secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Branch of the National Economy League.

Mr. Williams said:

"For example it has cost the city during the last five years, approximately $601,101.87 to appraise the property within its borders. This means property is also appraised by the county. We see no logical reason for this duplication."

In addition to the city duplications, approximately $10,000 is spent in making assessments in Duquesne, Clairton and McKeesport, duplicating again the county work.



Two years ago the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, through its Community Research Bureau, requested the County Commissioners to do something to prevent duplications. In a letter to the Commissioners under the date of January 2, 1932, R. L. McKallip, bureau chairman, stated:

"We suggest that the assessments for the county within the city of Pittsburgh be eliminated and that the city assessments be used and that funds heretofore expended for this work be saved. If this is done the county will gain in taxable property (the city assessment being higher by $100,000,000 at the time of the writing) and should- eliminate the positions of 49 assessors who perform work already done by the city.

"While it is true that the assessors, totaling 154 — 49 of whom are allotted to city work —handle personal property as well as machinery equipment and occupation assessments, yet it is our opinion that the work of these assessors, or enumerators, in the city, can be done on a part-time basis by clerks already employed in this bureau at certain intervals during the year. We further feel that a serious study should be made of this question, which we feel will not only avoid duplication of work, but will cut down the tremendous cost of this bureau."

ONE BOARD ENOUGH

While the real estate board members believe that the county should eliminate a number of the assessor jobs, county officials believe that the city assessors are entirely unnecessary. No matter how it is done, one board is sufficient, this everyone agrees.

The letter to the Commissioners evidently fell on ready ears as at the last regular session of the Legislature, Commissioner-State Senator William D. Mansfield presented a bill which would have eliminated the city assessors in the third-class cities. In this bill, which was defeated, he advocated that all assessments be made by one county body.

Chief Assessor Thomas C. McMahon, of Pittsburgh, has 39 persons working under him. In McKeesport there are two assessors and Clairton and Duquesne have one each. Not only Commissioner Mansfield, but many other persons also have stated that these 44 jobs could be eliminated entirely with the county doing all the assessing. The boroughs and townships at present accept the county's valuation for setting their millage.

Harry Workmaster, member of the county board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, in charge of the assessors, states:

"Before I became a county employe I was of the opinion that one assessing body would be able to do the work efficiency. Since I have worked for the county my opinion has been strengthened. There is no reason why one board cannot make all property assessments.

143 ASSESSMENT CREWS

Under Workmaster there are at present 143 persons working entirely on assessments. In addition there are others engaged in the tax board office in clerical work and in handling the personal property statements. In addition to handling property assessments, the county goes a step farther than the city by assessing machinery and mineral rights. It cost the taxpayers $543,931.85 to operate the county tax board in 1932. Of this amount, $28,353.15 went for salaries.

In spite of the fact that the city and county forces both assess the same properties in the city, there is an enormous difference in their valuations. As pointed out in McKallip's letter to the commissioners, the county would gain considerable in property valuation by accepting the city assessor's figures for the properties in Pittsburgh.

Attorney Edward O. Tabor, recent candidate for City Council, makes the following statement concerning the duplication of assessments:

"There is no good reason why the city of Pittsburgh should have an expensive Board of Assessment for Pittsburgh property and why the county should maintain another set of assessors to assess the same property. The property has only one fair assessable value and when that value has been fixed by a fair and honest board it ought to be the assessment for the city and for the county and for the school district. Only one reason can justify the duplication and that is to have more people of political importance on the payroll who can assist the political machine on primary day. We shall never have decent and economical government as long as the prime purpose of the politician is to keep as many people as possible at the public trough."

(Sunday the Sun-Telegraph will present a similar article, this time showing how taxpayers' money is wasted in duplication of inspection of weights and measures in Pittsburgh.)

MAYOR INSISTS JOBHOLDERS BE USED

Treasurer's Request For Canvass Hits Executive Snag

City employes are going to aid in the collection of delinquent taxes—or Mayor William N. McNair will know the reason why.

The Mayor issued that edict as he disavowed responsibility for City Treasurer James P. Kirk's application for 50 Civil Works Administration workers to canvass the city for delinquent tax payments.

The application now is held up at CWA headquarters, awaiting a decision by Administrator James Lyall Stuart. The work may not be approved, as paid city workers already have canvassed all but three wards.

UP TO PAYROLL

But in any event, the CWA worker cannot lift the responsibility from the rank and file of the city payroll.

The Mayor declared he had nothing to do with the idea of a CWA canvass. He said:

"I am still waiting to hear from city employes on the matter. Some of them say it might embarrass them. Well, if they won't do it, we'll find somebody who will."

As that seemed to indicate wholesale dismissals, the Mayor was asked how long he would give the employes to make up their minds.

He replied:

"Well, we ought to know pretty soon now. I haven't heard a word yet."

M'NAIR'S PROPOSAL

McNair's idea was for city workers to go to delinquent taxpayers, tell them of the service the city is rendering, and persuade them to pay.

The employes paid by check were to ask taxpayers to cash the pay checks, and then use them as a credit against delinquent tax bills. Employes who showed the most energy along those lines were to be preferred as to promotion.

In this manner the Mayor hoped to make every city employe a tax collector and so increase revenues. He said:

"I'm keeping my eyes on pay warrants that come into the City Treasurer's office to see if they bear any indorsements by taxpayers using them to pay delinquent taxes. I haven't seen any yet."

SUGGESTIONS SOUGHT

Moritz said to a group of department and bureau heads:

"You don't like it much, do you? I didn't think you would."

And with that he called on the employes for suggestions and criticisms.

Director Leslie M. Johnston, of the Department of Public Works, and his chief engineer, Charles M. Reppert, suggested using CWA workers for the canvass, since employes did not relish the idea of being collectors.

Moritz concurred. A committee headed by Reppert worked out the CWA proposal and Kirk asked for the men. It was thought the application was made with Mayor McNair's consent and aid, and the payroll breathed a sigh of relief, but not for long.

Miss Doyle May Head Civil Service Board

Appointment of Attorney Julia Doyle as head of the Civil Service Commission of Pittsburgh was expected today by Mayor William N. McNair. The other two members of the board, Attorney B. B. McGinnis and Fred Miner, indicated a desire that Miss Doyle take the post. She is the first woman to be named to the commission.

Mayor Names New Information Clerk

Mayor McNair today appointed an information clerk, Edmund E. Kremer, 2117 Rose street, Fifth Ward. The Mayor said Kremer would spend part of his time in the City-County Building and part in the Mayor's office. William T. O'Shea, who had held this job, was dismissed 10 days ago.

Single Tax Talk At Club's Forum

The semi-monthly forum of the Hilary Club of Pittsburgh will be held at the Y. M. and W. H. A. Sunday, January 21. The single tax will be discussed by Attorney A. Morris Ginsburg.

'HARNESSED' RAYS TO DO WORK IN FUTURE

Scientist Here Paints Picture of Utopia

Locked from humanity by humanity itself, an era when men will work only between the ages of 25 and 45 and robots will accomplish a present week's work in a day at the pressure of a button was pictured by Dr. Luther S. H. Gable, who last night addressed the Academy of Arts and Sciences at Carnegie Lecture Hall.

Sufficient money for everyone and distribution of it by government agencies to guarantee food for the young, work for the country's youth and comfort for the aged, and complete eradication of noise are a few of the highspots of Dr. Gable's utopian picture.

HARNESSING RAYS

All of this, according to Dr. Gable, who formerly directed the department of radium and heliology at the Detroit Institute of Technology, will be due directly to "harnessing" of cosmic rays (the elusive flashes of energy of inter-stellar space) through the tireless study of stratospheric scientists.

Study has shown, Dr. Gable said, that there is a great store of potential electrical energy in the stratosphere, and while science is ready to open the doors of the new era, the picture will become a reality only when "a generation can be found without greed and can be trusted to live at peace with their neighbors." Dr. Gable said:

"The instruments in the hands of man today are the magic wand of the modern genii. They can promote health—or they can strike death—at will."

For, Dr. Gable explained, although the rays are potentially man's greatest friend in the realm of science, and many already have been isolated for use in the prevention and cure of human ailments, they can as readily be turned into the most vicious and destructive instruments of death. So powerful is the force that it can cut through mountains and wipe out entire cities.

SEES ELECTRIC ERA

Experiments to date have resulted in harnessing of force as high as 35-horse power from the air, ostensibly, with no further source of energy than the cosmic ray. The future, in the lecturer's opinion, will bring fast lightweight travel "bugs" powered from the stratosphere to replace the steam and its counterparts, and will make the present "look like the horse-and-buggy age."

In connnection with his lecture last night, entitled "The Mystery of the Cosmic Ray," Dr. Gable demonstrated various phenomena, including a "reproduction in miniature" of the northern lights.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan. 12.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

The Senate passed a bill that we only buy drinks from those who pay us. That had everybody rushing to the statistics to see how Scotland stood.

Will Rogers

I don't know what Finland's national drink is, but we better be getting used to it, for they are the only ones that have really paid in full. What ever it is, you can certainly run on it. I guess it's a "Nurmi punch."

Well, I bet this scheme goes just like all the rest have. They have tried everything in the world to bring France to time. France is a nation that don't shame easy.

Yours, WILL.

Sour Notes May Mar Harmony in Congress Chorus

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

First week of Congress found all the lads mooing in the affirmative like Mrs. Brown's cows.

However, some of the old dead-in-the-wool stalwarts are opposed to community choruses and mass harmony.

"We must have healthy opposition," said Senator Thumbsdown, "we must have healthy opposition. No matter whom it makes sick." . . .

Them's the Senator's words. And he sticks to them like a facial expression to a wax figure.

So, there is going to be opposition. From now on you can rely on Senator Thumbsdown's roaring negative on all questions, subjects and propositions.

He is for healthy opposition until the doctor arrives.

$50 in Prizes for News Tips

Are you alert? Do you wish to make your alertness pay? The Sun-Telegraph is presenting the opportunity. Every week it is offering a total of $50 in prizes for NEWS TIPS telephoned to the News Tip Editor, Grant 6500.

If you know of any accident, of a business merger, of a big building project—that is NEWS. Watch especially for unusual stories about children and animals and for stories that lend themselves to interesting pictures.

For the best exclusive news tip of the week $15.00 will be given, for the second best, $10.00, and for the next 25 best, $1.00 each.

JOBS APPROVED FOR 37,864 WORKERS

Civil Works projects now approved by the state administrator for Allegheny County have increased the total of sanctioned jobs to 37,864. Of this total, the proportion already on the payroll is to be announced tonight by the CWA controller here.

Time books from all parts of the county began to pour into the controller's office yesterday, and it is expected the complete list of workers to receive checks for the past week's work will be compiled tonight.

NEW WAREHOUSE

Among projects approved yesterday was one for the planning of a warehouse to contain the county's voting machines. It is said contemplated design will provide the warehouse with only one door, the lock of which could be worked only by three keys, to be distributed to the commissioners.

The largest project sanctioned was for North Braddock, calling for the employment of 226 men on the relaying of old brick on various streets. Grading of a school athletic field in Robinson township will employ 110, and improving of the water system in Sewickley will provide work for 109.

STATE BUREAU PLEASED

Satisfaction over the progress of the State-Federal Employment Bureau was expressed yesterday by Miss Charlotte E. Carr, secretary of the State Labor Board, on her return to Harrisburg after an inspection of the local office.

Miss Carr, according to an Associated Press dispatch, complimented the agency's officials, saying they were "meeting efficiently and swiftly the huge task of filling CWA jobs in Allegheny County." She added:

"Anyone who scans the record of the office carefully can find no basis for charges that political influence has figured in finding jobs for those who need them."

INTEREST RATE MAY BAR LOAN TO HOSPITAL

Immediate completion of the new Allegheny General Hospital today apparently hinged on the board of directors' acceptance of a difference of 1 per cent interest on a two million dollar loan announced by the Public Works Administration yesterday.

Under the terms cited by the board in its application for the loan last November, the rate of interest would be 4 per cent. Conditions of the loan as set by the administration require 5 per cent. The added interest will increase the hospital's anticipated expenditures $20,000 annually, acocrding to Dr. G. W. Zulauf, superintendent, who said:

"Personally, it seems to me to be an almost insurmountable obstacle."

OTHER CONDITIONS

Other conditions set forth by the board would give the hospital 30 years in which to pay the principal and would waive the amortization charge for a period of five years, Dr. Zulauf said. Addition of $20,000 annually would burden the institution considerably, he said, pointing out that income from patients provides about 50 per cent of the institution's income, the remainder accruing from subscriptions and state aid.

Completion of the project will provide a year's work for 370 men, it was said. Work will begin within 30 days of the board's approval, according to Dr. Zulauf, who said the hospital is about 75 per cent completed. In addition to completion and equipment of the hospital, the money would be used for completion of a power-house, now about 95 per cent finished.

BEGAN 4 YEARS AGO

Construction of the hospital began about four years ago, but due to lack of funds came to a forced stop in November, 1931. When finished it will accommodate 600 patients. The present building accommodates 400. The new property occupies a full square in the heart of the North Side at North avenue and Esplanade street, and represents an investment to date of more than six million dollars.

A meeting of the board of directors probably will be called within five days.

LABOR LEADER SAYS PINCHOT RUNS CWA

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—O. S. Lonsbery, chairman of Square-Deal-to-All Union, charges that Governor Pinchot is "building up a political machine by using CWA work as a basis."

Addressing a protest meeting of unemployed last night, Lonsbery asserted it has been impossible to get CWA work unless "Pinchot lieutenants passed favorably on the applications."

He said the Governor has been working through Gus M. Gleason, local Pinchot leader, and Paul Coveney, district highway superintendent, in awarding jobs, and added that David Jenkins, head of the Johnstown branch of the State Employment Bureau, "is not to blame, but must take his orders."

Few specific complaints were made at the meeting, attended by several hundred persons, although Lonsbery had promised "startling revelations."

The session was called by the union after it had been charged that unmarried men without dependents were given work while married men with families were not called; that political pull was responsible for certain persons getting supervisory positions, and that many registered for some time had not been employed while others were taken on after a brief registration period.

A report of the proceedings is to be made to CWA officials in Harrisburg by G. T. Morgan, district CWA engineer.

DOCTOR BURIED, SUSPECT MUM

READING, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Held in the Berks County Jail on a formal charge of murder, Miss Frances Sepse is quoted as saying "she believed she would never state the real reason" for the slaying of the socially prominent Dr. Paul R. Hess.

Police Commissioner J. S. Giles says that was the last thing the 27-year-old prisoner told him before her removal from the Reading jail to the county prison yesterday.

The transfer was made after police had fooled a large crowd waiting to see Miss Sepse. They rushed another woman from the jail and later spirited the alleged killer away.

Dr. Hess, whom Miss Sepse is accused of shooting down as she pursued him from his automobile to his office door Monday, was buried at Maxatawny after services in Kutztown, the home of his wife's parents. The Rev. Dr. Herman O. Miller described the 33-year-old physician as "a martyr to his profession."

Dr. Hess had treated Miss Sepse, but, according to police, had been forced to order her from his office last November.

BALDWIN ROW IN COURTS

Fifty-six citizens representing the township Taxpayers League filed a petition asking that four holdover members of the board be removed from office.

They are W. E. Armstrong, A. F. Dryer, John Murnberger and Alice Linnert, according to the petition. The citizens claim their actions make it impossible for the township to conduct business.

It is alleged that on January 1 the commissioners failed to organize, postponed the meeting to January 3. On that date the petition says, the four members left the meeting and that on January 8, 9, and 10 when other meetings were held, the four did not attend.

Other members of the township body are John McGinnes, Peter A. Kuenzig, Clarence Kirsch and John S. Wheaton, Judge Sylvester J. Snee fixed January 24 for the hearing.

AIMEE'S STORY TO BE SECRET

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—An attempt of lawyers for David Hutton to force his evangelist wife, Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, to appear in open court for her deposition in their marital litigation, failed yesterday. Superior Judge Frank C. Collier held the request unnecessary.

Attorneys representing both sides agreed to a postponement until January 29. At that time the blonde "Sister Aimee" will appear somewhere, the place not yet designated, and give her deposition.

Prince Mum, Heiress Talkative; To Meet In Orient

International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Steaming over the bounding main, two Japanese liners today carried Prince Alexis Mdivani, romantic Georgian, and his beauteous $40,000,000 bride, the former Barbara Hutton, to a rendezvous at Yokohama.

The Princess, Woolworth "5-and-10" heiress, sailed on the Japanese N. Y. K. liner Tatsuta Maru from San Francisco, while the Prince took passage on another ship of the same line from Vancouver.

The Yokohama reunion will end the first separation of the couple since their marriage eight months ago in Paris after a brief whirlwind courtship.

BANS INTERVIEWERS

The Prince, who rushed on board his ship and locked himself in his stateroom from interviewers, departed the $120,000 private car of his father-in-law, Franklin Hutton, of Reno, last Sunday, when he heard that at Sacramento, Cal., a process server awaited him with a subpena to appear at the trial of his brothers, David and Serge, in Los Angeles, where they are charged with oil frauds.

The Prince's departure was in marked contrast to that of his Princess, who entertained scores of friends in her palatial suite on the steamer and then, despite the admonition of her father, gave a last-minute interview to International News Service and heeded the importunities of photographers with a pretty smile.

PRINCESS TALKS

The Princess told of her love for travel, for San Francisco, for friends and her delight in music, the theater, books and art.

With a little laugh she recalled that she and her cousin, Jimmy, used to consider it a great treat to shop in the stores from which her fortune came. She said:

"And I still like it."

She also spiked the idea that she does all her shopping in Paris, saying:

"Not at all. I pick up pretty things to wear wherever I see them. Paris has no corner on styles or beauty in clothes."

She also said she likes to play the piano, although she's "not too good at it."

"Also I like friends. I have them every place and one of my delights of travel is to see my friends in various parts of the world."

Like any other girl, she concluded, she has always sought happiness. She said:

"And I am happy. I try to live simply, despite what the papers say."

Firm Here Awarded Reservoir Test Job

Contract was being awarded today to the Pennsylvania Drilling Company of Pittsburgh by the United States Engineers' office here for the drilling of test holes on the Tygart Valley reservoir project, near Grafton, W. Va.

The local firm's bid was 1255 holes through rock formation at $1.20 per foot and 500 holes through earth at 80 cents per foot. The Osborne Drilling Corporation, of New York City, was second lowest bidder.

1 DEAD, 3 HURT BY AUTOS

One man was killed and three other persons were injured in automobile accidents last night and early today.

Willis Halton, 30, 1014 Main street, Sharpsburg, died in St. Margaret's Hospital early today of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven, police said, by Dr. S. R. Perrin, Etna, in Sharpsburg last night.

A dairy truck, laden with milk and cream valued at $300, and an automobile crashed on Bigelow boulevard near Kirkpatrick street early today, resulting in injuries to both drivers—one a Squirrel Hill woman.

The truck, driven by W. A. Smeltzer, R. F. D. 1, Wilkinsburg, upset and was destroyed, according to his employers at Zeuger Milk Company, 3563 Bigelow boulevard. Smeltzer, pinned under the truck, was dragged from the wreckage and taken to Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Louise Johnson, 38, of 2104 Wightman street, operating the automobile, was in West Penn Hospital with lacerations. Reckless driving charges were filed against both.

Margaret Celesti, 7, 3633 Childs street, Oakland, received head lacerations when struck by an automobile near her home last night. She was taken to Montefiore Hospital by the driver, Paul Lautiero, also of Childs street, who told police she ran in front of his car.

Homestead High Gives 78 Diplomas

A class of 35 girls and 43 boys was graduated from Homestead High School at mid-year exercises last night.

The class was addressed by Dr. William Pearson Tolley, president of Allegheny College, who was introduced by the class president, Gaza Kotona. Diplomas were presented by Samuel C. Boot, president of the Homestead Board of Education.

CWA Man Saves Hibernating Groundhog

LANCASTER, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs has found the "guest of honor" for its annual banquet a month ahead of time.

The groundhog was dug out of the ground by CWA workers on a road project near Christiana.

Hensel, scouting reports of the uninitiated that the groundhog had "come out" ahead of schedule, praised the CWA man for saving the animal's life and promised him "special recognition" from the lodge.

CITY PREPARES TO END 'S.P.' CHARGE

Pittsburgh's suspicious person ordinance today appeared to be a dead issue.

The law, offering a sort of catch-all charge on which thousands of arrests have been made in the past by police for infractions of the law which might have been more definitely stated, seemed ready to pass into the discard by common consent yesterday after a meeting of police magistrates with representatives of the Civil Liberties Union in Mayor William N. McNair's office.

RESOLUTION READY

At the Mayor's conference were also William S. Doty, of the Allegheny County Bar Association; Attorney Ward Bonsall and Sidney A. Teller. These three, together with Magistrates Thomas D. Jones and Ralph E. Smith, were named as a committee to confer further with the Mayor and Director of Public Safety Harmar D. Denny, Jr., regarding the need for the law, passed in 1867.

Several of the magistrates pointed out that there are cases where the suspicious person ordinance is helpful to police in preventing a crime which is apparently about to be committed. Magistrate Jones asked if it would be all right to continue to use the ordinance while the committee is deliberating.

CHARGE ILLEGAL

Attorney Bonsall replied:

"Absolutely not. You have had full notice that the suspicious person charge is unconstitutional."

While the meeting was in session, it was addressed by Fred Carreno, who led a delegation to City Hall to protest the suspicious person law in general and the arrest on a disorderly conduct charge of Charles C. Constantine at a relief station at Locust and Van Braam streets yesterday.

Constantine, Pittsburgh head of the Veterans' Rank and File Committee, was to receive a hearing today in Center Avenue Police Court. He was the only man arrested in a group of 50 who went to the station to demand more relief.

Hoover Co-operates In Justice Reforms

PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Former President Herbert Hoover expressed interest in proposed criminal justice reforms here yesterday as he invited S. G. Tompkins, former Santa Clara County Bar Association president, to discuss the matter with him.

Tompkins, who has proposed several reforms in the campaign launched by civic leaders after the San Jose lynching of the kidnap-slayers of Brooke L. Hart, was invited to come to the Hoover home on Stanford University's campus for the discussion today.

34 Per Cent of Autos Examined Found O.K

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—More old automobiles may be on the highways than ever before, as car manufacturers point out, but the commonwealth knows that they are in better operating condition than a year ago.

More than 34 per cent of the machines examined so far in the 1934 compulsory inspection campaign have been approved without corrections.

During the opening week of the first campaign last year, 30.5 per cent of the vehicles were found to be in satisfactory condition.

AIR RACES WON BY DAVIS CLAN

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Two skillful pilots of the same name but not related—Douglas and Art Davis—have jumped into the lead as money winners in the all-American air meet here.

Top winners for the feature event of the meet opening yesterday went to Douglas Davis, of Hapeville, Ga., who won $200 for finishing first in a 15-mile race for planes of from 500 to 800-inch displacement.

Art Davis, the Lansing, Mich., pilot, finished second and won $165. He also was second in a bomb dropping contest, third in a dead stick landing event and fifth in a race for planes under 200-cubic inches

Harold Nauman, of Moline, Ill., won third money of $125 with one first place and a fourth, while Leonard J. Povey, of Schenectatdy, N. Y., won $100, by placing third.

Tactical maneuvers by service planes from Pensacola, Quantico and Selfridge, Langley and Barksdale fields featured the program today.

Missing Swissvale Girl in Harrisburg

Miss Mary Scott, 27, missing from her home, 79 Lloyd avenue, Swissvale, since Wednesday, was reported safe today in a Harrisburg hospital. Swissvale police had planned to drain Rock Bottom swimming pool, in Braddock Township, in a search for the body of Miss Scott, who is a former swimming champion.

Dravosburg School To Be Fumigated

The 425 pupils of the Dravosburg school will receive a vacation until Monday or Tuesday while their building is being fumigated. The students did not attend school yesterday after the board voted a vacation because two cases of scarlet fever and other contagious illness were brought to their attention Wednesday.

Gar Wood Unhurt As Plane Upsets

ALGONAC, Mich., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Gar Wood, speedboat pilot and holder of the Harmsworth trophy, escaped injury yesterday when his airplane nosed over while he was landing at the airport at Marysville, near here.

Wood was piloting the plane and was alone in the ship.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair
—With—
Patricia Pitt

Not only did the Snow Birds do all the intricate classical figures of ice skating last night at the opening session in Duquesne Garden, but the Kountz sons, William J. Kountz III, George McClellan Kountz, Jr., and Benjamin Harvey Kountz, and several of their friends interspersed their figure skating with jumps over red and white painted barrels and somersaults.

And after all these maneuvers, they landed miraculously on their skates and dashed off over the gleaming ice. Louise Reed is quite an artist at figure skating, too, and Mrs. George McClellan Kountz, chairman of this class of fashionable skaters, is good enough to be professional.

Mrs. Kountz Skates in Brief, Circular Skirt

For skating Mrs. Kountz chooses a ruby-red velvet circular skirt—very brief—with a red jacket to match and a red velvet beret. Several other skaters went in for brief circular skirts, too—the equivalent for shorts for tennis, perhaps.

Most of the skaters chose sweaters and wool skirts or wooly sports suits. Of course, colorful suede jackets and leather jackets were popular, and several wore short swagger fur coats.

Deb Maria Wilson chose a long, flared velvet skirt and a sweater with a turtle neck. Mary Harnies wore a black and white and green plaid blouse with her long green velvet skirt. She had an ascot scarf and a beret of the same velvet.

Wool Favored Material For Winter Activities

Mrs. Lewis A. Park wore a light brown wooly suit, Harriet Fickes, a tailored gray suit, Dorothy Clark, a dark green wool skirt with a brown suede, belted jacket.

Others I saw gliding over the ice were the B. F. Joneses, III, Mrs. James McKay, Mrs. W. McCook Reed, Elliott Coyle, Mrs. George McClellan Kountz, Jr., Matthew Taylor, Mary Gordon, Jane Sloan, Mary Kuhn, Dr. Peter Westervelt and ever so many more I can't recall at the moment. Among the spectators was Mrs. William J. Kountz III, the former Bobby Wilson.

Junior League to Aid With Presidential Dance

The Presidential ball, that mammoth dance to be given January 30 in the William Penn Hotel for the benefit of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, will have the aid not only of the older social set and of business leaders, but the Junior League as well.

Pittsburgh is one of the 5,000 comunities throughout the country which will give a ball the same night—the President's birthday—for the benefit of his favorite philanthropy.

Elizabeth S. Arbuthnot, who's general chairman of the ball, told the Junior League all about the plans for the event at the League's meeting this week. And the members agreed to give their co-operation.

Louise Totten was elected chairman of the Junior League group's part in the ball. The group will assist the various committees.

Phi Gamma Delta Pledge Class Dance Tonight

The Pledge Class of Pi Sigma Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity will give a dance tonight in the fraternity house from 10 to 2 o'clock. John McCune is chairman, and the chaperones will be Lieut. and Mrs. D. C. Tredennick, Dr. and Mrs. George McLaren and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McCandlis.

Miss Herring

Latovah Society to Give Dance Sunday Night

Joint Cabinet 'At Home' Jams Traffic

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The combined "at homes" of four cabinet women—a new social venture of the new deal—Wednesday made a traffic tie-up of which taximen will talk for weeks.

Old-time drivers said they'd never seen anything like it; added that they hoped if such joint entertaining were done again it wouldn't be at the rush hours of 4 to 6 p. m.

Mesdames Morgenthau, Ickes and Wallace, and Miss Frances Perkins received at the elite Sulgrave Club, exclusively a club for women, on DuPont Circle at Massachusetts avenue. It was Miss Perkins' first appearance on the social-hostess side of her cabinet position.

Gossipy Chat
By NANCY JANE

In the picture at the top of the page, you'll notice some interesting carvings—baskets of fruit and flowers.

They are wood-carvings done by Joseph Woodwell, grandfather of Pittsburgh artist, Mrs. J. D. Hallman. They're in the exhibit of the Junior League, now open to the public in the Junior League clubrooms.

Nearly all men, even the tallest and biggest and handsomest, are camera-shy. To get a man to pose for a picture is 50 times as difficult as it is to persuade a woman. One excuse for the men is that they're not so used to being photographed as the women. But they are skittish about it!

Sisters of Holy Ghost Benefit in West View

A card party for the benefit of the Sisters of the Holy Ghost will be held at Allen Place, West View, Thursday afternoon and evening, January 18.

Church Women's Guild Tea Tuesday

On Tuesday afternoon the Women's Guild of the Third United Presbyterian Church will have its January tea at the home of Mrs. John E. McCalmont, Marlborough avenue. Kay Dean, of radio station KDKA, will speak and Miss Dorothy Taylor, violinist, will present a short musical program.

Hostesses are Mrs. E. E. Meyer, Mrs. R. T. Hood, Mrs. W. T. McKnight, Mrs. F. C. Murdoch and Mrs. John Floyd.

Rat-a-tat-tat . . . tap dancers please note: We'd never thought much about it, to be exact . . . that tap dancers needed special shoes. But of course, once discovering it, we set out to locate the spot. And, would you believe it, our discovery is one of the VERY few places where you can get them in our fair town!

Black patent or white satin (tintable) and only priced $2.45. Don't forget this if you're one of our dancing ladies!

* * *

The horn of the hunter has sounded over the hill . . . and the pack is in full cry—over the new arrivals in patent leather bags, which one of the stores has just brought in!

We were there in full force when they popped out of their wrappings after coming down from the stockroom. And they're beauties. Novel new zipper effects—some of the bags with two zippers "zipping" away on them! And other styles with long handles of silvery mesh (just like a clothes line gone wrong . . . gayly so!) And some that are flat . . . some that are fat . . . some that are "middlin'." Red, white, black and yellow . . . and they're the same babies New York is yelping mansized yelps over right now! $3.25.

* * *

If all you little girls who love extremely sheer hose have been wishing that you could find some at a low price . . . without rings . . . and that are wearable for many a dance, hop on the trail of this 59c hose we've found.

Yes . . . we know we've talked this price before . . . but not about THESE HOSE! Because . . . they're sheerer than most . . . as sheer as a sigh on a Summer night (have YOU sighed lately?) And come in all shades . . . with stop-runs for garters at the top, and neat, but practical reinforcements in the foot. (Service weight, too, if you wish.)

* * *

Yo ho! (But NOT with a bottle of rum!) Sail Ho! . . . it's the name of the well-known book by Gordon Grant which came out before Christmas at $5 and now is GOING out at 95c!

Filled with his charming pen and ink sketches and bound in keeping with the subject matter—in oyster-white canvas sail cloth, with designs of a sail's "reefs" tucked in canny spots! Utterly charming . . . utterly desirable to own or give as a gift!

* * *

Oh would that life were but one mad whirl of dinners and dances! Because with dinner dresses priced at $5.95 these days, we could almost have one for every dinner! Lots of fun because . . .

There are black crepes—trimmed with velvet, satin, beads, and other smart gimcracks. And there are satins . . . and a few velvets . . . and all sorts of combinations of the various fabrics. Sizes are 11 to 20 . . . and if any little 11-er to 20-er needs a dinner frock now's the time to grasp $5.95 closely in your fist and amble down to this shop!

* * *

Just like the cat with canary feathers on its whiskers . . . that's how we are! For we've been poking, and peeking, and tasting until it's no wonder our "whiskers" have pastry flakes, and crumbs of icing in them! FOR . . .

If a shop WILL insist upon tempting us with specials like Maple Layer Cake with walnuts for 39c . . . what can they expect. Four lovely layers of golden cake basted 'round with goozly maple filling and crowned by maple walnut icing!

And nextly fresh strawberry tarts at 6 for 50c (and they're ALWAYS 10c each) And even the foreign-sounding Kipful Cresents with their almond paste filling—45c the dozen. With Horseshoees coming last . . . giving us the "raspberry" since their high-puff paste is filled with it! 50c the dozen (regularly 60c).

Feb. 5 Named For Clinic Benefit

Mrs. CHARLES M. BREGG

The six supporting organizations from Sheraden and the West End Literary Club are joining forces to hold the second annual benefit for the Samuel P. Langley Eye Clinic on Monday evening, February 5. The affair is to be a card and bingo party to which Sherodd Temple in its entirety will be given over.

Mrs. Alfred C. Ackenheil is general chairman, Bruce Cobaugh, of the Sheraden Board of Trade, heads the ticket committee; Mrs. Nelson Pierce, of the American Avenue Parent-Teacher Association, is prize chairman; Mrs. Eugene Morgret, representing the Senior Woman's Club, will have charge of the "500" and euchre room, and Mrs. E. L. Cady, of the Juniors, the contract and auction bridge room.

A committee under Mrs. Fred Melville, of the Harwood P. T. A., will look after candy; John Wilhelm, of Langley P. T. A., is chairman of bingo, and Mrs. Mollie Edwards, of the West End Literary Club, is chairman of hospitality.

The clinic was organized just a year ago to take care of the eyes of the needy children in the Twentieth and Twenty-eighth wards, care which they could not find in the over-crowded free clinics elsewhere.

The Board of Education provided a room in Langley High School and 14 civic organizations combined to support it. The clinic board of directors is composed of a representative of each supporting group with the addition of a well-known businessman from each district and a group of physicians who act as an advisory board. The clinic is open two afternoons each week during the school year.

To date 294 patients have received treatment and 268 have been provided with glasses.

Jewish Juniors Plan Dance in McKeesport

At the Penn-McKee Hotel on Thursday, February 1, McKeesport Section National Council of Jewish Juniors will have its annual ball. With Miss Ruth Sieff as general chairman, and Mrs. Freda Cowan Kimmelman as co-chairman, the other committees are headed by Miss Celia Reisberg, Miss Nathlyn Molans, and Miss Dorothy Zeiger.

Kindergarten Benefit Set for February 10

Saturday, February 10, has been chosen as the date for the annual benefit bridge held by the Pittsburgh Kindergarten Club. It's to take place in the William Penn Hotel and the proceeds will be used to provide food and clothing for needy children. Miss Elsie Metz is president of the organization.

A SPRING NEGLIGEE DE LUXE

By PRUNELLA WOOD

SPRING NEGLIGEES are coming to town, trailing all the luxury of tea gowns into the boudoir, and borrowing all the tints of early flowers to make themselves fresh and seductive.

Many of the handsomest models are made of one ravishing shade, in one material, unrelieved by any trimming that is not self-material. Huge sash bows are used for tie-around models in place of the trig little ribbons we have been used to, and the trains tacked on to some of them are brave enough to match any wedding gown model.

* * *

THERE IS SOMETHING new in negligees which combine themselves with pajamas in a deceitful manner. The idea is to have a coat negligee with decorative sleeves and bodice and trained in back and long enough in front to completely conceal tailored pajamas of a matching or contrasting shade beneath. Made of soft thin crepe in flower tones, or in darker tones for traveling, a complete leisure hour outfit is compressed into the one model.

Among the more frilly models, all-over lace in pale tints, white or ecru makes charming negligees. Some of them have ruffled edges and floating sleeves; others are cut on tailored lines and have a chiffon or mousseline inner coat which may be white or dyed to match the tone of the lace.

* * *

A NUMBER of the new designs combine supple satin with chiffon in bright contrast applied in shoulder wings that wander down the back to become sashes or part of the skirt train. Mauve on dusty pink, leaf green on primrose yellow, pink on pale blue or pale lavender, and yellow on dove gray are some of the prettier alliances.

White slipper satin formal but picturesque, makes this very elegant negligee with its long train and its bow-knots. But for the lack of sleeves it might pass for an evening wrap or a tea gown.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Wonder why the critics covering the "Follies" omitted the fact that at the premiere lusty bravos, cheers and whistling greeted Fannie Brice's fan dance laugh riot? . . . So seldom do you hear such a demonstration in the theater—it is big news, I think . . . As a matter of fact, not since Everett Marshall bowled them over with "That's Why Darkies Were Born" in the last "Scandals" have there been cheers and bravos . . . They tell me, too, that the young Britisher, Oliver Wakefield, who was scolded by the critics for prolonging his act, has shaved it considerably . . . And, as a result, is now among that show's laugh provokers . . . The critics then, it appears, do help . . . Also that Betzi Beaton from California is "getting over"—because she is now permitted to do the act for which she was engaged . . . I'm happy to know that . . . For when I first saw the talented girl in Los Angeles—I thought she had something, but when, at the opening, she was unappreciated, I was more puzzled than she must have been . . . If the old Roxy outfit meets "Roxy's" demand for 51 per cent, he'll return—I hear . . . That Roxy was considering it was long ago itemed here—for which I was lynched . . . I wondered what had become of Jack Osterman . . . Comes a note from him from Hollywood, where he says many of the players are heading for the last close-up.

A great injustice, it is now said, has been done to George Givot, the comedian . . . Through the "inadvertent" spreading of a story that his now famous Greek dialect stuff was taught him by another expert dialectician, "Patsy" Flick, of the "She Loves Him Not" opera . . . The story has appeared almost everywhere but here . . . The matter, I am informed, has been thoroughly investigated, and the claim has been made for Flick entirely without his sanction . . . So say Givot and his friends . . . Ten years ago, the story adds, before Givot and Flick knew each other, Givot was part of a trio, the others being Gosden and Correll, now known as Amos 'n' Andy . . . The trio employed negro and Greek dialects . . . Several years later Givot and Flick met and teamed and featured the Greek routine . . . And I am assured, if I publish this, that Flick does not and has never claimed originality of his friend's work . . . I am glad to help unravel the legend for them both—so many of us permit error to go unnoticed that in time it is accepted as fact . . . Take Dan Rose, another newcomer, who served as a target for jealous opponents, he says . . . Even a radio oracle a month ago had written that his wife demanded his assignment, which is how the canard spread. He explains he is understudy to the singer in the show, and long before he met his wife he rated as a radio star—but now his hecklers belittle him . . . And if columnists were as fair as the legend goes, they would not encourage the envious . . . The Theater Guild wishes it known that Helen Hayes is not going to have another baby . . . And would I please say so? Why? I don't recall reading it!

The most popular cop in the Central Park West sector appears to be "Charlie," who is adored by the tots who have to cross the "speedway" at 72nd . . . He has that human being manner about him—for a cop . . . The tiny ones are all given a salute by "Charlie," whose smile is contagious and whose courtesy is something to jot a note down about . . . He is affectionately addressed by his first name by all the children, who look upon him as their protector . . . "And don't you look nice today?" he says to them all. "And be sure and wear your rubbers, it may rain" He is so affable, none of the children forgets to pause and chat with him . . . One mother was so happy about "Charlie" she hoped he would rate "a nice write-up" . . . But, like a cub reporter, in her excitement she neglected to learn his full name or his shield number . . . At any rate, his name is Charlie and he is at 72nd St. and Central Park West, "and he is just as nice as the policeman at 65th St." . . The Times listing of the outstanding contributors to slang included Robert Benchley, who is amazed, too . . . The boast of "Machine Gun" Kelly may work out, after all—if he is sent to that prison isle. For it houses over 200 prisoners, and is guarded—by a few men. . . I like Jack Benny's quip—he says he has discovered a new blend — the Mae West—one drink—and you won't come up sometime . . . Jimmy Sisto's canarying on the radio rates big-time attention.

The secret service agent men will tell you that their greatest headache is Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt . . . They are supposed to guard her every minute, of course, but it is impossible for them to do so . . . She is always running off, they say, and she invariably argues that she is quite able to take care of herself . . . And she orders them to leave her alone . . . The agents know that if anything happens to her, they will be blamed, but what can they do? . . . Because I related it on the air doesn't mean I shouldn't give it wider circulation — for the hero of the story is someone to cheer about . . . He is Pilot Phil Sauve, of Canada. . . . Recently a prospector in Northern Ontario, far from civilization, was dying from eating frozen food . . . His pal snow-shoed his way in a 40-below-temperature, 12 miles, to a depot on the Canadian Pacific, where he told his troubles to the station agent, who wired his friend, Phil . . . That dawn Phil Sauve was in the skies over the ice and snow wilderness. He finally located the shack, bundled the dying man in furs after giving him first aid and had him back in the hospital at Chapleau in a jiffy . . . Men like Pilot Sauve consider it all a part of their day's work, but their deeds manage to tug at the heart and fill up the throat . . . Therefore, a dozen lusty cheers for Pilot Phil Sauve—an angel—with wings

Howard Stars On Fulton Screen

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Berkeley Square," photoplay feature on the screen of the Fulton, is an extremely well-done picture, based on the novel idea that incidents of life—your life, or your great-great grandfather's—are never erased from the scroll of time. Leslie Howard is its star, which is assurance enough for anybody as to the quality of its acting, especially for those who saw him in the same part in the stage play, which, incidentally, was one of his most successful roles in the legitimate theater.

Whether he is to repeat that success in the screen version depends upon the point of view—your point of view. This is one picture of which it will not do for the critic to say "it's not so hot," since YOU might see it, and think it is great. On the other hand, it is not one of which one can assuredly say "this is grand," for YOU might see it and entirely disagree with that estimate.

A PICTURE TO SEE

Yet it is a picture to see, if you are at all concerned in giving approval to things intended to lift the screen out of the rut of the ordinary, for the producer, Jesse L. Lasky, has made a noble effort to give the John L. Balderston fusion of ethereal transcendentalism, philosophy of relativity, and plain age-old romance a truthful exposition, and at the same time reserve the verities of the drama as such.

That sounds high-brow, but don't be frightened, it is possible for any person properly tuned to catch its feeling, no matter what the elevation of his brow may be. On the other hand the top-lofty one may escape its implications as easily as anybody else. It's all in the feeling. It's like the argument of Peter Standish in the picture. A man in the boat no longer sees the trees around the bend downstream, and can't see those around the bend upstream. But a man above, in a balloon, can see all the boatman has seen, now sees, and will see.

GETTING ABOVE IT

It is with all that argument that Peter is able to project himself backward 150 years, become engaged to the girl that the man he used to be was engaged to, and make love to an altogether different one, because she is the only one who understands him. And when he comes back to his own time, and station in life, and sweetheart, he finds himself in honor bound to preserve the love that might have been.

Howard, of course, is the same convincing artist he was in the stage part, and makes credible the incredible. Heather Angel is sweet and charming, with an extra-mundane quality, without suggesting the supernatural, as the young woman he loves, and who is attracted to him, while his fiancee is repelled by a seeming association with the powers of darkness that enables him to tell what the future has to offer. That, you see, is the penalty of going back 150 years, with full knowledge of what has happened up to date.

The play is directed by Josh Kane.

Belvedere Benefit Ball Set Monday

The annual charity ball for the benefit of the Belvedere General Hospital will be held in the urban room of the William Penn Hotel Monday night under auspices of the ladies' auxiliary. This committee is in charge: Miss Katherine Greco, Mrs. J. Cuda, Mrs. S. Sunseri, Miss Marie Iola, Mrs. G. Alvin and Miss Anna Ferrero.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Greta Garbo, who will come to the Nixon Monday night in "Queen Christina," in which she plays a historical figure of her own native land, Sweden, never has sought publicity, in fact shuns all reporters, interviewers and photographers, yet she is one of the most publicized women in the world. Whether it's a natural shyness, or a pose intended to attract more attention to her than a frank, friendly way would achieve, is as much of a mystery as the woman herself. Behind-the-scenes gossip reveals only that she is generally kind and considerate, and that she doesn't forget. John Gilbert helped to build her up. In recent years John had been slipping—poor pictures, unsuitable parts. He was reported ready to quit acting when Garbo returned from abroad. She didn't forget, and so Gilbert is the leading man in "Queen Christina," their first appearance together in years. After Monday "Queen Christina" will be shown twice daily.

The Guiding Hand

I SHOULD really turn this into a motion picture, but I have neither the time nor the inclination at the moment. More, it is my motto always to give the customers the very best regardless of any moneys involved. Can somebody please spare me a couple of bucks?

The yarn goes back a year or two, but you can take my word for the fact that it is as true as Columbia's victory over Stanford. Our two main characters are, as usual, a man and a woman. And, also as usual, we skip the actual names by calling them Mr. Smith and Miss Jones.

Mr. Smith is one of the most famous men in these United States. He is the owner of a vast commercial enterprise, and he has more dough than you or I ever dare dream about. He has been married twice, but neither event lasted for too long a time.

Miss Jones came as close to being the great love of his life as it was possible to get. She met him when he was married to his first wife, and she fell in love with him. They became sweethearts — and the affair lasted clear through the rest of his first marriage and the run of his second.

In other words, without benefit of clergy, as the saying goes, these two were rather happy mortals. Miss Jones never interfered with the man's home life, and he in turn was a generous and loving provider.

Thus we have the situation when Mr. Smith's divorce from his second wife was about to become a part of the records. We find him and Miss Jones as they sit in her apartment and discuss the situation. He is frank, and smiling, and honest. With fifty millions, I might be the same way.

"Honey," he said, "you want to marry me, don't you?"

"More than anything else in the world," she replied quietly.

"You've been grander to me," he observed, "than any other person in my entire life. We've been together almost seven years, and I'm going to try to make it 70. As soon as the divorce comes through, we'll be married in Paris." . . .

So, a few weeks later everything was set. His divorce had been granted—and they were to sail for France together on the Ile de France. There, in a small town, they would be secretly married. And from then on—nothing but moonlight and roses.

At the appointed hour, Miss Jones boarded the Ile de France. But, strangely enough, she didn't see Mr. Smith. His de luxe suite was there, but he wasn't. And some three hours after the boat sailed, she received a radio from him.

He had been detained, he explained, by a tremendous business deal. He couldn't possibly have left that day, but he was following almost immediately. She was to proceed to Paris and wait him there.

Which she did. Several days passed, and she received another cable from him. She was to go to a small town in Switzerland at once. When he arrived, he would join her without delay. And they would be married in that particular little spot.

If she thought the procedure a little strange, Miss Jones said nothing about it. She followed instructions implicitly. This man loved her and she loved him.

Miss Jones arrived in the little Swiss town, and registered in the very excellent hotel that was the most important spot in it. She hadn't been there two hours when she met a woman who was destined to change her entire life. The woman was a mind reader, with deep and burning eyes.

This woman fascinated Miss Jones. After dinner, she took the American girl aside and talked to her for almost two hours. And the more she talked, the more amazed Mr. Smith's sweetheart became.

The mind reader told Miss Jones the most extraordinary things about herself. She examined her palms, gazed deeply into her eyes—and told her facts that Miss Jones believed no one else had ever known.

"You mean nothing to me, my dear," explained the mind reader, "but I like you—I like your eyes. I am telling you these things because I am gifted with supernatural powers, and because I want you to be happy. And I am telling just one more fact.

"You think you are going to marry someone from the States. You are not; at least, not now. You will shortly meet a Polish gentleman who is immensely wealthy. You will marry him within three days. And four days after your marriage, he will fall dead. He will leave you everything.

"Mark my words well. They will come true" . . .

Miss Jones, of course, was keenly interested. Wouldn't you have been? And when, just two days later, a Polish nobleman registered in the hotel, her heart bounced off to Buffalo. He was a handsome gent with a gleam in his eyes. Did you ever see a gleam walking? Ah, 'tis lovely!

Everything in the mind reader's prophecy had come true. Every single word! And when the nobleman asked her to marry him just three days after, she accepted him at once. After all, he would be dead within a week. And surely Mr. Smith wouldn't mind if she came to him with a title, and a fortune of her own.

And that's all there is to the story, my friends, with just one or two minor additions. First and foremost is the fact that, after her marriage, Miss Jones never saw Mr. Smith again. The reason for that was that the mind reader fell down on her prophecy. The Polish nobleman did not die within four days.

He is living on a large sum of money advanced to him by Mr. Smith. For the entire thing was a plant on Mr. Smith's part to get rid of Miss Jones. The mind reader was a complete plant—and the "Polish nobleman" was an expert Paris gigolo!" . . .

Screen Bills Change

Eddie Cantor, supported by Ruth Etting, Gloria Stuart and Vera Teasdale, is starred in "Roman Scandals," musical comedy, now playing in the Penn. Eddie is seen as a slave in ancient Rome, where he gets into loads of trouble.

* * *

"Counsellor-at-Law," with John Barrymore, Doris Kenyon and Bebe Daniels in principal roles, is the new Stanley screen feature. The story revolves about a lawyer and the drama and comedy developed in the flow of clients through his office.

* * *

"Man's Castle," with Spencer Tracy and Loretta Young in the lead roles, now in the Warner, is a story of a shantytown man who takes pity on a girl, shelters her and eventually marries her.

* * *

Katharine Hepburn is the star in "Little Women," showing now in the Davis and Sheridan Square. Joan Bennett, Frances Dee and Jean Parker are the other "little women."

* * *

"Meet the Baron," with Jack Pearl and Jimmy Durante, will come to the Enright screen tomorrow.

* * *

Will Rogers has the principal role in "Mr. Skitch," photoplay opening tomorrow in the Family.

Lloyd Is Learning Chinese For His Next Film

By HARRISON CARROLL

In his toughest assignment since the coming of the talkies, Harold Lloyd is spending two hours a day studying the singsong Chinese language so he can master 10 pages of speeches in his new picture. The star will play the son of a missionary to China, and one of the comedy devices of the film will be to have him break into native dialogue from time to time.

Mr. Lloyd

As pronunciation must be perfect, Harold has engaged James B. Leong, Oriental actor, to coach him in the difficult delivery of the Cantonese dialect. Leong played a heavy in the comedian's earlier picture, "Welcome Danger," and probably will combine acting with his teaching duties in "The Cat's-Paw."

Lloyd will go into rehearsals about the 25th, with no definite date set for actual camera work.

Poor Rudy Vallee! Fay Webb's sensational suit was filed on the day the crooner's fraternity was giving a dinner in his honor. The trial, scheduled for the 19th, also may conflict with the time he is supposed to return east for his restaurant and broadcasting engagements.

Another echo of the suit was heard when the studio sought to take gallery pictures of the star and of Alice Faye. The two have many scenes together in the film and, following the ordinary course of promotion, Fox wanted to take closeup still pictures of them.

Her car bogging down in the Carmel Hills, Ann Harding had to walk five miles last week-end in the driving rain. As a result she is having a recurrence of that old trouble with her ankles and must wear them bandaged for some time.

Miss Harding

The RKO star and a woman friend, Holly Smith, sing the praises of a farmer, who took them in, fed them, gave them dry clothing and took a team of horses out to get the car. Although he didn't know the identity of his guests, the farmer refused to accept any payment for his services.

Due to the exposure suffered on her long hike, Ann is laid up at home in bed.

Every dollar young Richard Ralston Arlen earns in his film debut will go to an orphans' home that is a favorite charity with the Tolucca Lake film colony. Jobyna Ralston and Dixie Lee became interested in the institution some time ago, and have persuaded all their friends to contribute. Even W. C. Fields has succumbed.

The sum from the Arlen baby will be a considerable one, as he gets a salary of $25 an hour for working with his father and with Sally Eilers in "The Baby in the Ice Box."

MAIN COURSES SHOULDN'T BE NEGLECTED

Desserts and side dishes do much towards a meal's success, but after all it's the main course, Prudence Penny has learned, about which the rest of the meal revolves. Too many housewives are apt to forget the importance of their meats while worrying about the garnishes.

Nor should they, in giving variety to their main course, make the mistake of going to extremes. A sensible and appetizing variation for lamb is given by today's first prize winner, Mrs. W. D. James, in her recipe for Crown of Lamb.

Your family, though, may prefer a fish dinner. If they do, you'll want to use Mrs. Ben Shapiro's Gefillte Fish. Another good suggestion in today's list is stuffed eggplants as prepared by Mrs. Flossie Axel. These are only a few of the many fine suggestions you can find daily in Prudence Penny's column.

Send in your prize recipes so they, too, may appear in the prize list to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. One $5 award, ten $1 ones are made daily. No recipes received will be returned.

Five Dollar Prize Winner

MRS. W. D. JAMES,
241 Hiland avenue, Ben Avon.
CROWN OF LAMB

Select parts from two loins of lamb containing ribs. Have butcher scrape flesh from bone between ribs, as far as lean meat, and trim off back bone. Shape each piece in a semi-circle, having ribs outside. Have butcher fasten pieces together to form a crown. Wrap each bone in a thin strip of fat salt pork to prevent bone from burning. Then cover with buttered bread. Roast for one and one-quarter hours. When roast is half-done remove paper and fill center with stuffing; or after roast is done fill with a puree of chestnuts.

STUFFING

Chop one onion fine and brown lightly in salad oil. Add one cup chopped carrots, one cup chopped celery and three sprigs of parsley. Stir into one cup boiled rice. Add two teaspoons salt, one teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon paprika, and one-fourth teaspoon cloves. Cook one minute. Add one cup crushed pineapple, drained, one-half cup raisins, and two cups bread crumbs. Brown.

Ten $1 Prize Winners

MRS. FRED J. REIBEL,
161 S. Euclid avenue, Bellevue.
ENTREE A LA MADALEINE

One cup tomato juice.
Five small beaten eggs.
One-half cup milk.
One teaspoon chopped parsley.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.
Dash red pepper.
Salt to taste.
One teaspoon onion juice.
Put in greased individual ramikins. Set the pan in hot water. Cook in oven 20 minutes. Serve with cream dressing.

MRS. JOHN REBER,
23 Dewey avenue, Ingram.
PAIN PERDU (LOST BREAD)

Two cups milk.
One-fourth cup sugar.
Two eggs.
Bread.
Bread crumbs.
Lemon peel or orange-flower water.
Slice the bread, cut the crust off and cut the slice round or in strips. Put the sugar in the milk, add a little scraped lemon peel or orange flower water and a pinch of salt. Let the milk boil a few minutes. Dip the pieces in the milk. Squeeze gently to keep from being too moist and dip them into the eggs, which must be waiting, well beaten. Then dip in buttered bread crumbs. Drop into piping hot grease. Fry and sprinkle with sugar.

TOM KETTER,
709 Rectenwald street
NUT CARAMEL FUDGE

Three cups light brown sugar.
One tablespoon butter.
One cup milk.
One cup English walnuts or pecans.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Cook sugar, butter, and milk until syrup threads. Take from fire; add flavoring, nuts, and beat. Pour into buttered pan, cool, and cut into squares. One cup of grated cocoanut used instead of the nuts supply a delicious change.

MRS. BEN SHAPIRO,
5531 Forbes street,
GEFILLTE FISH

Three pounds yellow pike.
Skin and remove meat from bones. Chop with two large onions about 20 minutes, using a little cold water until about one wine glass of water has been used, season well with salt and pepper. Beat in two raw eggs, add about two tablespoons fine bread crumbs. Chop well and form into about five balls. Place in pan of cold water into which has been added one large onion, cut one carrot, celery, parsley, salt and pepper. Cover and bring to a boil, then simmer slowly for about two and one-half hours.

MRS. FLOSSIE AXEL,
Smithton,
STUFFED EGGPLANT.

One small eggplant.
One pound ground pork.
One-half cup grated cheese.
One small onion.
Two cups bread crumbs.
Two eggs.
Several sprigs of parsley.
Slice the eggplant and boil for a few minutes in salt water until tender. Mix pork, cheese, minced parsley, onion cut fine, breadcrumbs and eggs together. Take the sliced eggplant, placing enough of the mixture between two slices as if making a sandwich. Place in a pan, pouring over all tomato sauce and bake in a moderate oven one hour.
To make the sauce, fry a small onion in butter until brown. Add to this one can of tomatoes and ½ can tomato paste. Cook slowly until thickened a little, about 1 hour.

MISS MILDRED TURCIC
38 Freeport street, Etna
CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

Two and a half squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces.
Two tablespoons tapioca.
One cup milk, scalded.
Two tablespoons butter.
One-third cup sugar.
Three egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored.
Three egg whites, stiffly beaten.
Add chocolate and tapioca to milk, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add butter and remove from fire. Combine sugar and egg yolks. Add tapioca mixture slowly, stirring vigorously. Cool. Fold in egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 50 to 60 minutes, or until souffle is firm. Serves eight.

M. LOUISE TAYLOR,
5609 Howe street.
BAKED STUFFED ONIONS

Six onions (large).
One-half cup stale bread crumbs.
Salt and pepper.
Two tablespoons cream or melted butter.
One-half cup chopped nuts, cheese, mushrooms, cold meat or leftover fish, or three tablespoons peanut butter.
Par boil onions 30 minutes in boiling salted water. Turn upside down to cool and then remove part of the centers. Mix onion that is taken out with crumbs, nuts and seasoning and moisten with the cream or melted butter. Place in greased shallow pan, sprinkle with crumbs and bake in moderate oven until soft. Serve very hot with cream mushroom sauce.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

Three tablespoons butter.
Three tablespoons flour.
One-half cup milk.
One-half cup sliced mushroom caps.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
Salt and pepper.
Melt butter, add mushrooms and cook two minutes, stirring constantly. Stir in the flour, then milk. Cook until thickened and smooth. Add lemon juice, salt and pepper.

MRS. M. J. LIGHTFOOT,
APPLE ROLL

Four medium sized apples.
One pint water.
One and one-half cups sugar.
Select apples that will cook quickly, pare, core and chop fine. Put sugar and water in baking pan over slow fire. When syrup is cooking slowly, make up a rich biscuit dough. Roll out about one-half inch thick, spread with chopped apples and roll into a long roll, cut into pieces about one and one-half inches long, place with cut side down in hot syrup, put small piece of shortening on top and sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Bake in hot oven until rolls are baked and the crust a golden brown. Turn out on platter and pour syrup around them. May be served plain or topped with whipped cream.

RI[illegible]
[illegible] cups flour
[illegible] teaspoon salt
[illegible] teaspoons baking powder
[illegible] tablespoons sugar
[illegible] teaspoons shortening
[illegible] cup milk
flour, salt, sugar and baking powder together. Cut in shortening, add milk to make a soft dough; roll out lightly and use as directed above.

MRS. WILLIAM WATSON
R. D. 1, East Millsboro.
CHICKEN SOUP SALAD

1 can of chicken soup.
1 cup of water.
1 cup of shredded carrots.
½ cup of diced celery.
2 tablespoons of pimento.
1 tablespoon of gelatin.
2 tablespoons of cold water.
Cayenne.
Combine soup and one cup water. Heat to boiling. Season with cayenne. Add gelatin which has been dissolved in cold water. Chill. Add carrots, celery and pimento. Pour into wet mold. Chill. Serve with mayonnaise.

LIZZIE BARR,
7714 Tuscarora street.
DELICIOUS CORN BREAD

Combine one pint of corn meal, 1 pint of flour, ½ cup shortening (half butter and same of lard), 2 eggs, 3 heaping teaspoons of baking powder and cold water or sweet milk enough to make it very thin, just so it will drop nicely from the spoon. Bake it thin, so it will not be more than 1½ inches thick when done. Sour milk can be used in place of sweet milk with water, and soda in place of baking powder, but only one large teaspoonful of soda should be used, just enough to make your milk foam nicely. This is nice baked in gem pans for breakfast.

MASTER BILLY FAULK AT WORK IN HIS MOTHER'S KITCHEN

Turns Out Cakes, Cream Puffs for Junior Patrol

A fluffy devil's food cake with smooth lucious icing stood on display in a neighborhood store window in Bellevue last summer—and gazing at it a small boy awakened to ambition.

He went home, delved into the secrets of his mother's kitchen, and, unaided, made his first cake—as lucious looking as the one in the window.

Now, after only a few months' experiment in the culinary art, 10-year-old Billy Faulk, of 609 Bellevue terrace, is amazingly accurate and successful. Repeatedly he has delighted his parents with an unexpected cake or other baked desert. He mixes his ingredients with a masterly hand and never fails. None of these nightmarish, languid looking things for Billy!

Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Faulk, and is in grade 5-A at the Quaill Avenue School, Ross Township.

Currier, Painter, Ends Life in Garage

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Walter B. Currier, 45, known on the Pacific Coast as a painter of desert and marine scenes, ended his life yesterday, police said, by inhaling carbon monoxide gas fumes in his locked garage.

A stepdaughter, Mrs. Marchall Hickson, told authorities he had been despondent over his health and the continued invalidism of his wife, Mrs. Pauline Currier.

WHAT TO COOK; RECIPES FOR DOING IT

IF ADVERTISING slogans entered the kitchen to inspire the cook and stimulate the business of cookery, some bright body would be sure to think up: "Mix Up a Muffin That Melts in Your Mouth." For piping hot muffins, redolent with that sweet oven fragrance, studded with fruit, and soothed with a chunk of golden butter applied with an eager knife are among the better things of life.

Muffins may "make" the meal, however meager the menu. The plainest dinner takes on an air if muffins are served; for breakfast they are the main attraction and a mere bowl of soup or a simple salad is enough for luncheon if date muffins accompany it.

Mixing muffins is one of the simpler household procedures. You must measure carefully the first few times, but after that the eye and the hand will fall naturally into the routine.

The first thing to do is to have one good and reliable recipe which may be varied as your fancy dictates. Possibly the most popular muffins are the date variety, for they are more tender and moist and tend to keep longer and this healthful fruit is especially valuable for lending interest to the bran and "health type" muffins. Muffins may be mixed and the mixture kept covered until baking time, or they may be re-heated after baking in a paper bag which has been sprinkled with water.

125 Professors Have Faith In Students

BOULDER, Col., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—More than 125 professors willing to take a "sporting chance"—they will be paid by students who attend summer school—have been found by the University of Colorado.

Dean Milo G. Derman said most of the professors regard it as a "good gamble."

In explaining his "Sporting chance" proposal, the dean said it had been decided that income from tuition must pay all overhead expenses and salaries of professors at the next summer school. If there is insufficient income there will be no pay.

'MUNCHAUSENS' GET BREAK

A contest for them will be held Monday night at the Lincoln Park fire house, Verona boulevard, by the Lincoln Park Athletic Club. Rose Klingensmith is chairman of the affair.

And those persons telling the most far-fetched tales are to be rewarded, according to Klingensmith. The winners will be given "surprise" prizes.

Topping the night's fun will be an entertainment. Edward Mills is head of this part of the program.

Burgess Waits Rule In Sewickley 'War'

Hostilities in Sewickley borough's battle over selection of a police chief was at a temporary standstill today as Burgess Paul Ingram awaited an opinion from the borough solicitor as to whether he can keep on suspending Police Chief Roy Barclay.

Today's score was even, Ingram having twice suspended Barclay, council reinstating him both times.

GIRL PREACHER ARRIVES HERE

Mary Louise Paige, 15, who quit public school when she was in the fourth grade to "answer the call of God," was here today to preach salvation to this "sin rife" city.

The youthful evangelist who will conduct meetings during the next three weeks in the Pentecostal Tabernacle, 52 Chatham street, says that God has deserted Aimee Semple McPherson because she has permitted "worldly things to enter her life."

Mary Louise believes "dancing, smoking, theater and movie-going" and most other pleasures of girls of her age to be "sinful," but asserts she is "gloriously happy" in her quiet life.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

crackers, ⅓ cup butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ pound cheese, 2 cups sliced apples, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg.

Roll the crackers fine and mix with softened butter and 1 tablespoon sugar. Press mixture firmly against sides and bottom of buttered pie plate. Peel and slice apples and mix with ¾ cup sugar, cinnamon and cheese (cut in small pieces). Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) until apples are tender. 6 portions.

* * *

FRUIT BREAD—2 cups whole-wheat flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, ⅓ teaspoon soda, ⅔ cup dark syrup, ⅔ cup hot water, 1 cup white flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ package pasteurized dates, ¼ cup sour milk, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Mix dry ingredients; add sliced dates. Mix syrup, milk, water and butter. Combine mixtures, beating well. Bake in oiled loaf pan or 12-ounce baking powder tins in moderate oven (325 degrees) for one hour or longer. Recipe makes 1 large or 4 small loaves.

* * *

NEW FRUIT JAM—⅓ pound dried apricots, 4 cups cold water, 1 cup sugar, 1 package pasteurized dates, ½ cup walnuts, juice of 1 lemon.

Wash the apricotes, cover with 2 cups of cold water, let soak over night. Add the dates (pitted) and 2 cups water. Cook until the fruit is very soft. Add the sugar and lemon juice, and simmer over low heat to the consistency of jam. Add chopped nuts and cook for 5 minutes. Store in sterilied jelly glasses. Cover with hot paraffin when cold. Fills 2 half pint jars.

* * *

CHILI LOAF—1 cup canned peas, 12 soda crackers (crumbled), ¾ cup hot water, 1 small onion, minced, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1 tablespoon parsley, chopped, 1 large slice ham, raw, 1 teaspoon mustard, ¼ cup vinegar.

Combine all ingredients except butter. Shape into a loaf and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 1 hour. Serve with tomato sauce. Six portions.

* * *

MOCK TURTLE OF BEEF—2 flank steaks, 1 cup cooked prunes, 1 cup ground meat, ½ cup bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 pork sausages, stuffing, summer savory or sage, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon onion juice.

Cut the flank steak oval in shape to represent turtle. Combine the ingredients for the filling and place on top of one steak so that it will raise the top steak and give it the curved appearance of a turtle. The top flank is scored to represent the shell. The legs are made from split sausages and the tail and head flank steak trimmings. Suet may be used for making eyes. Bake in oven one and one-half hours, and when serving, garnish with water cress. —Submitted by Mrs. Ida Costello, Aurelia street.

* * *

Cut steak in small pieces and roll in seasoned flour. Fry brown. Remove from pan and add one tablespoon of flour to the fat. Brown and pour in juice from tomatoes. Add a slice of onion, slice of carrot and a bit of mace. Return the meat and simmer, or put in casserole for one-half hour. Before serving, season the sauce with salt and paprika.—Submitted by Mrs. P. J. Coulter, Woodside road.

BAKED HALIBUT—1 pound halibut, 1 cup canned tomatoes, ½ cup water, small piece onion, sprig parsley, 3 cloves, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, salt and pepper.

Clean fish, dry thoroughly and put in a baking pan. Mix tomatoes, water, onion, parsley, cloves and sugar and cook 10 minutes. Melt butter, add flour and gradually add the hot tomato mixture. Add salt and pepper to taste, cook five minutes and strain. Pour half of the sauce on the fish and bake in a moderate oven until the fish separates from the bone, basting occasionally. Serve on hot platter, pouring the rest of the sauce around it. Garnish with parsley. Time in cooking, 50 minutes.—Submitted by Mrs. H. S. Hehmann, Edith street.

BUTTERSCOTCH PECAN ROLLS—1 ounce of yeast, 1 cup milk, scalded and cooled; 4¾ cups flour, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup pecans, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup butter, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 6 tablespoons of butter for bottom of pan, 2 cups brown sugar.

Dissolve yeast in milk, add sugar, beaten eggs, salt and flour to milk. Mix well. Add softened butter and mix. Knead well until smooth. Let rise until double, about 1½ hours. Roll out and cover with two tablespoons butter, ½ cup brown sugar and cinnamon. Roll like a jelly roll and cut in one-inch pieces. Place butter, sugar and pecans in bottom of pan and lay rolls cut side down in mixture. Allow to rise about 25 or 30 minutes and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes and turn out upside down.

Same Nutritive Elements Found in All Oranges

Tangerine, King Orange, Mandarin, Kumquat, Satsuma And Tangelo Contain Vitamin C and Other Nutritive Elements Found in the Orange, Lemon and Grapefruit; Their Use in Diet Prevents Scurvy

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND,
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

I am glad to say that citrus fruits have become a staple article of diet. They are now included in the daily diet of the infant as well as the adult. Their attractive color and agreeable and distinctive flavor have made them a popular food.

The commonly used citrus fruits are the orange, grapefruit and lemon. Yet there are several species, known as the "fancy fruits" of the orange, which are little used. I refer to the tangerine, the king orange, the mandarin, the kumquat, the satsuma and the tangelo.

The tangerine is one species of the mandarin orange. It is round and somewhat flat in shape. It has a dark orange skin which is easily removed, and for this reason is called the "kid-glove orange." It has a mild sweet pulp which has a pleasing taste.

The mandarin orange is small and has a sweet and tasty ring. This makes it different from other citrus fruits. The rind of most citrus fruits is sour and not edible.

The king orange, also known as the King of Siam, is a medium or large-sized orange. It has a rough, knotty skin. Its pulp is sweet and juicy. Some consider it the most delicious of all oranges.

SWEATING PROCESS

The satsuma is a small-sized orange. It is interesting to note that this fruit is sweetest while it is green. Because of the suspicion that most individuals hold concerning green fruits, the satsuma is put through a sweating process which prematurely changes its color to orange. The sweet flavor of the fruit is not destroyed by this treatment.

The kumquat, or cumquat, is a tiny orange originally grown in China. It is becoming increasingly popular in this country. The fruit may be oblong or round in shap, and is about the size of a plum. It is sweet and aromatic. The plant grows to a height of 10 or 15 feet. The fruit is bright golden yellow and grows in clusters.

PREVENTS SCURVY

At first the kumquat plant and fruit were used only for ornamentation. Today the delicious flavor and wholesome value of the fruit are recognized. It is excellent candied or preserved whole. It is used in salads, jellies and marmalades. In China and Japan at state dinners dwarfed kumquat plants are placed before the guests so that they may pick their own fruit.

The tangelo is a new citrus fruit which is cultivated in several forms. It may have a thick or thin skin. It is produced by crossing the grapefruit and the tangerine. It has a tart yet sweetish flavor. It is the size of a large orange.

All these fruits contain the same nutritive elements found in the orange, lemon and grapefruit. They are valuable sources of vitamin C. This vitamin is essential to the maintenance of good health. A disease called scurvy results when there is a lack of it in the diet. Scurvy is characterized by soreness of the joints and a tendency to bleeding of the gums and softness of the teeth and bones. This condition is found in individuals who include little or no fresh fruits in their diets.

Return of Liquor Brings New Problem to Mothers

How about this new "legal drinking" business—and the youngsters?

Suppose you had two or three young people in your home, just at the curious age, keen to sample everything new—

Which do you think would be best for them—to "keep temptation away from them"—forbid them to taste old demon rum—or let 'em have it?

That's the argument that's raging just now in Missis Gordon's bailiwick. Papa's strong for—

But we'll let Mom, herself, tell it. Then you tell us.

My Dear Miss Robinson:

I want to ask you, and other mothers and fathers, a very serious question—a question that has me stumped.

It is the question of liquor—and youngsters. We have three, a boy 14, a girl 16 and another boy not quite 18. My husband and I very, very seldom drink. We never have had liquor in the house since prohibition went into effect. We have tried to teach our youngsters to keep the law, and I at least have always felt that it was wrong to have any liquor at all around them.

YOUNGSTERS CURIOUS

But now here is this business of repeal. It is no longer unlawful to have and drink the stuff. Everywhere you see shop windows full of it, and hear people talking about it—arguing the merits of cocktails, and wine, and what have you.

And our youngsters are just at the age when they are keen to try everything. They're curious about everything. They want to be smart and do what the others do. So now several times the question has arisen whether or not we should have a few cocktails or a little wine.

I have always thought that it was the height of criminal foolishness to have any alcoholic drinks in a house where there are children.

I always reasoned "Why put temptation in their way?" During prohibition it was easy to refuse to have it. All you had to do was to make an issue of being law-abiding. But I no longer have that handy excuse, so now the two older ones are making it pretty plain that they think their father should stock up.

WON FATHER'S APPROVAL

And he is agreeing with them. He says that it is foolish to take the attitude that I do; that they will be able to get it anywhere they go, anyway, and that the thing to do is to have it around and "teach them to use it sanely and sensibly."

He claims that if youngsters are "taught to drink moderately and sensibly," they won't drink too much when they're grown up and on their own.

I don't know what to do. It is the first time that my husband and I have ever differed on an important question like this, and I am afraid, deadly afraid, of giving the youngsters a cocktail or wine in their own home, as he wants to do.

I think the proper way is to keep temptation away from them. Please help me. I'd like to hear from other mothers on this question, too. I admit I can't seem to cope with it.

MARY GORDON.

Do I sympathize with that mother? I certainly do. For I, too, was brought up in a prohibitionist home at a time when nice people "didn't have liquor in the house." Liquor there was in the land—aplenty. A saloon on every corner; often solid blocks of saloons. But public opinion still made drinking too for youngsters, even in the wild and woolly West.

Yet, even then, there were plenty of nice people of another nationality, who did have liquor in the home—and who taught their children "even to drink and when to leave it alone." Every Latin home had wine on the sideboard; yet our Italian, French and Spanish neighbors were sober, law-abiding folk.

So there were two ways of looking at things, even in the old wet days. And now?

TEMPTATION ALL AROUND

Now we have a condition we never had to fight in those days. For the challenge of prohibition broke down that public opinion which kept liquor out of "respectable American homes," and the mother of 1934 is facing a problem which never bothered the mother of 1904. Naturally, she wants to "keep temptation away from her children."

But can you keep temptation away, Mary? I'm afraid the answer is—you can't. Temptation is all around us now. Much as you strive, you can't shield your youngsters from it.

So perhaps dad has the right idea—the idea which generations of Latin fathers and mothers had—teach the children in the home how to face that temptation; how to control the danger of intemperance.

And don't have fanatical ideas about "any alcohol." One sip of alcohol never made a drunkard of anyone. As a matter of fact, your children consume many sips of alcohol with their regular food. The danger of liquor lies not in the bottle, but in the person that uses that bottle.

That's my honest answer to a problem which is facing every worried mother today. But maybe you don't agree with it. If so, let's have your side.

By FAY KING

An author preparing a book of history or biography counts himself fortunate if he may yet talk with elders who remember the event or person.

Every life is as in[illegible] as any book. Those who have lived long have seen and thought much.

The aged dear one at our fireside is a link with the past, and has a fund of memories.

Talk and listen to him, or to her. In years to come this first hand information of family history will be precious to you.

When grandmother or s gone, youth heartily regrets it did not listen when thouls were in a mood for talking of the past.

The time will come w want youth to listen to our memories.

Dealing With 'Bad' Habits

Enuresis, or bed wetting, as it is more commonly called, is a problem that taxes and bewilders the young mother. No one will deny that once this bad habit is overcome the health of the child is benefited and the work of the mother lessened. "How can this habit be overcome?" This is a question frequently asked in my daily mail.

Dr. Copeland

This is a habit and not a disease. Yet it is essential that the child be completely examined so that organic defects may be corrected. Anemia, malnutrition, extreme nervousness, highly acid urine, inflammation of the bladder or other disturbance of the kidney or bladder, must not be overlooked as possible causes of the symptom.

If your child has been recently examined by a physician and the urine analyzed and no abnormalities found, you may assume that the trouble is strictly a habit. Do not scold your child or shame him. Bear in mind that once the habit is acquired it is difficult to break it.

A good plan is to offer rewards for dry nights. The child will become interested and make an effort to co-operate. Many mothers have had amazing success with their children by keeping a calendar with red stars for dry nights. On wet nights the child receives no star, but is not punished or scolded.

The child should be taught complete control of the function by the age of two and one-half years. Some children quickly acquire the correct habit while others are slow.

As night comes on it is best to limit the fluids except milk. The evening meal should be a light one. Never give coffee, tea, salt, pepper, sweets and condiments, at this time. Strenuous and exciting play should be avoided at bedtime.

Before retiring the bladder should be completely emptied. It is advisable to give the child attention at 10 p. m., and again in the very early morning. At no time should the child be allowed to sleep in a wet diaper.

Some authorities claim that a good plan is to discard the diaper much earlier than is usually done. They believe that the warm, thick garment contributes to the bad habit.

Bear in mind that you are dealing with a habit that requires time and patience to overcome. With proper care, correct diet and every effort made to overcome the trouble, the child will soon become normal.

Answers to Health Queries

M. A. Q.—What can I do to increase blood supply? What foods contain iron?

A.—Drink good, rich milk, eat liver, fresh green vegetables, etc. Spinach is especially rich in iron salts. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

K. K. B. Q.—What should a boy 16 years 11 months, 5 feet 7 inches tall weigh, also a boy 17, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and a boy 17, 6 feet tall?

A.—They should weigh, respectively, about 135, 147 and 156 pounds. This is about the average weight for people of this age and height, as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

A Reader. Q.—What do you advise for falling hair?

A.—Brush the hair daily and use a good tonic. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

Hints for the Behold

Scraps of soap, dried in a cool oven, can be grated to make a good soap powder for washing up purposes.

You need never again wonder what to do with those used razor blades, for a new kitchen knife has solved the problem. The blades are fitted into the knife and used until they are no longer sharp. The knife is ideal for peeling, cutting and coring, sharper than the average kitchen knife.

If suet is shredded immediately it is bought, and coated with flour, it will keep fresh some days and also save time when making puddings, etc.

Have you ever tried canning green peas in a jar or cassa? Put two pounds of shelled peas into a jar with two ounces of butter, a teaspoon sugar, salt and a piece of mint. Stand the jar in a saucepan of boiling water and boil for half an hour or until the peas are tender.

"Pot" cheese is excellent in salads, and can be used for stuffing tomatoes or cucumber basins. Or it can be served with fruit current compote or bramble jelly. Put the sour milk into a bag and leave in a warm place until it is quite thick, then stir in salt, allowing half a teaspoon to a pint of milk. Stir well, and place in a piece of muslin or a well-washed flour bag. Hang this up to drain. Leave it for a few hours, then press between plates and mix with a little cream.

Contract Bridge :-: HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

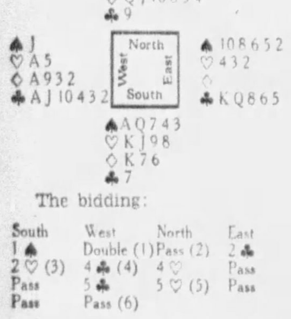
A Distributional Storm

Distribution hovers over every hand at Bridge, and frequently either makes or breaks a contract. Sometimes through favorable distribution even a Slam can be made with not more than half the honor-tricks in the deck. Other times hands that with a favorable break would produce game go down three, four, five or six tricks.

At a popular club in New York, one of the forms of entertainment provided for the members is what is known as a Rubber Bridge Tournament, in which the players gather with their chosen partners and play the game exactly as Rubber Bridge, part of the stake going to the players at the table, and the balance going to a pool for the eventual winners. As this has none of the bookkeeping of Duplicate play, it is very popular with many of the club members.

One of the hands dealt in a recent tournament of this type was the following. It occurred between the finalists and shows the tremendous losses that may be incurred on seemingly strong hands:

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Double (1)	Pass (2)	2 ♣
2 ♡ (3)	4 ♣ (4)	4 ♡	Pass
Pass	5 ♣	5 ♡ (5)	Pass
Pass	Pass (6)

1—While the hand is not prepared for a heart response, this is probably a good attacking measure under the circumstances.

2—In my judgment, North should bid two diamonds. He cannot fear a heart bid by East, and a bid of two diamonds might shut out the anticipated bid.

3—A doubtful bid, particularly in view of the fact that partner has passed.

4—A rather strong bid when partner's response has been a bare minimum.

5—North is now in a difficult situation because of the pass over the Takeout Double. It is entirely conceivable that East and West might make five clubs, but it might be dangerous now to show the diamonds.

6—West should double.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Both sides vulnerable. The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	Double	Pass	?

You, West, hold:

♠ 1 7 5 ♡ Q 10 5 4 3 ◇ K 10 7 6 ♣ 5

What do you bid?

Answer: Two diamonds. Although there is a certain amount of temptation to pass for a penalty, this course should not be considered. Defending against one heart, West is absolutely sure of only one trump trick and cannot really hope to take more than two. East, the Takeout Doubler, may be void of hearts or his Double may be predicated on a long, near-solid spade suit. If East bids two spades over two diamonds, West will be more than glad to raise to that suit. One notrump would be a bad response for two reasons: obviously the singleton club is a distinct detriment and in addition there is no reason why West should tip off the opponents to his heart strength because they may conceivably bid more in that suit and then he will be more than glad to double for penalties.

Fashion Flashes

By ALICE ALDEN

There is art in handling color, as shown in many of the new frocks. On a lovely, sheath-like evening dress of heavy satin in green with a blackish cast there are two panel trains in lipstick red. The neckline in front is high and a brief cape in back covers part of the deep decolletage.

Stay at home and wear a lovely house-coat, the newest thing in lounging wear. A new model is of yellow moire with burnt orange facings. It buttons snugly just to the side of the waistline with three large buttons, has long, tight sleeves, and a cowl neckline in back.

Noel Reveals That He Wrote Love Poems to Avis

Noel did not immediately answer my startled question, "What is it, boy?" His face was set as if some sudden terrifying thought had banished from it every emotion save terror. But his tortured eyes were alive with appeal to me, though I knew that he was unconscious of such supplication.

I waited for several seconds, then went up to him and put my hand upon his arm compellingly.

"Is there any way I can help you, Noel?" I asked. "Please tell me what is troubling you."

He started almost as if I had struck him, then his head jerked upward, and his shoulders squared into an attitude which spelled defiance of whatever sinister thing was troubling him.

"I am ashamed to tell you," he said, "not because of anything wrong that I have done, or any real unfaith to Mary, but because I have been such an unmitigated fool. It is too much to hope you will believe me when I say that until this minute I had forgotten everything about it."

NOEL EXCITED

If there had not been so vital a thing at stake. I could have smiled at his really ludicrous incoherence. But I kept my face and voice sympathetic as I answered him.

"I never have known you to deceive anyone, Noel," I said emphatically. "I am sure you are not going to begin with me. Now, I have no wish to force my aid upon you, or to ask any confidence from you, but—"

"Oh, I want to tell you!" he burst out. "I must get help somewhere, and you are the wisest, sanest person I know. But I'm afraid even you can't help much in this. You know how proud Mary is. If she ever sees those things I wrote, with the interpretation that I see now that girl could put upon them—"

"Noel!" I interrupted sharply, with my mental thermometer rushing madly downward toward the zero mark. "Do you mean that Avis Arlen has love letters from you that she can show to Mary?"

I had spoken in cautious, low tones, but the boy jumped as if I had shouted at the door to the hall.

"Mary cannot possibly hear us," I told him, "but you have said too much—or too little—not to answer me. Did you write love letters to Avis, and has she them now in her possession?"

"No, no," he said vehemently, but keeping his voice to the low pitch of mine. "Not love letters. I never spoke a word of love to her in my life."

My long breath of relief came from my toes.

"Then what?" I began.

"I'm afraid Mary would think they were worse than letters," he said shamefacedly, "although they didn't mean a thing but a foolish wager and a mental exercise when I wrote then."

I took him by the coat lapels and shook him.

"Noel Veritzen," I said exasperatedly, "will you tell me what in the name of the three-toed sloth you did write?"

WROTE POETRY

"I wrote poems," he said. And I sat down quickly in the nearest chair, fighting the impulse to shriek, with laughter or futile anger. I did not know which.

"Poems! Noel!" I gasped at last. "What do you mean? You wrote poems to Avis?"

"It was for a joke, and on a bet," he said. "You know how fond she is of poetry."

I firmly fought back the impulse to shake him soundly. Was he still gullible enough to believe that Mary would call "that foxy spiel" Avis was handing out?

"My dear boy," I said, "don't tell me that you haven't seen through that pretense yet."

"Why, what do you mean?" he stammered.

"Exactly this." I bent toward him, emphasizing my words with a didactic forefinger. "Avis Arlen cares no more for poetry, understands it no better than I do machinery of any kind, and further than that ignorance and indifference cannot go."

"But she said she loved poetry above all other writing," he said, still with the air of a bewildered child.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Quiet Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—I am to be married in a few weeks and owing to a recent death in my immediate family, the wedding is to be a quiet one. We are to be married at the preacher's home with only a maid of honor and best man attending. Since the wedding is to be a very quiet one and there is to be no reception for our friends after the ceremony, the question of sending out wedding announcements arose. Is it proper to send out these announcements before or after the wedding takes place, or would it be better form in this particular instance to forego sending announcements altogether?

2—It is our intention to have a bridal supper for the bridal party and parents of the bride and groom. It is my opinion that the expenses are taken care of by the bride's parents. Am I correct in this thought. L.

1—By all means if you can, do send out marriage announcements. As a matter of fact, they are especially appropriate for just such a wedding, and they are thoroughly correct. But they must be mailed AFTER the ceremony has been performed. Have them all ready . . . engraved, addressed, stamped . . . and let it be someone's duty to mail them after the ceremony. Then your relatives and friends in town will receive them the morning following the ceremony.

2—Yes, you are right. The bride's parents plan and pay for the reception or dinner or supper after the ceremony.

Thanks from Sick Room

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been very ill for nearly two long months, and although I am still bedfast, I would like to send a letter of thanks and appreciation to my Chapter and Council for the beautiful flowers, cards and calls, both personal and on the telephone, that I have received. Please tell me how to write such a letter of thanks. READER.

Such a letter of thanks might read something like this:

Dear Mrs. Allen:

Please let me thank you, and through you the other members of our Chapter and Council, for your great kindness to me during my illness. I wish I could tell you what happiness your thoughtfulness of me, your generosity, meant to me in those days when I was so ill. When the beautiful flowers arrived in my room it seemed as if the sun had come out, taking away all of the shadows. Your goodness and your flowers were a deep comfort to me, and I appreciate your graciousness deeply and most sincerely.

I hope that I am to have the joy of seeing you all very soon.

All friendly wishes to you, and dearest greetings.

Faithfully,

Know Your Child's Mind

By LISA GRENELLE

"A man is what he thinks about all day long;" so is a child. Do you know what your child is thinking? Have you the least idea how life is impressing him? What his reactions are to you and the family? Do you encourage him to say what he thinks?

Probably not. It takes a courageous and patient mother to encourage frankness in her child. Because what little Willie has to say will not always be pretty; it will not always be flattering; it will certainly not always be what is expected—and it will often be laughable.

Nevertheless, it will be good for him to say it and instructive for you to listen. Not that even the good trait of frankness and truthfulness may be practiced at all times, even by a child. It is not only unpleasant but unnecessary for little Willie to remark upon the largeness of grandfather's nose at the dinner table. He must be taught tact and restraint. But be careful how you rebuke his frank statements to you, no matter how foolish, shocking or even disrespectful they may seem.

For you can't stop even your own child's thinking. You can't alter those thoughts unless you know what they are, unless you know the child's mental trend and have gained his respect and confidence. Then and only then can you change his thinking.

It is well known that "talking something out" relieves the pressure. Not only that, it clarifies the thought itself and makes decisions easier. There is nothing that so helps the normal mental growth of a child as having someone he can talk to freely—someone he can trust.

Little Mary suggests, after having her own faults gone over by mother, that she in turn go over mother's. To this, if she's not uncommonly wise, mother refuses to listen, thinking it hardly Mary's place at her age to criticize mother. Possibly, but the result is that mother remains and is likely to continue to remain in entire ignorance of Mary's opinion of her, which may or may not preserve her pedestal, but certainly does not encourage an intimate relationship.

Freddie, voicing his admiration for some inferior type of actress at the age of 10, is quickly sat upon by mother for his bad taste. Whereupon Freddie goes on admiring the actress more than ever, but no longer speaks his opinion, having learned the bad lesson that it is better not to tell mother his feeling for other ladies.

It is such a mother who remains in ignorance of Freddie's subsequent crushes, finally to find herself confronted with a marriage as surprising as it is distasteful. If she had but listened with respect to his first protestations, she would have retained his confidence and might have been able to steer him off future mistakes.

CUTWORK PATTERN 567

Cutwork Makes Choice Linens

As every housewife longs to own cutwork linens, here is the needlewoman's opportunity to make a variety of lovely pieces. As each motif is simple and quick to do, a collection of things can be made in a short time. Cutwork embroidery, one of the loveliest types of decorations for linens, is easy to do. It is just buttonhole and eyelet stitch. It has a richness and beauty in its simple design that gives the needlewoman as much joy in possessing it as in making it.

Pattern 567 contains a transfer pattern and four motifs five inches square for a bridge cloth; four motifs 1¼ inches high for napkins; two motifs 2½x9 inches for towels and lingerie case, with a back edge for two towels given; two butterflies 4 inches square and one butterfly and one reverse 3½ inches square for pillows, lingerie cases and pincushions; illustrated directions for doing cutwork and suggestions for placing the motifs, and yardages for a variety of articles that can be made of this pattern.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

The occurrence of fatigue during exercise is a signal that resting time has come. Overexercise is a strain on the heart, should be avoided even by the young fry.

There's no reason why the heavyweight shouldn't reduce tonnage and measurements, but there is every reason why she should go at the matter sensibly. If she will eat plenty of fruits, green vegetables and green salads, some lean meat, and slow up on sweets, starches and fats that create adipose cells, she can drop off a pound a week. That's fast enough. Rapid reducing means loss of energy, danger to health. And it is the best known way of acquiring wrinkles and taking on other evidences of age.

SUN-YAT-SEN'S WIDOW SCORES 'DEATH FAST'

SHANGHAI, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Charges that authorities at Nanking are "deliberately murdering" Mr. and Mrs. Paul Noulens, hunger-strikers, by refusing to grant their request for a retrial, were hurled today by Madame Sun-Yat-Sen.

The widow of China's first president, close to the case from the outset, has been asked by Noulens to care for his small son in the event of his death.

The charges were contained in telegrams to Nationalist government chieftains at Nanking through which Mme. Sun-Yat-Sen hoped to gain reconsideration of the case before it is too late.

Prison authorities have declined to allow visitors to see the couple, in a strange "fast to death" in Nanking prison in protest against denial of their repeated requests for a new trial.

The Noulens were sentenced to death in 1932 on conviction of being ringleaders in a Communist plot, but the sentence later was commuted to life imprisonment.

After unsuccessful attempts to gain a retrial, they began refusing food. Noulens is in the twenty-fourth day of his hunger strike; his wife in her sixteenth.

Doctors said yesterday that Noulens might not be able to live more than a day or two.

Dubbed "the couple without a country," they went under several aliases. Five passports were found in their possession.

One of the charges lodged against them at the time of their arrest was that they had brought $30,000 in Chinese money monthly from Moscow for Chinese Communists.

BRITISH NAVAL SHIP ON ROCKS

PORTSMOUTH, England, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The British battleship Nelson, 33,500-ton flagship of Admiral Sir William Boyle, commander-in-chief of the home fleet, went aground today at the entrance to the harbor.

She appeared likely to remain there for some hours.

The Nelson was leaving with more than 1,000 officers and men to join other units of the fleet on a cruise to the West Indies.

The Nelson, "wonder ship" of the British navy and largest vessel ever to pass through the Panama Canal, is reputedly almost unsinkable and has been described as the "oddest and ugliest battleship ever built, except her sister ship the Rodn ."

Mauretania Docking Delayed by Storm

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Jan. 12.—(INS.)—The White Star liner Mauretania was unable to land at Plymouth today, as a severe gale, already 24 hours old, continued to lash the southwestern British coast line. The liner continued toward Southampton to land the passengers.

The gale also raged over the English Channel, badly crippling shipping of all sorts.

Gunman Holds Up Two Policemen

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—(INS.)—A gunman today held up two policemen, robbed one of his pistol and club, and then forced the other to drive him from Charlestown to North End.

A few hours later police arrested Salvatore Burone, 20, taking him from his bed. Under the bed, police said, they found the policeman's gun and another weapon which they said was used by the bandit. Burone confessed to holding up the policemen, authorities said.

HERE'S NEW HEALTH FOR YOUR LIVER

Now banish bad breath, pimples, constipation; feel like a million!

That tired, frowsy feeling in the morning, that "dark-brown" taste in the mouth—if you would banish them and win back buoyant health, don't expect relief from salts, mineral oil, or candy and chewing-gum laxatives.

For such remedies only move the bowels. While chances are, you're one of the thousands suffering from sluggish liver which does not yield sufficient bile—causing pimples, blemishes, headaches, bad breath and a general run-down feeling.

What you need is something which acts thoroughly but harmlessly upon the liver. And in Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets you will find that "something," which stimulates the bile flow.

A successful substitute for calomel, these famous tablets are compounded of pure vegetable ingredients, and have been praised for years by millions.

To get and keep the bile flowing freely—correcting constipation, skin troubles, and win back that "fine-and-dandy" feeling of youth—go to your druggist for Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets today. 15c, 30c, 60c.

MOB BEATS MAN ON GIRL'S STORY

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Henry Artope, 33, a Negro porter, was rescued by three policemen from an infuriated West Side mob last night after Margie Durkin, a 17-year-old school girl, said the Negro chased her into a hallway.

Two men seized Artope in the hallway, but the Negro escaped, only to be caught by a crowd of about 50 persons.

Shouts of "kill him" and "lynch him" brought the patrolmen, who rescued the Negro after he had been kicked and punched. Before they reached the station house the police said the crowd following had increased to nearly 500. Artope was convicted on a charge of disorderly conduct and paroled in the custody of his attorney pending an investigation.

Champagne Given Princess' Baby Every Day

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Champagne as a part of baby's diet is recommended by Princess De Polignac, of Paris.

The princess, who is vacationing here, said her 2-year-old daughter, Diane, was baptized in the beverage and it has been a standard item on her diet for many months.

The princess said the two or three teaspoonsful Diane gets at meal times were largely responsible for the child's "perfect health."

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 12.—When an Arizona sun floods his room with too bright a glare, William H. Woodin, resigned Secretary of the Treasury, can shut his eyes and go a-dreaming back to the gay throngs that swirled along Broadway on the "first nights" of many of the last decade's "hits."

For Norma Terris, beautiful and talented actress of the Great White Way, each day is entertaining the financier, Mrs. Woodin and their coterie of friends at the sanatorium where he is confined with a throat ailment.

Miss Terris, who was the original "Magnolia" of Ziegfeld's "Showboat" and starred in many of his other productions, was asked by the Woodins to spend several weeks here while Woodin is recovering from an attack which has kept him in bed for the last three weeks.

Woodin is reported by his physicians to be improving. They plan, however, to keep him quiet for another month.

COLDS Go Overnight

When You Take The Right Thing!

A cold doesn't have to run its course and expose you to serious complications. A cold can be routed overnight if you go about it the right way. First of all, a cold being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. Secondly, a cold calls for a COLD remedy and not for a "cure-all."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and beware of dealers who offer substitutes.

Playing Pilots In Lead.
O'Farrell Becomes Ninth.
Many Card-Red Deals.
Basketball High Spot.
Tube City Ring Revival.
Miss Kight Loses Mark.

The appointment of Bob O'Farrell as manager of the Reds, a step that has been generally expected for weeks, put playing managers in the majority in the major leagues, with five in the National and four in the American for a total of nine out of 16. And only a few years ago the playing pilot was thought to have passed on for good. Of the active performers now heading clubs, O'Farrell, Jimmy Wilson and Mickey Cochrane are catchers, and Bill Terry, Frankie Frisch, Charley Grimm, Joe Cronin, Rogers Hornsby and Lew Fonseca are infielders. Nine of the entire field of 16 managers came from the infield, five from the catching department, one was a pitcher and one was an outfielder. This is not O'Farrell's first managerial job. He was pilot of the Cards in 1927 after winning the National League's most valuable player award in 1926.

Larry MacPhail

That Larry MacPhail, the new Red operator, went to the Cardinals to get a manager, and admits he was influenced in the selection partly by the recommendation of Branch Rickey, draws attention again to the strangely numerous transfers of players between the Cincinnati and St. Louis clubs. In three years the Cards have turned over to the Reds, Chick Hafey, Jim Bottomley, Paul Derringer, Sparky Adams, Andy High, Gordon Slade, Taylor Douthit, Allyn Stout, and now O'Farrell and Sylvester Johnson, with Dazzy Vance reported likely to follow.

THIRTY MEN EXCHANGED IN THREE YEARS

On the other hand, the Reds have sent to St. Louis during the same period, Leo Durocher, Owen Carroll, Estel Crabtree, Horace Ford, Benny Frey, Harvey Hendrick, Walter Roettger, John Ogden and Glenn Spencer, and have shipped to Cardinal farms Lance Richbourg, Gene Moore, Walter Gilbert, Al Eckert, Dale Mills, Dutch Henry, Harlan Wysong, Ed Meyers, Norbert Kleinke and Johnny Rigzo, giving 11 players for Bottomley. Frey, Hendrick and Roettger, the last named now a Pirate, were shunted from one club to the other and back again more than once.

That list shows a total of 30 players exchanged by the Cards and Reds since 1931, and the coming in of MacPhail, who formerly worked for Sam Breadon and Rickey as president of the Columbus farm, appears not to have made the relations between the Cincinnati and St. Louis clubs any less friendly. A polite inquiry into the state of affairs may be considered in order one of these days by other major league men who are anxious to keep the big loops free from any suspicion of syndicate ball.

PITT AND DUKES IN FEATURE FLOOR GAME

The feature number of the local basketball season so far goes on the boards at the Stadium tonight, when Pitt and Duquesne tangle in the first round of the annual three-cornered series for the city championship. The Dukes have held the title for two years, and there are one or two things in basketball that might be easier than taking it away from them. With 20 straight victories to their credit, and 235 points rolled up in five games in the present campaign for an average of 1.17 per minute, they may not be easily stopped in their drive to keep up the record which shows they have taken three in a row from Pitt and three out of four from Carnegie Tech since being admitted to major competition here, all seven games having been played on the enemy's courts.

Dr. H. C. Carlson

Pitt's chances are better than they looked a few weeks ago. First Charley Hughes loomed as the sparkplug the Panthers needed, and in the latest game his brother, Skippy, contributed the extra fire required to put the team in its right stride. No doubt, Dr. Carlson will have his machine in high gear tonight, for this is the game he'd like to win above all others. But neither is Chick Davies ever

RESULT LAST NIGHT

By CARL W. SHATTO

Buffalo's untamed Redskins, who defeated the Yellow Jackets, 12-10, at Buffalo Sunday night, after having been beaten in two hectic battles here, renew their North American Professional Lacrosse Association warfare with Coach Suds Sutherland's stalwarts at Motor Square Garden at 8:30 tonight.

The Redskins helped put on the roughest show of the season here December 19, when in a battle punctuated by 12 fist fights, they lost, 17-10. Their joust with the Jackets here last Saturday, when they collapsed near the finish to be snowed under by 15-5, easily was the fastest and best of the campaign.

SILK TO MAKE DEBUT

The Jackets appeared much the worse for wear as, playing their fifth game in seven days, they were handed their second defeat in as many starts by the Milwaukee Brewers here Tuesday. To bolster his tired defense and add new life to his team's attack, Coach Sutherland has brought in Ty Silk, an accomplished performer from Brampton, Ontario. Silk, whose specialty is defense and who is renowned for his great speed, will make his debut tonight.

Sutherland made a valiant effort to escort Bucko MacDonald across the border, along with Silk, but the Buffalo club of the International Hockey League, with which he is playing at Fort Erie, Ontario, refused to relinquish his services. Manager Larry Welch today said that he proposed to pay Buffalo a cash consideration for Bucko's release.

OUT TO EVEN SERIES

The Indians, beaten in Chicago last night, aim to even their season series with the locals by winning tonight's fray. The Jackets meet the Milwaukee Brewers here tomorrow. The probable lineup:

PITTSBURGH.		BUFFALO
1 Cordick	G	Little Elk 16
2 F. Langevin	D	Deer Foot 15
3 N. Langevin	D	Big Jack 1
10 LaFrance	C	Longboat 7

Solem to Remain As Iowa Mentor

IOWA CITY, Ia., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The confusion regarding Ossie Solem's football contract at the University of Iowa apparently has been ended with an announcement by Solem that he is completely satisfied and has no intention of leaving Iowa. The Hawkeye football mentor and Dr. E. H. Lauer, athletic director, were reported to have reached a complete understanding in a conference yesterday.

CRABTREE FARMED

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Estel Crabtree, outfielder, who was obtained from the Cincinnati Reds in the Jim Bottomley trade, has been released outright to the Rochester club of the International League, Branch Rickey, Cardinal vice president announced yesterday.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE CHAMPION "COUNTERFEITER"—There is an odd trade of which George V. DeRabin is a prominent member—that of imitating signatures. He makes his living by imitating other people's signatures on "personal" letters. He signs huge quantities of form letters for prominent people who are too busy to do it themselves. To date has signed more than 10,000,000 signatures, his flexible hand easily being adjusted to the multitudes of different types of handwriting. Sometimes on rush jobs DeRabin has worked days and days without stopping, never leaving his office at the Hooven Company, 352 Fourth avenue, New York. His "Book of Imitation Signatures" is a curiosity by itself.

Willigs Continue In Unbeaten Class

The W. S. Willigs have added another game to their undefeated record in the Allegheny County Basketball League. Last night, at Charleroi, they defeated the Charleroi passers in a league fray, 46 to 30.

The Willigs, still playing minus the services of Timmy Lawry, rang up 18 field goals, six of which were recorded by Fred Brand, center. The lineup:

Veteran Netters Gain Semi-Finals

Bryan M. Grant, Jr., Atlanta, meets Frank X. Shields, of New York, top-ranking United States player, while Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, national fourth ranking player, opposes George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago, ranked tenth by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Cleveland Bans Severo for Life

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Lou Severo, Meadville (Pa.) boxer, yesterday was barred for life from Cleveland rings by the City Boxing Commission for his refusal to go through with a fight with Jimmy Vaughn.

The show, scheduled for tonight, was postponed because of the Pennsylvania fighter's refusal to appear against Vaughn in the principal fight on the card. He pleaded ill health. The action was taken by the commission after physicians, who examined Severo, pronounced him physically fit.

Derby Purse Cut To $30,000 Figure

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The added value of the 1934 Kentucky Derby, to be raced at Churchill Downs May 5, will be $30,000 instead of $50,000, the amount added since 1921.

In announcing the reduction of the derby stake, Col. Matt J. Winn, executive director of Churchill Downs, said the value of three other stakes at the Downs spring meeting would be cut in half.

REED DEFEATED

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Willard Brown, of Indianapolis, defeated Jimmy Reed, of Erie, Pa., in a 10-round bout here last night. Reed weighed 148 pounds against 144 for Brown.

One of the nation's most impressive collegiate basketball victory strings, the 20-triumph run of Duquesne University's Dukes, goes under the fire of Pitt's basketball guns tonight as the Dukes and Panthers battle in the Stadium Pavilion.

The contest is the first of the annual round-robin series for the city collegiate title, and is certain to be witnessed by a capacity crowd. Indeed, all local attendance records may be shattered as the fans storm the restricted confines of the pavilion for the battle.

Meanwhile, at Carnegie Tech, another hour of fast action is promised as the varsity quintets of Carnegie and Georgetown battle in an Eastern Intercollegiate Conference clash, with temporary possession of second place in the circuit the prize for the victor.

DUQUESNE FAVORED

The Dukes have not lost a basketball game since early in the 1932-33 campaign, when they were nosed out by Westminster. Since then, they've played and won 20 games, and if they take Pitt tonight (which they are favored to do), they'll not only have made it four in a row over the Panthers since athletic relations were inaugurated between the local institutions two years ago, but they'll have tied the present 21-game victory string of Notre Dame, at present the most impressive in the land.

Duquesne won two games from Pitt last year, both by the narrow margin of a single point. In the first encounter, the Panthers put on a belated rally which fell a point short of tying the score. In the second, they blew a fine lead as the Bluffites turned on the power in the game's dying moments. How they'll make out tonight is what close to 5,000 fans will jam their way into the pavilion to find out.

FROSH FIVES CLASH

The freshmen teams of the rival institutions clash in a preliminary scheduled for 7 o'clock. It will be well for all and sundry to get out there in time for that battle, for it is very likely that they'll close the doors of the stadium long before the varsity encounter gets under way, which will be at 8:15.

Coach Carlson, of the Panthers, plans to start his regular lineup, a procedure which will be matched by Coach Davies, of the Dukers.

Pitt's record for the present campaign, even though the team has been beaten twice, is more impressive in appearance than that of the Dukes, as the Panthers have played more formidable opponents. Pitt has beaten Georgetown, Temple, Ohio State, Minnesota and Northwestern, while losing to Butler and Purdue. The Dukes hold victories over Adrian, Ashland, Waynesburg, Valparaiso and Westminster, receiving their closest call and toughest ball game in the struggle with the latter.

Georgetown's Hoyas, as formidable a team as is in the Eastern Conference, may suffer from the

PERRY OPPOSES SOUTH HILLS PASSERS

By JULIUS LEVIN

Two undefeated quintets in the race for the Section II crown of the City High School League come together in the feature attraction of the local scholastic basketball card this afternoon when Perry, defending champion, invades South Hills to meet the Tunnelites.

Langley, pacing the division at the present time with two victories and no defeats, is idle this afternoon and the winner will go into a two-way deadlock for the top position.

Both Perry, coached by Chester Smith, and South Hills, coached by T. J. Cutteback, scored victories in their opening games. Perry defeated Allegheny by a 42-32 score, while South Hills vanquished Oliver, 24-20.

CONNELLEY IDLE

With Connelley idle in Section 1 there is a possibility of a three-way deadlock developing in that division this afternoon, with Westinghouse and South striving for their second successive victories to tie the Trade School passers. South, impressive in its opening victory over Peabody, invades Schenley High to meet Walter Cross' team, a team that upset the hope by checking Allderdice Tuesday afternoon, while Westinghouse, owning a victory over Peabody, entertains Fifth Avenue High, already defeated in two league engagements.

Peabody plays at Taylor Allderdice in the third Section I game, while the two remaining contests in Section II find Allegheny Vocational at Carrick and Oliver at Allegheny.

With the majority of the W. P. I. A. L. sections enjoying a day of rest last Tuesday, this league offers a full program of contests this afternoon and evening.

SCHENLEY HIGH MEETS ARNOLD

One of the headliners will be the battle for first place in Section I between New Kensington and Arnold. New Kensington, coached by Carl Glock, and Arnold, tutored by Burt Kuhn, both have scored victories in their first two league games. The winner takes undisputed hold on first place in Section I.

Bill Campbell's Homestead High passers opens its race in Section II by opposing McKeesport, already defeated by Duquesne, on the Homestead High court.

Four games were played in the Catholic High School League yesterday, the Duke Preps winning two. The Preps defeated St. Thomas and St. Peters, both by scores of 26-12; St. Francis defeated St. Josephs, 31-30, and St. Marys defeated St. Justins, 16-8.

found dozing in any tough spots, and nothing short of the best they can produce will give the Oakland passers a chance to hang up their first victory over their Bluff rivals. Regardless of the outcome, the fans may anticipate 40 minutes of fireworks.

MONDAY BOXING SHOWS FOR M'KEESPORT

After completing his other preparations for the resumption of professional boxing shows at the Palisades in McKeesport, where he has been operating for 17 years as one of the leading promoters and best matchmakers in this part of the country, Jim McGirr has now succeeded in obtaining from the State Athletic Commission exclusive district rights to use during the indoor season the time of the week that formerly was allotted to the biggest clubs. That is, Monday night, long considered the most desirable time for boxing shows, and used for many seasons by Motor Square, Meyers Bowl and Hickey Park.

So in the return of McKeesport to the professional boxing picture, with the Palisades ring the only one in Allegheny County outside of Pittsburgh to offer regular shows, the fans of the Tube City will be given their glove sport on Monday nights. It is the plan of Promoter McGirr to run shows every two weeks at first, starting on January 22, and to operate weekly later if he gets an encouraging response. All deserving boxers will be given a chance, and to that end McGirr requests that all managers communicate with him at once at the Palisades, giving the names and weights of their fighters.

TAKE WORLD RECORD FROM LENORE KIGHT

Apparently they have resorted to second-guessing to keep our Lenore Kight from adding to her fast-growing stack of world and national swimming records. When the Homestead girl did the 150-yard free style in 1 minute 43.5 seconds at the Detroit Yacht Club last Saturday night, it was announced that she had created a new world record for the distance, bettering by 1.5 seconds the women's mark set in 1922 by Gertrude Ederle, of English Channel fame. Miss Kight's time, it was explained, was slower than the American record of 1:40.4 set by Helene Madison in 1930, but that Miss Madison's figures had not been approved by the international governing body in swimming, and therefore Lenore would get credit for a new world record.

Lenore Kight

But now they have reversed themselves to take it back. Charles H. Foster, of Detroit, statistician and record keeper for the A. A. U. in Michigan, says he finds on delving into his records that Miss Madison's 1:40.4, made at St. Augustine, Fla., on March 6, 1930, short course, WAS recognized as a world record for women by the International Amateur Swimming Federation, besides being accepted as a national record, and is so officially recorded. Miss Kight, therefore, will not be given credit for a new record, after all. However, she has so many of them that she can afford to laugh it off, and the belated Foster discovery probably will have only the effect of making her go out next time to crack that 150-yard mark in a way to leave the statisticians without a comeback. And meanwhile it might not be a bad idea for the A. A. U. powers to do something about negligent officials and inaccuracy in Detroit.

BOOTERS FACE EASY FOES

By TOM BIRKS

None of the titular aspirants of the Central District Soccer League needs worry over the outcome of tomorrow's league games, as the leaders are paired up with teams well on the tail end of the standings at present.

The Arsenal eleven goes to Warrington Park to meet Beltzhoover. While Fritz Reissmann's crowd from Mt. Washington has been improving right along, it is hard to see how it can hold the Lawrenceville aggregation even close.

The same thing applies to the Old Carnegie visit to Ambridge to meet the Bridge Workers. Old Carnegie should win that game, but the score will be much closer than the Beltzhoover-Arsenal result.

Other games having no bearing on the championship situation find Aliquippa at Lawrenceville, meeting the Rovers, and Union Switch at the Westinghouse High School field playing Clan Douglas.

Dope coming from the camp of the Curry team indicates that Manager Johnny Bruce will make the expected shakeup in the halfback line for Sunday's National Open Cup game with Morgan. Charley Powell, one of the team's standbys, who has been filling in for every injured player on the list, is scheduled to start at center half and Chappell at one of the wing halves.

Local Women Score Well at Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—In the Silver Foils Golfing Society's event here yesterday the best ball of fours against par, Mrs. W. C. Fownes, Jr., and Helen Morrison of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Emmett French of Youngstown, O., and Mrs. Myron W. Marr of Boston, were the victors with a net of 71, 5 up on par.

Mrs. Richard Clemson, of Middletown, N. Y., Mrs. S. F. Wadsworth, of Pittsburgh, and Helen Waring and Mrs. John Fitzgerald of Pinehurst, finished 4 up, as did the foursome made up of Katherine Coe, New York, Nancy Safford, West Newton, Mass., Mrs. T. A. Cheatham, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. J. A. Ruggles, Pinehurst.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Fairmont, W. Va.—Mose Butch defeated Jimmy Gilligan, 10 rounds; Mike Mitchell defeated Carl Gross, 6 rounds; Battling Hot Shot defeated Kid Coleman, 6 rounds; Tony Bliotta defeated Young Ernest, 8 rounds.

At New Haven—Al Gainor defeated Georgie Nichols, 10 rounds; Tony Tios defeated Eddie Moore, 8 rounds; Tommy Walsh and Bud Mignault drew, 6 rounds; Phil Baker and Johnny Bellus drew, 4 rounds.

VOLLEYBALLERS PLAY

The Downtown Y. M. C. A. volleyball team will meet Youngstown Y. M. C. A. on the Downtown Y floor tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. A return match will be played in Youngstown later in the season.

Godwin Gets Win Over Rosenbloom

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Bob Godwin got his revenge tonight for what he considered a poor decision in a recent battle with Maxie Rosenbloom, the light-heavyweight champion, but there was some doubt whether he deserved it.

Referee Bob Moore, also promoter of the fight, raised Godwin's hand at the end of the 12-round non-title bout with Rosenbloom. The rounds, incidentally, were two-minute stanzas, instead of three.

Mose Butch Winner In Fairmont Bout

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Mose Butch, of Pittsburgh, scored a clear-cut 10-round victory over Jimmy Gilligan, 120-pound Toronto youngster, here last night.

Butch was master of his adversary from the outset, but he allowed the Ohioan to carry the battle to him at stages.

Big names are sprinkled throughout the card, and it's to be another of those "clean" shows which the boxing commission insists the grapplers put on if they want to work here. By that is meant the fact that they must eliminate all of the circus stunts prevalent in other cities and confine themselves to the business of wrestling. The plan has worked out very well so far, and the most recent show at the Arena was the best ever put on here. Jim Browning, one of the championship claimants, was in the main bout against Stanley Pinto, the Bohemian veteran.

Tonight, Gino Garibaldi, the Italian, who has appeared in three windups here this season, will take on Pinto in the windup, one fall to a finish.

Johnny Kline vs. Johnny Barran, local rivals.

DUKES BATTLE PITT FIVE

The Tartans dropped a tough one to Temple here Tuesday night. At the half, it looked like a Carnegie holiday, but the Owls managed to catch the Skibos late in the contest and just before the final whistle, Frieberg, Temple guard, popped one from around the foul circle to give the Owls the game.

TARTANS DETERMINED

Determined to make up for this defeat, the Plaid will go after the Hilltoppers tonight, hammer and tongs. A victory will give either team a standing of two games won and one lost and second place behind the unbeaten Panthers . . . unbeaten, that is, in Conference play.

CUE TOURNEY OPENS

LOCAL GOLFERS MAKE GRADE ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—John Rogers, Denver professional, won medal honors over the Lake Merced course in yesterday's 18-hole qualifying round of the fourth annual San Francisco national match play open golf championship with a fine 70, two under par.

One stroke behind Rogers came Harold McSpaden, of Kansas City, Kan., whose 36-35—71 also bettered par.

Ten pros and one amateur tied at 72. They were Ernest Pieper, Jr., San Jose, Cal., amateur star; Archie Hambrick, of Zanesville, O.; John Black, Sr., of San Francisco; Mark Fry, of Oakland; Jimmy Thomson, of Long Beach, Cal.; Al Zimmerman, of Portland, Ore.; Ky Laffoon, of Miami, Okla.; Rod Munday, of Santa Rosa, Cal.; Bryan Nelson, of Texarkana, Tex.; Joe Kirkwood, of Chicago, and Verne Torfin, of Bremerton, Wash.

Two Pittsburghers got into the match play round. Sam Parks, Jr., former University of Pittsburgh star, now professional at the South Hills Country Club, shot a 74, and Oliver Sleppy tied with 13 others at 77 for the last qualifying position.

YALE SIGNS WILLIAMSON

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—The first break in the tense football coaching situation at Yale came yesterday with the appointment of Ivan Williamson, captain and star end of the 1932 Michigan Wolverines, as freshman end coach.

Some observers immediately seized upon the selection as a sign that Yale planned to break with tradition by calling on Harry G. Kipke, who taught Williamson his football at Michigan, to take over the head coachship held during the last season by Reggie Root.

CHILLYSAUCE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Announcement of Bob O'Farrell's managerial appointment at Cincinnati has little of the element of surprise to those who read, during the Chicago meetings, that such an announcement was contemplated . . . Bob turned in a good managerial trick when he piloted the Cardinals a few years back, but his effort was just short of winning the flag, and if you fail to cop a pennant in St. Louis you are in a precarious position.

Manager Gibson and Lloyd Waner, of the Pirates, and Pitcher Vernon Gomez, of the New York Yankees, were featured speakers on the Sun-Tele sports program over WCAE last night. . . . Gibby, among other things, let it be known he leans to a new combination in the outfield which would return Brother Lloyd to his old centerfield post. . . . The little outfielder, who prefers the middle patrol, "cut the pie" as he heard his boss' words. That is, he smiled from ear to ear, and then some.

Brother Lloyd let it be known that he is out to give P. Waner a fight for batting honors in the coming campaign . . . Said Lloyd:

"I figure I will need a new hat by next October and nothing would please me better than to have Paul pay for it . . . Anyhow, I will try to get a bet out of him."

Lloyd is in excellent spirits over the outlook for the coming season . . . Like scores of others who love to swing at the plate, he will welcome the return of the lively ball . . . The little outfielder and Gibson did not stage their threatened golf battle, but the fight is set for tomorrow, in the event of a continuance of the pleasant weather . . . Lefty Gomez is to be an added attraction in the match.

Gibby, among other things, spoke highly of Red Lucas as he discussed baseball on the air . . . He believes Lucas is due to have the best season of his pitching career . . . Perhaps some of you do not know that Red was an infielder when he came to the big show . . . He can still outhit a lot of good infielders and outfielders . . . As Gibby points out, Lucas not only gives you a nine-man attack when he is pitching, he makes a five-man infield possible as he fields his position like an infielder.

Touching on the so-called troublesome second-base situation, Gibson intimated strongly that the keystone setup was not as annoying as many of us believe . . . Gibby really believes that he has enough high-grade infielders to enable him to put out a classy foursome for the summer . . . When the Canuck pilot took over the Buccos in the spring of 1932 the infield situation was much more acute than it is now; in fact the outlook was so gloomy that most of the baseball sharps picked his club as a "cinch" for a second division berth . . . You know what happened that year.

Peppery Bill Brubaker, provided he makes the grade as a Pirate infielder, will be one of the biggest players in the National League . . . Bill is inches over six feet and he is muscular all the way up and down . . . The refreshing rookie has had a fling at all four infield positions . . . Boss Gibson states he might be considered as a Pirate firstsacker of the future.

POPE CAPTURES TWO MATCHES

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Johnny Skillman, of the Apawamis Country Club, Rye, N. Y., started at a fast gait in defense of the United States professional squash championship yesterday by racing into the quarter final round at the opening of the annual event.

Skillman in his second round test defeated Allan Cummings, Union League, New York. Skillman won 15-4, 15-7, 13-15, 15-8. Previously the Apawamis pro disposed of William Ellis, Piping Rock, Long Island, 15-4, 15-5, 15-5. Skillman, who is seeded first, and all other members of the ranking order save Ed Stapleton, of Boston, survived the first two rounds of play.

In a second round match G. Cummings, New York, defeated Harry Goodheart, Baltimore, 15-12, 15-6, 15-9.

Ben Pope, of the Keystone A. C., of Pittsburgh, defeated Richard Heisler, of Atlantic City, 15-5, 15-3, 15-7 and then toppled R. Dufton, of New York, 11-15, 15-9, 6-15 and 17-15.

Smith to Stay At Santa Clara

PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Maurice (Clipper) Smith, University of Santa Clara football coach, who recently announced himself as considering an offer to coach at Alabama Poly, said here today he planned to remain at Santa Clara.

BOB O'FARRELL MADE PILOT OF REDS

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—With a new pilot at the helm, the Cincinnati Reds were prepared today for a mighty heave at the anchor which has held them in the forlorn depths of the National League for the last three years.

Bob O'Farrell, veteran catcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, is the new player-manager. He has a contract to chart the Redlegs' course for the next two years.

If O'Farrell doesn't succeed where Dan Howley and Donie Bush, the late pilots, failed, even baseball's great minds can be said to have been wrong.

For Larry MacPhail, the dynamic new general manager of the club, says he selected the Cardinal catcher as player-manager upon the recommendation of four men he considers baseball's greatest figures of today—Branch Rickey, Bill Terry, John McGraw and Rogers Hornsby.

The home town fans were wondering today just how the former lawyer and football official put over such a startling deal. He traded some cash and young Glenn Spencer, a pitcher obtained from the Giants just a few weeks ago, for O'Farrell and Pitcher Sylvester Johnson.

MacPhail did not disclose the terms with O'Farrell, but conceded that "not more" than $15,000 a year might be a fair guess.

O'Farrell won't be a greenhorn in this job. He steered the cards to within a game and a half of the pennant in 1927. His new boss regards him as one of the greatest handlers of pitchers in baseball.

STOCKS DRIFT IN QUIET TRADING

Speculative fervor seemed to have cooled somewhat, so far as the recent leading favorites were concerned, and the principal activity centered in a number of low-priced issues which usually are more or less dormant. Fresh monetary stabilization rumors were also a factor in promoting discretion. Wheat got up a cent or more a bushel and other grains improved. Cotton was barely steady. United States government securities rallied and dipped, while secondary bonds displayed a firm undertone.

Brokerage houses with connections abroad reported that, during the past few days, there has been more foreign buying of stocks than in a month or so. Largest commitments were said to have been made from Amsterdam, although there was a sizeable demand from other Continental sources. The majority of the purchases, it was found, were in equities of the larger corporations.

Renewed interest in American shares, it was understood, was based principally on the belief of foreign operators and investors that dollar stabilization is nearer at hand than advices from Washington have indicated. In foreign circles, it was pointed out, the impression seemed to be growing that the administration will soon seek legislation permitting the Treasury to take over some $3,600,000,000 in gold from the Federal Reserve System and, at the same time, devaluate the dollar to around its present theoretical 60-cent level with the President still retaining his power to further cut the value to 50 cents if he finds it desirable.

Market observers have been puzzling lately over the amount of liquidation from banking affiliates which, under the banking law of 1933, are to be divorced from the parent institutions. While there are still a number of months in which the separations can be effected, the various planned dissolutions will require the transfer of sizeable blocks of securities. During the past few months, it was said, the market has not been broad enough to absorb liquidation at profitable prices. Consequently some commission firms argue, a lot of stock is now awaiting the proper moment for distribution.

Despite intervals of trading indecision, Wall street was noticeably cheered by the car loadings figures for the week ended January 6, which, including the New Years holiday, were up 49,317 over the previous week and 60,470 above the 1933 week. Loadings totaled 499,939 cars.

FOREIGN SALES HIT COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Cotton futures opened barely steady, 2 to 7 lower in response to disappointing Liverpool cables and under realizing and foreign selling. January, 10.76; March, 10.87; May, 11.02; July, 11.17; October, 11.36; December, 11.51.

Reactionary sentiment was more or less in evidence and the opening decline uncovered some stop orders, with March selling off to 10.78 and May to 10.95 or about 10 to 15 points net lower on the more active positions.

Further March liquidation attributed largely to Wall street houses was absorbed by the trade against sales of later months and the market held steady later in the morning. The buying seemed to be encouraged by the action of the wheat and stock markets and proved sufficient to send the price of March up to 10.90, or a point above yesterday's closing quotations. At midday the market was steady, net 1 point lower to 2 points higher.

BROKERS LOANS OFF $91,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City decreased $91,000,000 during the week ended January 10 to $746,000,000. This compares with $837,000,000 in the week ended January 3. The record high was $6,804,000,000, established October 2, 1929 and the low record of $331,000,000 was reached July 27, 1932.

A. & P. Dollar Sales Top '32 in December

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. — The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company estimates sales for the four weeks ended December 30 at $64,479,397, an increase of 1 per cent over the 1932 period. It was the first rise in dollar volume the company has reported since September, 1930. Tonnage sales for the recent period were down 3.2 per cent, aggregating 386,947 tons.

RELIABLE DATA HELD NEED TO RECOVERY

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—In the problem of planning and economic management, reliable statistics, rather than emotion and prejudice, become a tool of immense importance.

Accordingly, in making plans for planning, it is important to start out with a better accumulation of data. The "new deal" administration and private scientific bodies can make a notable contribution to progress by improving the quality of our working statistics.

Mr. Rukeyser

In the matter of income distribution, which is of paramount importance, great progress has been made toward wider diffusion of the annual fruits of income than at the time when Karl Marx wrote.

RATES CHANGE

So great has been the change that one eminent American industrialist, who believes strongly in our competitive system, said that, if income today were still divided as inequitably as in 1850, he doubtless would feel today as Marx felt then. At that time, when agriculture was still vastly more important than industry, the landowners and the capitalists were getting an inordinate share of the social income, whereas the great multitude of workers were on a subsistence basis.

Even if no contemporary statistics of income were available, it would be apparent to the casual observer that conditions before the depression had vastly improved. The plethora of automobiles, refrigerators, and telephones was a symbolic representation of the higher standards of living, which a more equitable distribution of income made possible.

Pioneering work in formulating the national income has been done by the National Bureau of Economic Research. With the Bureau's figures as a base, attempts have been made to relate the income to manhours of work performed.

In 1928, for example, the realized national income was placed at 84 billion dollars. In that year, there were 45 million persons gainfully employed in the United States.

BREAKDOWN GIVEN

According to computed breakdowns of the totals made by outside industrial statisticians, the 45 million gainfully employed received all but 10 billion dollars of the national income in 1928, leaving barely 15 per cent of the total for the idle rich in the form of dividends and interest. As for the latter, the wide diffusion of stocks and bonds among the general public suggests suggests definitely that the 10 billion dollars in interest and dividends did not go to a mere handful of capitalists.

According to this interpretation, 33 million wage and salaried employes in manufacturing, transportation, communications, and the service groups received an aggregate of 53 billion dollars. Likewise, nine million gainfully employed persons, including owners and employes, in agriculture received 11 billion dollars and three million working business men and professional men, the enterpreneur class, received 10 billion dollars, making a total of 74 billion dollars for these self-supporting groups. The large proportion which these groups received of the total national income emphasizes the desirability of rebuilding prosperity through a program of re-employment of the idle.

When better censuses are publicly taken to give authority to such types of estimates, much progress will have been made in planning for the future.

LOCAL BOXERS CAPTURE SIX RING TITLES

The eight champions were crowned in the tourney's finals at Motor Square Garden last night before a crowd in excess of 3,000. The boys battled through the semi-finals and finals, with only four knockouts being recorded, two in the semi-finals and two in the finals. The summary:

SEMI-FINALS

112-pound class—Louis Stortie, Edinboro, defeated Frankie Dunat, Erie.

FINALS

118-pound class—Billy Miller defeated Ralph Vommero, Erie.

POLOISTS FORM ORGANIZATION

The Allegheny County Polo Association has been organized and is open for membership to all clubs and players in Western Pennsylvania. The association plans to furnish ponies to all members unable to obtain them otherwise.

The association will inaugurate an indoor season at South Park, while outdoor matches will be played at the same place as soon as weather permits.

The officials of the organization have announced that women will be admitted as members.

Those interested in obtaining particulars about memberships are asked to write Allegheny County Polo Association, Bureau of Parks, County Building.

While Coach Paul Mazuzan was putting his polo proteges through their final paces in preparation for their clash with the 110th Artillerymen, of Baltimore, tomorrow night, Capt. H. W. Higby, polo manager, closed with the Yale University trio for a game at Hunt Armory, February 3.

The Bulldogs, on their first visit to Pittsburgh last year, were nosed out by the narrow margin of a quarter of a point by the Polo League All-Stars.

TILDEN, VINES PLAY AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP.)—Undiscouraged by his defeat in their first encounter, Ellsworth Vines attempts again tonight to conquer the world's professional tennis champion, William T. (Big Bill) Tilden.

While the crowd cannot match the 17,000 persons who turned out for the match in New York on Wednesday — the Philadelphia arena holds only 6,000 spectators —capacity attendance is expected. Society is making it almost as big an event as are sporting circles.

Son Wins, Father Calls Bout Draw

It was in the meet between Harvard and Massachusetts Tech at Cambridge last night. The judges disagreed in a bout between Johnny Brassil, Jr., of Harvard, and C. E. Wirts. Johnny Brassil, Sr., veteran referee, was the third man in the ring.

He was in a tough spot, although his son had floored Wirts in the second round and the crowd seemed to think Brassil had won.

CHAPTER VIII.

"Andy," I began, for all at once a scheme had flashed through my mind, "I'm not trying to recall any past favors from this end, but you've always promised to let me listen in on some really good case. Don't you think you could let me help you with this murder, follow it with you step by step—work it out with you from the police angle instead of conducting an independent investigation by myself? That is, if I can get permission from the paper to do it that way? Anyway, I have two weeks' vacation coming to me—I could use that."

"I don't know," answered Anderson, somewhat dubiously. "Much as I would like to have you, it strikes me as being somewhat unethical. The other papers would begin to howl right away."

"I doubt it," I argued. "My position is somewhat unusual. After all, I'm not exactly on the staff of this sheet even though my office is here. I'm really an independent investigator for our whole chain of papers. As long as I only print what you hand out to all the papers, I can't see where anybody has a kick coming."

"Of course, I'd like to," repeated the Inspector. "I'd enjoy your assistance as well as the fact that I'd like to do anything you ask me. I haven't forgotten old times—not by a long shot. Talk it over with your people and see what their reaction is. I'll have to take it up with the Commissioner, too. If you can make arrangements, be up at the Paige house the very first thing in the morning. But remember that if I let you in on this, there's a lot that will have to be absolutely confidential."

I hastened into Reynolds' office. The managing editor, despite the lateness of the hour, was still there.

"Anything new?" he asked.

"Yep. Anderson just phoned me. The Baltimore police department has been called in, but I anticipated that, Bob. I want you to do something for me. I'd like to work on this case with Anderson from the beginning—not as a reporter, but as a private investigator."

Editor Unimpressed

"Not exactly. Of course, I'll cover all the actual news that is handed out for publication. But if I work independently with Anderson, I suppose there'll be a whole lot that can't be published, at this time anyhow. Naturally my relations with him would have to be confidential."

I could see that Reynolds didn't take kindly to the idea at all.

"What would you gain by that?" he objected. "That's what we have you on the paper for—to conduct independent investigations and to write special crime articles."

"And we've made more than one enemy by doing that very thing," I pointed out. "We bitterly antagonized the Hagerstown police by working independently on the Bently murder. Half the time we dig up facts and print them and tip the crooks off. We actually hamper the detectives in their work. In this case, it would be a corking good idea to throw ourselves in with the police instead of running counter to them."

"You mean we would confine ourselves entirely to what the Department gives us?"

"Oh, not at all. We can offer a reward of a thousand dollars for any information and, of course, we're allowed to work on any tips that may bring in. And I suggest that we get busy on the cable and wire London for a complete history of Mrs. Paige. The answer may lie over there. A thousand dollar reward will make the London press stir itself.

"What I do mean," I continued warmly, "is that you allow me complete freedom and let me work with Anderson. I'll be in on the ground floor—so to say—giving you corking good stories about such facts as the police want us to carry. And if the real story breaks—oh, boy!"

Gets Vacation

"He would if he were sure that I was working in an unofficial capacity. I don't imagine for a minute that he's going to take me into his innermost confidence and divulge all his theories and plans. But he will let me hear the examination of the witnesses and so on."

"You can hear all those anyhow," pointed out Reynolds. "Chances are they'll be open to the press—or the results of them will be anyhow."

"Please, Bob," I begged him, seeing that I was making no headway. "If you won't work it this way, then let me take my vacation now. I have two weeks coming to me and I was promised it as soon as I finished up the Blair case at Havre de Grace. I'm really entitled to it."

"That might be better," conceded Reynolds. "The trouble is that we really need you now. People are used to seeing your name and they'll wonder why you aren't covering this story."

"Well, that's all right, too. Assign Harris and Webster to the case. Sign my initials to anything you like. I'll even take care of the high lights, if you want—the funeral and anything important that breaks."

"And you will positively write the inside story when it's over?" asked Reynolds reluctantly.

"Absolutely. And it will be a real story, too. You let me take my vacation now, Bob, please. You know the paper is my first thought. It won't suffer in the matter."

"Very well," said Reynolds. "I don't like it a cent's worth, though your plan is not without merit. I suppose you are entitled to your vacation if you demand it. But you'll keep in touch with us, won't you—let us know how things are going and give us a tip whenever you are able?"

"Sure!" I agreed delightedly and dashed back to my desk to call Anderson.

The phone was already ringing.

It was Carroll this time, and his voice was jubilant.

"Say, Kay, guess what?" he burst out, his boyish voice brimming over with enthusiasm. "Anderson called me up just now and almost apologized. Said I had done a darn good piece of work. And say—guess what?—I'm going to work on the homicide squad right under Anderson himself as a reward! Isn't that fair and square?"

Understands Reason

"It sure is, boy," I told him warmly. "That's one decent thing about Anderson—he's the squarest man who's ever been in the department. He's as hard as nails if he thinks you're wrong, but he's the first to admit he's made a mistake and tell you so."

(Of course, I realized that the inspector had scarcely called the young policeman either by way of apology or reward. He simply wanted him under his thumb where he could keep a wary eye on him and head off any indiscreet publicity. An excellent move on his part and a typical one.)

"I'm going to work on the case, too, Carroll," I told him. "Not in my official capacity but right under Anderson himself. I'm taking my vacation for the job. We've got to discover who killed Mrs. Paige inside of two weeks or I'm out of luck!"

"That's great," exclaimed Carroll. "Then we're going to be brother-detectives, aren't we?"

"Amateur sleuths is closer to it," I said. "Well, here's good-night to you. I'll be up at the house the first thing in the morning. If you get there first, tell Inspector Anderson that everything is hunky-dory and I'm on my way up."

"So long," echoed Carroll cheerily. "See you tomorrow."

Then I chucked a few things into a brief case, closed and locked my desk, and started for home, determined to get a few hours' sleep before beginning work on what promised to be one of the biggest cases in my career.

It was scarcely 8 o'clock the next day when I turned my car into the entrance drive of the Paige estate. Early though it was, it looked as though a reception might be taking place. Official cars were parked on both sides of the road, and groups of detectives and policemen were walking through the grounds talking in low tones.

Joins Friends

The Paige garden was a beautiful place in the sunlight of that October morning. The house sat well back from the main highway, a low white cottage of clapboard, its porches banked with evergreen. On one side, I remember, there was a garden of dahlias and late fall flowers, all brilliant in the warm air. It was an unreal setting for a tragedy. One could imagine little children playing here and a gracious woman and tea under the broad oak trees.

An old friend of mine, MacNalley of the Central district, was stationed at the hall door.

"Hi, Mac," I said. "You working on this case, too?"

He grinned. "The other news hounds are down in the garden getting pictures, but Capt. Andy says you're to join him. He and Carroll are down in the cellar."

"In the cellar?" I echoed in surprise. "In heaven's name what are they doing there?"

"Search me," replied MacNalley. "After fingerprints, maybe. They're tearing this house to pieces looking for clues, it strikes me."

There was a wide colonial hall, on one side of which extended the living room, a long, low room with French doors opening into the garden and a magnificent open fireplace. On the other side were the dining room, kitchen and pantries. A door at the rear of the hall led directly into the garden—a feature which is characteristic of all true Southern homes.

Synopsis

PRESIDENTS MARTIN VAN BUREN AND WILLIAM H. HARRISON

Van Buren's presidency (1837-1841) closed the Jacksonian era, marked by great economic depression. In a sweeping victory of the 1840 election, William H. Harrison carried the presidency. The Indian fighter, victor at Tippecanoe, later general, Governor and Senator, was not fated to serve his country in this highest office, as he died April 4, 1841. Vice-President John Tyler succeeded him in the presidency. (U. S. History)

RUDOLF I, FOUNDER OF HABSBURG'S DYNASTY—ELECTED EMPEROR 1273

After the division of Charlemagne's empire (843) France, Spain, Germany, Italy, Austria and other smaller nations began to emerge from it. Invasions of Northmen, Arabs and Magyars postponed the nationalization of the Eastern portions. German kings, heirs of Charlemagne, conquered and civilized these territories in the tenth century. One outstanding ruler, Otto I, was the first German king crowned Holy Roman Emperor (962). He established the East Mark (later Austria) with Leopold of Babenberg as Markgraf, whose male descendents were in power until 1246, when Austria again became an imperial possession. This interegnum lasted until 1282 when Duchy Austria was granted by Rudolf I, German King and Holy Roman Emperor (former count of Habsburg, to his sons Albert and Rudolf. Habsburg's power grew with that of Austria, endangered through centuries by Mongols, Turks. From 1438 they were almost continuously elected German kings and Holy Roman emperors, up to 1806 when Holy Roman Empire ceased. After 1687 the Hungarian crown also became hereditary with Habsburgs.

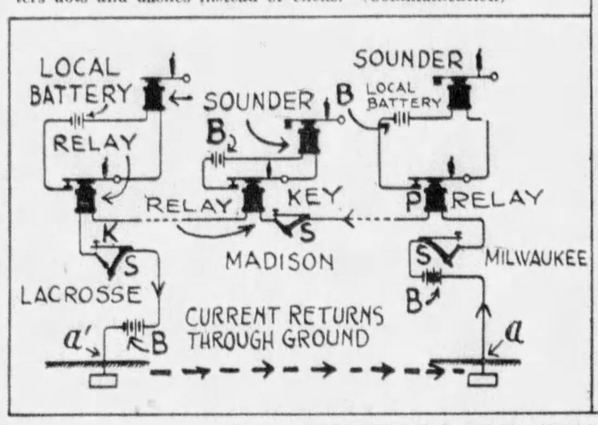
MORSE'S TELEGRAPH—STILL IN USE

Morse's telegraph is based on the electromagnetic attraction of iron by a coil through which direct current flows. By depressing the key (K) current is sent to the sounder; stop (D) strikes anvil (E) giving forth a click. Short intervals between clicks represent dots, long ones dashes; combination of these forms letters, messages. Providing (D) with a pencil contacting a moving paper strip registers dots and dashes instead of clicks. (Communication)



Courtesy of McGraw Hill Book Co. (Jansky: Magnetism and Electricity)

MORSE'S TELEGRAPH SYSTEM USES LOCAL BATTERIES BY RELAYS

Relay is an electromagnetic switch connecting local battery (B) to the sounder, so that the strong current from the battery instead of the incoming weak current of line a-a' will operate the sounder; e. g., cities of Lacrosse, Madison, Milwaukee are shown connected. Lacrosse calling Milwaukee opens switch (S) and plays key (K). Both other stations will receive clicks, but Milwaukee alone will answer, since each station has its own call signal. Adding type-wheels of synchronous rotation, printing telegraph was evolved. Right: American Morse Code.

SHADOWS OF HANDS AND CHARACTERS

Did you ever try to throw shadows on the walls? These illustrations show you how to do it. This teaches you also that by clever arrangement the same things (your hands, in this case) apparently become different each time. There are persons whose main endeavor is to change not only the shadow of their hands but their entire appearance, according to those they face. Toward a superior such a person projects the picture of a faithful watchdog, the useful beast of burden; to subordinates he seems a big, bad wolf, etc. A good straight-forward character is the same toward all—chum, higher, lower—it is sincere, obliging, polite. NITRIC ACID MANUFACTURE

Hydrogen nitrate (HNO3) or its solution in water, nitric acid, is a colorless liquid used in making explosives, photographic films, celluloid, dyes, etc. One method of manufacturing nitric acid is by distillation of sodium nitrate (Chile Saltpeter, NaNO3) with concentrated sulphuric acid in a cast iron pot (acid vapor does not corrode iron—only the liquid HNO3). Concentrated and weak nitric acid are collected separately in stoneware receivers. (Chemistry)

Farewell to Banquets

Big dinners are popular again in New York. Nothing unusual to see 2,000 people banqueting. And all of them guests of honor.

Result is that the speaker's table is longer than the trough on a cattle ranch. All the people are propped up looking like starched laundry on a shelf.

That was too formal. So they tried making the table in the form of a hoss shoe. Everybody then promptly looked like lost nails.

So, now they triple-deck the speaker's table like a football stadium. It certainly resembles a surgical clinic. All the guests of honor perched up on stepladders looking down on one lonely guy like they were either going to operate on him or consult their attorneys.

There was a time when they gave a banquet to a distinguished citizen for a reason. He had either met the enemy and escaped or he had invented a window that only rattled in the daytime.

When he came in all the diners stood up and cheered. The band played and a stringy soprano sang the national anthem. He strode to his seat of honor like a bull fighter among mice.

Now, all the 2,000 guests of honor stand up and cheer when an ordinary diner toddles in. He's the guy who bought the only ticket. All the rest are complimentary, testimonial and dedicatory. The toastmaster has a gavel to smack fingers trying to cop his crackers and olives. He introduces all the palpitating celebrities with a series of comical epitaphs. Everybody makes a long speech and the listening is tougher than replacing divots in an avalanche.

Why do they give these dinners? Nobody knows. The laudatory postscripts eulogizing the many guests of honor fool nobody. We all know that the speaker ain't fooled. When he stops to look at his watch it ain't because he intends to stop talking. He does that to make sure the watch is still there.

The writer's stentorian birdlike cheeping is no longer heard at these mysterious dinners. His voice cracked six years ago while he was bellowing the praises of a scoop-faced dignitary who became a billionaire by inventing a machine that would pick up orphans and throw them at widows without skipping a beat. We roared his praises and he blushed like an ungreased channel swimmer. When we look back at the banqueted giants of six years ago we figure that maybe he was a leading philanthropist after all.

Honest Speaking Will Help to Solve the Problems of the 'New Deal'

IT CAN hardly be expected by the Administration that the extraordinary series of innovations, untested expedients, departures from precedent and novel proposals born of theory alone, which have marked its course since it took office, will continue indefinitely to be acquiesced in by the people without comment or discussion.

A people, such as ours, nurtured in democracy and accustomed to bold speech will not long consent to curb their thoughts as well as their tongues, substituting the stolid silence of a peasant for the inquiring alertness of freemen.

* * *

WE DO NOT underestimate the critical nature of the problems facing the administration. We yield to none in appreciation of the President's courage and the passionate sincerity of his desire to serve his country.

Much that he has done deserves unqualified praise. Much that he has in hand WILL deserve and command such praise, when time has worked out the results, from which alone policy derives vindication.

The changes now in process, however, and others which are as yet only proposed, are changes of the most far-reaching character. While some are matters of administration and can claim to be justified by the abnormal conditions of an emergency, others are matters of social and political theory, predicated upon reasons which have not been exhibited to the people, and upon facts and assumptions, as to which the people, as a whole, are insufficiently informed, if not completely in the dark.

* * *

FOR OUR part, we propose to encourage the American habit of inquiry. It is not disloyalty to anyone or any interest. It is quite the reverse, and in the past it has always proved a salutary habit.

And, if we can, we propose to guide the American people in their natural endeavor to reach an intelligent understanding of the changes which so vitally affect them. We trust we shall not be accused of prying with profane eyes into the recesses of policy. Such reverence for our governors can hardly be expected of Americans.

Individual liberty is viewed by large sections of our people as threatened with unfamiliar qualifications and novel curtailments.

The prospect of a reduction in taxation seems hopelessly lost in a vista of new and immeasurable burdens which it is proposed to put upon the nation's taxpayers, although their backs are well-nigh broken by the weight of present taxes.

* * *

HERE ARE issues from which parties spring — issues upon which honest and patriotic citizens will inevitably align themselves in new and logical groupings.

The times are pregnant with far-reaching possibilities—of evil and harm, as well as good.

It is no hour for timidity and silence. The mind, heart and conscience of the nation—all must be stirring!

The loyal supporters of the President in his own country should be as outspoken as his friends abroad, such as John Maynard Keynes, the economist, whose authority is probably more widely conceded than that of any other of living economists.

"You have made yourself the trustee," writes Keynes in an open letter addressed to President Roosevelt, "for those in every country who seek to mend the evils of our condition by reasoned experiment within the framework of the existing social system. If you fail, rational change will be gravely prejudiced throughout the world."

* * *

IN THIS spirit he proceeds to an estimate of what the Administration has done and proposes, which, while incisive and direct, never loses its friendly tone.

"You are engaged on a double task," says he, "recovery and reform: — recovery from the slump, and the passage of those business and social reforms which are long overdue. For the first, speed and quick results are essential. The second may be urgent too; but haste will be injurious, and wisdom of long range purpose is more necessary than immediate achievement."

This is a thought which has more than once found expression in the Hearst papers.

The National Recovery Act, as Mr. Hearst early declared, is in many features an act of social amelioration, rather than a measure of recovery. Its benevolent purposes, he has maintained, can be achieved only from the profits of business and the resumption of normal business activity. Only thus, can its cost be met, and can it maintain itself as a scheme of social progress.

"I cannot detect," says Keynes, "any material aid to RECOVERY in the NRA. It is essentially a reform and probably impedes recovery."

"It represents," says he, "a wrong choice in the order of urgencies and it might be better, for the present, to allow experience to accumulate before trying to force through all its details."

* * *

THIS IS a broad and, in our opinion, a fair criticism. It merits examination and it should receive unprejudiced discussion.

Social betterment which cannot be sustained must be of little effect. Long range reforms, if dependent on recovery, must not impede recovery.

And let loyalty to the President find its expression in collaborating with him, by candid thinking and honest speaking—not by servility and flattery.

The New Tunnel Plan

It Is Commendable on the Principle That Whatever Is Worth Doing Is Worth Doing Well.

Word comes from Washington that the County Commissioners have submitted, in their application to the Public Works Administration for a thirty-one million dollar loan and grant, a plan for a new tunnel and bridge to connect the South Hills with the downtown business section. This means that the plan to buy the Wabash Railroad Bridge and tunnel has been dropped.

The change in plans is desirable. It has been established that the railroad bridge and tunnel are unsuitable for vehicular traffic, and could not be made suitable without an unreasonable expenditure. Even after such an expenditure had been made, there is cause to believe, there would still be objectionable features which can be avoided by building an entirely new bridge and tunnel. In the long run the new tunnel would be a less expensive project.

One objection to the plan to buy the Wabash tunnel was that such a traffic route would not fit well into the city's street system and would cause congestion. It is to be hoped that the new plan obviates this difficulty.

It is reported that the new plan has been developed by the County Planning Commission. The City Planning Commission should be consulted, also.

The Housing Conferences

The Zeal and Determination of the New Councilmen Offer the Best Hope of Slum Replacement

Pittsburgh appreciates by this time the fact that notwithstanding the huge sums appropriated by Congress for public works it is not as easy as it looks to get funds from Washington for any projects except the small CWA jobs, on which work is to stop on February 15.

We are hopeful, nevertheless, that the conferences between local and federal officials today on Pittsburgh's housing situation will pave the way for federal aid for slum replacement.

Our greatest hope of action may be found, we think, in the enthusiasm and determination of the new Councilmen, who pledged themselves before the election to work for better houses for people with low incomes and now show every intention of keeping their pledge.

Where there is a will there is a way.

The Real Estate Inquiry

Much Good Is Expected to Come Out of It, and Citizens Should Co-Operate Cordially.

Sixteen hundred Civil Works Administration workers of both sexes will take inventory of the real estate in Allegheny County and at the same time conduct an unemployment census. The job will be started in the urban areas next Wednesday and must be finished not later than February 15.

People will be asked questions about their houses, about the ownership, the rent, the value of the land, the type of construction, the heating apparatus, the water supply, the sanitary facilities, the number of occupants, the distance to the places where the dwellers work, and kindred matters.

The information will be sent to the Department of Commerce at Washington for tabulation. It is expected to be of great value in studies looking to the improvement of economic conditions and the standard of living in Pittsburgh and the county.

The answers to the questions will be treated as confidential, and it is to be hoped that citizens will not regard the questions as impertinent, but will supply the information readily and co-operate cordially in the undertaking.

A Bar Housecleaning

Secretary Beamish Makes an Important Recommendation to the Legal Profession.

It is to be hoped that the Pennsylvania Bar Association will take to heart the words of advice given by Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth, and himself a member of the legal profession, at a dinner in honor of Judge Joseph W. Bouton in Bradford Tuesday night.

Secretary Beamish called for a general housecleaning in the legal profession, with a view to getting rid of those who use the profession, not to promote justice, not to uphold the law, but to aid rascally clients to break the law with impunity. That there are many such unprincipled attorneys is common knowledge.

Mr. Beamish indorsed a demand that the Hearst newspapers have been making for some time.

Still Gullible

(Copyright, 1934.)

But trading abroad has not always been good business for Uncle Sam.

Once we sold France—on credit—a lot of unused war supplies. France resold one-half the stuff for enough to pay the entire bill, and did not pay!

When it came to the war debts France got them whittled down on a promise to pay the balance—and within the last two years France has defaulted three times running on that bill.

Now we are bartering our wine and liquor market away. France, for example, obtains a new quota from us by promising to buy some of our apples and pears—and Representative Britten tells Congress that it will be a bad bargain for us again.

In other words, it looks as if Uncle Sam is still trading substantial goods away for runaway rabbits out of Samuel's own hat.

What can we do to avoid being cheated? The answer is plain—

Human Side of the News

A Denial That Cleopatra 'Vamped' Julius Caesar—A 'Sea Serpent' in Scotland

By Edwin C. Hill

CLEOPATRA'S nose is in the news again. It was Pascal who said that if Cleopatra's nose had been shorter the whole face of the world would have been changed. And now Historian Carcopino rises up to protest that the great Caeser never was bewitched by the dark-eyed lady of the Nile, and that while she may have been a baggage, the great Julius was by no means a boob. He follows the Italian historian Ferrero, who asserted that there was no romantic affair between Antony and Cleopatra, and that the scandal which grew up about them was invented and spread by political enemies of Caeser and Mark Antony.

It is Carcopino who remarks that, in his opinion, historians exaggerate the part of women in great historical catastrophies, and he doubts, too, that we ever get a true picture of any great historical personage.

"It seems to be a law of human psychology," he says, "that almost all historic personages from Minos to Mazzini, from Judas to Charlotte Corday, from Xerxes to Napoleon, are imaginary personages; some transfigured into demi-gods by admiration and success, the others debased by hate and failure."

All of which may be true enough, but when one thinks of the lady Cleo, one wishes that both of the Roman emperors, who were her boy friends—Caesar, bold, saturnine, cynical and weary, and young Antony, with his red curls and his gladiator's body—might have written down their true relations with the Siren of Alexandria, instead of such things as "All Gaul is divided into three parts."

The Novels Of R. W. Chambers

THE recent passing of a writer who was an honest as well as a skillful craftsman brought to mind the distinct periods into which his story telling fell. Robert W. Chambers, who had, I suppose, more readers over several decades than any other novelist of his time, came to popularity first with that collection of tales known as "The King in Yellow," the Latin quarter at its gayest and most romantic.

Then came those fine novels of New York state and early Indian wars, "Cardigan" and "The Maid at Arms," with Joseph Brant and his haughty Mohawks, the Senecas, keepers of the Western gate, the crafty Oneidas, and all the rest of the great Iroquois confederation of the Six Nations. He gave us our Sir William Johnson and the savage Butlers; gave us, indeed, the finest picture of the pre-Revolutionary times and people that one can find between the covers of fiction.

And then came the third period in Chambers' career, the period of his so-called "society novels;" the doings of the idle rich, "The Danger Mark," "The Firing Line" and many more. Clean, well written, intriguing stories. A teller of tales who will be missed, Robert W. Chambers.

The Monster Of Loch Ness

THE most extraordinary request ever made to the assembled representatives of a nation is to be put in the form of a bill in the British Parliament. The House of Commons and the House of Lords are to be asked to protect from eventual slaughter the rarest of all living creatures, the strangest creature that moves and breathes, a surviving relic of the great monsters which shook the earth and disturbed the seas long before man entered the long road of evolution. For the Parliament of Great Britain will be appealed to, to save the great sea serpent of Loch Ness, in Scotland, the serpentine monster whose existence is vouched for by hundreds who have looked upon it with their own eyes, while doubting the evidence of their senses.

Hundreds of persons living on the shores of Loch Ness beheld the prehistoric sea monster, and the tale spread far and wide through the British Isles. Finally, Lieut. Commander R. T. Gould, a retired British naval officer, traveled up to Loch Ness to get first hand information. He tells about his experiences in a copyrighted article in the London Times.

When he went to Loch Ness he went with an open mind, but with a sense of pity for honest but misguided persons who were spreading the sea serpent tale. But facts are stubborn things, and after taking the testimony of 59 persons, Commander Gould was driven to the conviction that there does exist something like the giant pleiosaurus, one of the great sea reptiles of the Mesozoic period, 50 or 60 feet long. Its head was small and lizard-like, borne on a long, flexible neck. Its great body carried two pairs of paddles. And it haunted just such shallow seas and estuaries as Loch Ness.

After going over all the evidence he collected, Commander Gould concludes that the sea serpent of Loch Ness has a length of at least 50 feet or so, and is about five feet thick in the thickest part of its body. The head is comparatively small, and the neck can be raised to a considerable height above the water. The color is between dark brown and gray. The skin is rough, but not scaly. A small ridge, deeper in color, runs along the crest of the back. And finally, there are at least two and possibly four propelling fins.

The Commander's description is almost a perfect word picture of the great pleiosaurus which was believed to be extinct millions of years ago. B. A. Russell, Master of Arts and a schoolmaster, sighted the strange monster on October the first and watched it for 12 minutes. He noted the small, lizard-like head and the neck, arched like a swan's, rising fully five feet out of the water and turning occasionally from side to side. The creature then sank slowly and disappeared from sight.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Thoughts while strolling: Time back yonder for possum gravy sopping with sweet taters. Charles Harnett, who decides who gets the low auto plate numbers. That incensy aroma around groups of Chinese. Always mix Martha Lorber and Mary Lawlor.

Dick Knight and his bride look alike. Padriac Colum back from Ireland. The former Magistrate Jean Norris, now practicing law. Strange how Bob Garland's dogs park only at delicatessen dealers in long white coats.

Bud Kelland, a Portland (Mich.) boy, who made good in the city. No matter how poor the performance, show people will always applaud. Nobody can look so gaunt as Ewing Galloway. Rex Beach has a swell name for a Scottie, too —Thrifty. When La Guardia wants to attract his wife he snaps his fingers. She doesn't mind.

Earl Benham's becoming freckles. One of my favorite people—Bob Davis. Rosamond Pinchot suggests Gramercy Park, where she was born. And who is so remindful of darkest Russia as that brooding singer Tamara? That reminds me I've been neglecting my brooding lately!

Bartender schools are mushrooming in the manner of Tom Thumb golf courses a while back. One of the most pretentious is on West Forty-third street. There, behind a 106-foot bar, serious-minded students take a three weeks' course in rudimental drink mixing, fashioning the multiple concoctions of pre-prohibition. Classes consist of one and a half hour periods, five days a week.

At 85, Barney Fagin is as spry as a man of 50. Forty years ago he was the ace tap-dancer of America and even today shakes a lively jig on those auspicious occasions when he appears at strictly theatrical gatherings. He has the charming graces of the old-timers in contrast to the flippant hoofers of the present generation. In the old days, Fred Stone and other rising young steppers regarded Fagin as their idol.

The man who gives the dandiest impersonation of George M. Cohan is Frank Otto, a relative by marriage. He usually does a Cohanesque bit at the Lambs gambols. Most of the Cohan imitators can simulate his loose-gaited, bumped-over walk and nasal twang. But few get the real Cohan technique that is not so obvious. Otto does. He has mastered that most pronounced of all Cohanisms, the stretch of the arm as though shooting the cuff, the almost imperceptible weaving and those quick tweaks of the nose at well-timed intervals.

Jack Curley, grand old Roman of the amusement promoters, tells of the didoes of one of the barky sidewalk salesmen along the library wall on Forty-second street. He had started his pitch, watching furtively up and down for his Nemesis, the copper. Sales had taken on a hot-cake tempo when suddenly he felt the cold arm of the law on his shoulder. He glanced up to be certain and then sighed to his circle of customers: "Sorry, gents—my lease just expired."

Fulton Oursler does most of his magazine editing from the winter bleakness of his Cape Cod retreat by teletype. At 3 o'clock every afternoon he is in touch with subeditors—accepting stories, suggesting revisions and giving other editorial orders. In his relaxing moments he practices his magic and gives voice to his ventriloquist dummy, Ajax.

One of those man-mountain wrestlers dropped at a nearby table at Lindy's the other evening to talk to a group. Finally a gentleman, presumably his manager, came along and, touching him on the shoulder, said: "All right, Toots, time to be getting along!"

ISN'T IT SO?

As luck will have it, some people have it all.

If wishes were horses there would still be a greater opportunity for losing money.

One of the most popular plans of unemployment insurance is to marry a girl who has a good job.

MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

What Girl Next?

Are American girls spoiled, selfish, expensive and demanding? Are they vain, inconsiderate and a little "dumb?" Are they beginning to bore the American man and to make his pocketbook yell for mercy?

* * *

Are they takers, and never givers? And do they expect to contribute nothing to marriage except their personal charms? And if all this is true, as an anonymous author claims, who MADE 'em that way?

* * *

The American man has gone into a state of emotional coma. He declares that he is tired of the sort of girls he meets and that he has almost reached that stage where he'd rather "stay at home and read a good book" or just hang around the club and talk to the boys evenings than throw away his hard-earned money on some glittering doll with a spending complex.

* * *

This means that we shall soon have a brand new type of GIRL in America. Because, women always have been exactly what men wanted them to be and demanded that they should be. When men liked their women sweet and simple and naive, every girl in America yearned to be a Mary Pickford. When masculine taste switched to the wild, peppy jazz-girl, the land was filled with Clara Bows.

* * *

In the pre-war days, when men liked their women gentle and clinging and domestic, they got them that way. Every girl "got her man," by luring him to her fireside, feeding him delectable things from the chafing-dish, and making "home" so attractive to him that he felt sorry for himself.

* * *

Then came what we fondly called "prosperity"—and the masculine ideal changed. Every man had a motor-car and he wanted to whizz around in it. He wanted to take a girl about and show her off. And he wanted her to "look like a million dollars!"

* * *

The girl who didn't use a lipstick, couldn't "hold her liquor" and couldn't be petted and mauled was scorned by every humorist and every college magazine as a "horse-and-buggy."

* * *

Now, the days of wild spending and jazzy night clubs are over; the days of the glitter, without the glamour, are gone. They have left us with a rather bad emotional hangover, and a bitter taste in the mouth. Men want something DIFFERENT. And so do women!

* * *

* * *

But ONE thing is certain. However women may change in the next decade, whatever they may become, you can safely wager that they will be exactly what men WANT them to be. Or what men THINK they want them to be!

Text for Today

Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.—Galatians, vi:7.
